Students Vote On Feature Section

SUPERLATIVES CHOSEN FROM SENIOR CLASS

The feature section of the Pine Cone this year will be made from the results of the superlative contest held at assembly Friday. The superlatives were chosen from the senior class and voted on by the student body. Three seniors were nominated for each of the honors.

Miss Eleanor Bailey, of Douglas, was voted the most representative. This is her second year at G. S. W. C., where she has been actively connected with a number of activities on campus. She is now serving as treasurer of the Glee Club.

Miss Henry Kate Gardner, of Camilla, was voted the most versatile. Miss Gardner is the president of the Student Government Association at present. She has taken part in a number of the productions of the Sock and Buskin Club, having had the lead in "Mary the Third." She also served on the staff of the Pine Branch during her sophomore year, and was a member of the Modern Poetry Reader's Forum of the Argonian Literary Society. Miss Gardner attended Miami University her first year where she was a member of the Delta Tau sorority.

Miss Elizabeth Larisey, of Valdosta, the editor of the Pine Cone was voted the most outstanding day student. Miss Larisey is also vice-president of the English Club. During her junior year she was the Critical Tips editor of the Pine Branch.

The honor of being the most attractive senior went to Miss Virginia Sheppard, of Savannah. Miss Sheppard is the president of the senior class, and she will serve as joint hostess with Miss Emma Ambos, president of the sophomore class, at the sophomore-senior formal Saturday evening.

Miss Emily Fluker, of Quitman, was selected as the most intellectual senior. Miss Fluker has also served on the staff of the Pine Branch. She has made the Dean's List during both her junior and senior years, and has carried on extra-curricula pursuits in a number of subjects.

Miss Annie Belle Weatherford, of Savannah, was voted the best sport. Miss Weatherford graduated at the end of the fall quarter with honors. She was president of the Phi Lambda Athletic Association when she graduated. She was also president of the junior class last year. Miss Weatherford was interested in a variety of subjects, and made honor's each of her four years.

VALDOSTA WOMEN AUDIT

Those who are taking advantage of the audit privileges extended to the adults of Valdosta, are: Mrs. Julian McKey, Mrs. Henry Dukes, Mrs. Fred Powell, Mrs. C. D. Blair, Mrs. Robert Bruce, and Mrs. Armand Eyler. Among the courses being audited are: World literature, human biology, Shakespeare's comedies, survey of English literature, design, story telling, and folk dancing.

I. Q.'s Present Data On Students Here

Are chemistry students more intelligent than others? Dr. Earl W. Phelan, professor of chemistry, writing in the Journal of Chemical Education for November, 1934, shows that a comparison of the I. Q.'s of those presenting high school chemistry for admission to this college with corresponding scores for those who did not offer this subject showed no difference between the two groups.

Three papers which had been published previously in the Journal seemed by themselves to prove conclusively that students entering introductory college chemistry courses with a background of high-school chemistry earn better grades than their fellows who lack that advantage."

Dr. Phelan states that it has long been an "unverified hypothesis" of his that if high school students are given the privilege of choosing chemistry or not that they will in the majority of cases choose other subjects. It was his opinion that the most intelligent students are to be found in high school chemistry classes, and as a result the group which comes to college with a background of chemistry in most cases represents the more intelligent group.

The Terman intelligence test scores here at G. S. W. C. prove that students who enter college with high school chemistry credits, and those who enter without them, do equally well on this particular test. This conclusion rests, however, on the assumption that the girls had freedom of choice in electing or not electing high school chemistry.

A. A. E. U.

The South Georgia group of the Alumni Association of Emory University will be entertained with a dinner on charter day, January 25, at the Daniel Ashley Hotel.

C. A. Lester of Donaldsonville, president, will preside, assisted by Vice-President J. Harold Saxon of Quitman. Miss Margaret Hall, German professor at G. S. W. C., is secretary of the association.

Dr. Bennett G. Owens, of Valdosta, will be the speaker of the evening.

All members are urged to be present.

Preserving the tradition of former classes, the freshmen held their annual who's who contest on Tuesday, January 15.

To give more freedom in selection the class voted by straw vote. The counting showed evidence of a wide variation of opinion. Those selected were: the most outstanding day student, Jane Twitty; the most athletic, Harriet Rogers; the most versatile, Ruth Williams; the most popular, Blanche Mabett; the most intellectual, Frances McLain; the best all-round, Margaret Cannon; the most attractive, Virginia Zipples.

Art Section Ready For 1935 Annual

According to a statement made by Miss Winnie Davis, art editor, the Art Section of the 1935 Pine Cone will go to press the latter part of this week. Miss Davis and her first associate editor, Miss Frances Garbutt, will by that time have completed the arrangements of all pictures.

"We have worked toward the goal of a different annual," said Miss Davis, and that goal seems to have been reached to the entire satisfaction of the editor-in-chief, Miss Elizabeth Larisey, in accord with a report from her to the same effect.

All picture-making had been fully completed when the Canopy went to press. Individual pictures have for sometime been in the hands of the photographer and the group pictures, snapshots, and clubs were finished the first of this week.

NOTICE ! ! !

All Pine Cone material is requested to be in by the 15th. The annual goes to press Friday.

Freshmen Find Hat

Another January 19th ended in triumph for the freshmen Saturday when Carolyn Whipple found the hat under the eaves of the north door in West Hall. Again the freshmen succeeded in upholding the tradition that has not been broken but one year, when the class was unsuccessful in finding it.

The hat in question is the gray hat left behind by Dr. R. H. Powell, former president of the college, when he went away to war. Every year the hat is hidden by the class holding it from the previous year. This class is usually the sophomore class, and the hat is hidden by the president of the class on the 19th of October. It must be hidden on the campus, but it cannot be hidden in either dormitory. There must be some sort of marker left inside wherever it is hidden. The hat may be searched for only on the 19th of the month, and if it is not found by the opposing class on this day, the search will be discontinued until the following month. Should the searchers find the hat, they in turn hide it without letting their opponents know it has been found. The contest closes on January 19th, at six o'clock, and the class in possession at this time is entertained by the losers.

This year the contest was unusually thrilling for the freshmen, as they found the hat at four P. M. and had to guard it from the sophomores until six.

The sophomores will entertain the freshmen probably during the spring quarter.

Kappas Pledge 32; Lambdas Pledge 29

INITIATION ENDS SATURDAY FOR FRESHMAN PLEDGES

Initiation of freshmen pledges of the two athletic societies was brought to a climax Saturday evening when the old members of both associations were entertained at the gymnasium by the new members. Each of the pledges had to take part on the program and display a talent of some sort. After the party 32 pledges were received into the Kappa association and 29 into the Lambdas.

However, all of the new pledges were not freshmen, but several were new students who had to undergo the same period of initiation. From Wednesday to Friday of last week the pledges were allowed no make-up, were forced to undergo some very undignified treatment, and were very obedient to their upperclassmen. But they are now full-fledged members of their associations, and initiation week is over.

Those students receiving Lambda bids were: Alvata Carter, Susie Mathews, Margaret Cannon, Carolyn Askew, Margaret Bullard, Janie Merle Byrd, Sue Coppage, Geraldine Collins, Jeanette Hatcher, Louise Harper, Lois Hafford, Winifred King, Eleanor Lee, Blanche Mabett, Elizabeth Macon, Lora McPhaul, Helen Dale Parrish, Camille Rycroft, Lucille Shelley, Vivian Stanford, Matilda Tillman, Lucille Thompson, Kathryn Toole, Betty Vaughan, Annie Laurie White, Ruth Williams, Thera Hambrick, Wilma Ruth Faircloth, and Leila Urquhart.

Girls taken in by the Kappas include: Bernice Andrews, Helen Ashbrook, Idella Baumstein, Ruth Bunn, Mildred Daniel, Lois Dickerson, Dorothy Dickson, Ellie Etheridge, Theresa Graham, Carolyn Greene, Helen Harris, Frances Hiers, Martha Louise Jones, Marjorie Jordon, Ruth Loughridge, Frances McLain, Katherine Moore, Ruth Nixon, Lois Pafford, Lois Perry, Geraldine Quinn, Harriet Radford, Paula Sapp, Jeanette Shifrin, Kitsie Smith, Elizabeth Wade, Carolyn Whipple, Floride Zipperer, Wynelle Spell, Ernestine Isbell.

The students who were pledged by the two societies are expected to be vitalizing forces in the associations. Fist ball, basket-ball (one of the most popular sports on campus this season), and campus games will be open to the old members and the new this quarter. During the next few weeks plans for campus games tournaments will be under way, while the basket-ball games are expected to draw a large number of supporters of both the Kappas and Lambdas.

STUDENTS HEAR DEAN

Emory Junior College observed Religious Emphasis Week from January 17-20. The leader was Dean R. R. Paty, of Atlanta, dean of men at Emory University. The theme for this year was: "How May A Student Best Face the Problems of the World Today?"

Meetings were held each morning and evening, with Emory Junior students presiding. Sterling Brinkley was general chairman for the services.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ELECTIONS

The second Friday in February will mark the election of the president of the Student Government Association. This office is one of the most prominent on campus, and the duties of its president are numerous. It is her duty to "uphold the Constitution, By-Laws, and Regulations, and to exercise supervision over all other officials of the Association," besides presiding at all functions that the Association takes part in. In reality, it is the most prominent of all campus positions.

It is an office that requires poise, dignity, and self-control. A sense of fairness is desirable above all other qualities. It is an office that should be run with proficiency without the influence of politics.

The nominations that have been posted on the bulletin board are in keeping with the ideals of the Student Government president, in that the girls who have been nominated possess the requirements for the office admirably. Mildred Turnbull has held several offices in her three years at G. S. W. C. Among them are: president of the freshman class, vice-president of the Kappas, and vice-president of the Y. W. C. A. She is fully capable of holding the position.

Jo Daniels has been one of the outstanding students on campus since her freshman year also. She has served on both the Y. W. C. A. cabinet and the Athletic Council. This year she was elected the Council representative from the Student Body. Jo would also make an excellent S. G. A. president.

This election will also be the second election for vice-president of the Association. 1934 was the first year that the office was in existence. Two members of the prospective junior class have been nominated for the office. Emma Ambos, who is now president of the sophomore class, and Shelly Sparks.

Because of the ability of all four candidates this should be one of the most interesting elections in a number of years.

Freshmen initiation proved that the best sports on the campus are found in the freshmen class. Only in one instance was there any absolute refusal to do as bid by old members. This week the freshmen are members, but they have shown that they are a class of good sports.

Those of you who saw "The County Chairman" with Will Rogers will know what we mean when we say don't give up until the returns are in. So don't give up until we know absolutely that Talmadge's bill will pass.

FROM THE DOME

Leonora Dufour

A secret is the shortest distance between Ashley and Converse.

When breaking at a tea dance
There's a hundred million chances.
And we can take them all—but one
The boy who counts his dances.

At Virginia Tech this is their idea of women:

"Bad men
Want their women to be like cigarettes
Just so many, all slender and trim,
In a case
Waiting in a row
To be selected, set afame and
When the fire has died,
Discarded.

More fastidious men
Prefer women
Like cigars—

These are more exclusive
Look better and last longer;
If the brand is good
They aren't given away.

Nice men
Treat them like pipes
And become more attached to them
The older they become!
When the flame is burnt out
They still look after them,
Knock them gently (but lovingly)
And care for them always;
No man shares his pipe."

ON THINKING IT OVER

Darling, I know that you took it hard;
I know that I told you that I might—
But really you're old enough to know
That to change her mind is a woman's right!

BEYOND THE CAMPUS

Winnie Davis

DO WE OR DON'T WE GET?

Is Talmadge going to be "an ol' meanie" or the "People's Friend?" Is the proposed PWA building project to be killed in the current session of the state legislature? On your knees, students, and pray that Talmadge sees the light.

The shades of John Marshall went for a ride on the Washington Merry-Go-Round Friday, January 11, when the Supreme Court raised its voice and ventured to hand down a decision that section nine (9) of the National Recovery Act was unconstitutional, illegal and without judicial sanction.

Patience is rewarded—the new issue of the ESQUIRE is available. And "Candy-Man," the story of a Georgia jig with nothing but a yalla gal on his mind is the best negro story since Uncle Remus.

Did Leon Trotsky meet a Spanish Stalin—or just what happened to his revolution in Spain that he is supposed to have incited some months back?

Well, that practically takes care of the Barker family.

In the January Living Age there is printed an article that appeared in the Neue Tage-Buch of Paris. It is entitled "Pages From a Diary," and was written by a Berlin student. It presents a cross section of the German student's mind, and shows the state of mind that two years of Hitlerism has reduced the youth of his generation.

Another woman made real news last week. Amelia Earhart was recently voted one of America's ten outstanding women. Her trip from Hawaii to California gave her the title of "first woman to ever fly from Hawaii to California," and the first person of either sex to fly it alone. Aviation is one field that women hold their own in.

WEEK'S PROGRAM

RITZ

Wednesday—Gloria Stuart in "Maybe It's Love."

Thursday and Friday—Joan Crawford, Clark Gable, and Robert Montgomery in "Forsaking All Others."

Saturday—"Murder in the Clouds", with Lyle Talbot and Anne Dvorak.

Monday and Tuesday—Irene Dunne and Donald Woods in "Sweet Adeline."

PALACE

Wednesday—"Men of the Night."

Thursday and Friday—"Girl of My Dreams", with Mary Carlyle and Sterling Holloway.

Saturday—"Brand of Hate."

Monday and Tuesday—"Charlie Chan in Paris," with Warner Oland.

Wednesday—"One Exciting Adventure," with Neil Hamilton and Bennie Barnes.

What a well filled week! "Forsaking All Others," "Sweet Adeline," and "Charlie Chan" at once. Crawford, Gable and Montgomery are united to make a unique and outstanding picture. Is there anyone who is not interested in at least one of the three? Is there one out here who will miss "Forsaking All Others"? A preview of the entire picture of "Sweet Adeline" was run the other night to the great satisfaction of everyone present.

JUNIOR TEA DANCE

The tea dance at the Legion Home Thursday afternoon which was sponsored by the Junior Class, was one of the most enjoyable social functions of the year. Ed Jenright and his Rhythm Kings from Thomasville, who have been booked to play for several dances here during the year, furnished the music for this occasion. Both dormitory and own students attended and had as their guests a number of young men from town. Among the guests present were: Messrs. Andre Tillman, Clement Greene, Curtis Jackson, Joe Ferring of Camilla, Peyton Lawson, Harris Dukes, Walter Autrey, Gene King, Charlie Joyner, Harry Ulmer, Traverse Payne, Johnny Ulmer, Jamie Carroll, John Sineath, Jerry Tullis, J. I. Touchton, Aubrey Stump, Bruce McHaffey, Buck Murphy, Robert Miller, Pat Young, Hugh Kroill, Herbert Wood, Walter Williams, Sherrod Collins of Waycross, Louie Hearne, Joe Mac Smith of Nashville, "Shirttail" Bullock and Billy Lastinger.

STATE A. A. U. W.

Miss Gertrude Gilmer, professor of English at G. S. W. C. was elected president of the Georgia Division of the American Association of University Women, which met in Atlanta Saturday, January 19, with headquarters at Agnes Scott College. Dr. Lena Hawkes, professor of mathematics at G. S. W. C. was elected secretary of the A. A. U. W.

Among the national speakers present at this meeting were: Dr. C. S. Loucher, Dean of the College of Arts, Literature and Science at the University of Chicago. Dr. Meta Glass, president of Sweetbriar, national president

THE SOCIAL WEEK

Among the alumnae visitors to the College last week were: Miss Katherine Moore and Miss Mildred Minchew, who are holding government positions in Douglas and Baxley respectively; Miss Margaret Williams, who is teaching in Tifton, and Miss Margaret Kennedy, who is a member of the faculty of Pavo High School.

Visitors on campus last week were: Mr. Ulyss Locklier, of Homerville; Mr. Jack Berkhalter, of Quitman; Mrs. A. V. Folsom, of Hahira; Mr. R. D. Reid, of Homerville; Mrs. T. R. Holton, of Douglas; Dr. and Mrs. Hafford, their son Wilbur, and Miss Mildred Wilson, of Waycross; Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Nixon, Jr., and Mrs. F. W. Nixon, of Jasper, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Wurst, of Waycross; Mrs. J. W. O'Neal, of Tifton; and Mrs. L. L. Register.

Miss Henry Kate Gardner returned from a trip to Miami last week. While there, she was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Joel NeSmith, formerly Miss Annie Lois Gardner.

Miss Leonora Ivey attended the Executive Committee meeting of the Georgia Physical Education Association in Atlanta, Saturday, January the 19th.

of the A. A. U. W., and Dr. Kathryn McHale, General Director of A. A. U. W.

Dr. Hawkes and Miss Gilmer were accompanied to Atlanta by Miss Annie P. Hopper, who was elected a delegate from the local chapter of A. A. U. W.

Miss Pearl Wilson was called to Jacksonville Thursday, due to the illness of her uncle, Mr. W. A. Wilson.

Miss Daisy Daniels honored Miss Mayme Register with a birthday party on Friday evening. The guests present were the joint-hostesses of the dining-hall. Miss Daniels was assisted by Mrs. Beck.

Miss Louise Sawyer recently attended the annual convention of the National Association of Teachers of Speech in New Orleans. Miss Sawyer was appointed fourth vice-president of the Southern Association.

Students who were out of town last weekend were: Misses Leila Urquhart, Helen Dale Parrish, Catherine Morgan, Camille Rycroft Vivian Stanford, Blanche Mabbett, Tad Whipple, Kitsie Smith, and Ruth Hatcher.

Misses Billie Ham, Bootsie Hatcher, Chappie Bragg and Louise Driskell, four of the Knights of the Hobby Horse who danced at the Christmas festival, danced for the guests at the Kiwanis Club banquet given in honor of "Ladies Night" on Thursday evening.

Miss Harriett Radford has returned home on account of illness.

Miss Mildred Turnbull and Miss Vangie Trimble were visitors off campus last weekend.

TALKING SHOP

Thursday we noticed in Mrs. Whitington's window, a figured crepe with tailored red blouse and black accessories. Enough said. It was the very soul of chic. Spring coats were also showing, and a lovely green suit was the object of our affection. Together with brown accessories, it was the thing.

We have been raving about the new spring materials, but the weather right now (as we write this) reminds us of the winter coats that we saw in Churchwell's window. Right now is a good time to remember that we don't have pleasant weather for good until the February and March freezes are over.

As long as home economics is one of the favorite subjects on campus we might as well cater to that group. So we have been snooping in Varnedoe's. We found some lovely Vogue patterns and all kinds of attractive materials. Reds, yellows, blacks, imported weave materials, coating materials, cotton, rufyan, different colors of suiting in solid colors, and myriad other clothes to appeal to the college girl with a flair for making her own clothes.

SPORTS

Dr. Bennett Owens, prominent Valdosta physician, was a guest of the physical education department last week, at which time he spoke on the subject of "Health Rules That Every College Girl Should Know." Dr. Owens was the first guest speaker for this quarter, and Dr. Marian Farbar, resident physician, will speak at a future date in "Elimination Diets."

Because of the recent statement that a college girl's education was not complete until she had learned to play golf and tennis with some proficiency, a great many students have been practicing on the local golf links and tennis courts. A class in tennis is being given by Miss Ivey this quarter and a class in golf. Any student that wishes to learn how to play either golf or tennis may do so by applying to the manager of either sport.

We are now wondering if it will ever be possible for us to have a swimming pool. Just as hopes were high for a swimming pool by the end of the spring quarter, we hear word that we may not get any of the proposed PWA buildings.

The Lambdas and Kappas are now richer in freshmen material. Initiation yielded a crop of freshmen enthusiasm and sport. With basket ball and baseball before us they will be welcome additions.

The advanced dancing classes are now preparing dances for the May Day program in the spring. The freshman dancing classes are continuing their ball room dancing lessons.

Archery and tennis tournaments are being planned for the spring. Lambdas and Kappas both have some good material on these sports.

B. Y. P. U. Address

"Everyone must determine his own life, must realize what is worth while and what is not worth while. Youth is the time to cultivate a sense of value," Miss Hopper pointed out in her address to the B. Y. P. U. of the First Baptist Church, Sunday, January the 13th.

"People do not judge value correctly because of lack of imagination," continued Miss Hopper. "We fail to look ahead and realize future loss." As a typical example of such she told the old story of Eassau selling his birth-right for a bowl of porridge that would ease his immediate physical want and fatigue.

Youth often, like the rich young man who approached Jesus with a plea for salvation, cannot or will not pay the price. Everyone must develop his own personality, that, like each leaf is unique, and he must develop from the best he can."

"We are all fragments of God. We should regard ourselves as sacred and begin to live right now. The words of Socrates, when he instructed a young man that 'the only way to reach Olympus is to begin walking in that direction,' tell us of the modern world how we may shape our lives."

Miss Hopper summarized her ideas in the poem with which she closed.

Dr. Frank Reade, Executive Dean, and Mrs. Reade, spent last weekend in Atlanta where he attended the American Association of Colleges.

And I have a prize story this time—about the sophomore cutie, who, asked about mitosis replied engagedly. "Oh, yes, I have ten of 'em." Page Miss G. S. W. C. All of us who saw Clara Davis at the junior tea dance Thursday afternoon sinfully covet that red velvet dress . . . And Smiley Herring, the tireless dancer, made quite a splash at the said tea dance . . . And we couldn't help but know who holds the heart of the campus "visitor" . . . Well, well . . . Dame Rumor has it that the same girl was voted the most attractive in the superlative contest . . . And didn't Kitsie look happy dancing to waltz time at the tea dance? Girls may come and girls may go . . . How many girls know the secret of the beatific smile on Jerry's face lately?

We think it must be due to the bunny coat that the boy friend surprised her with Xmas . . . How many upperclassmen palpitate over the thought of Shell and Amoco gas? . . . These f. s. men have a way with them . . . We miss Isham . . . Seemed like old times to have Kid, Minchew, and K. Moore back on campus . . . It cheers us to see the Kappa and Lambda pledges creeping around the campus with hair ribbons—and don't they look different minus the make-up? . . . But we know one little girl that ought to be turned across somebody's knee and spanked right good for her attitude toward initiation . . . Carroll is wearing a Florida fraternity pin over her heart, which is as it should be, on account of she has gobs of fun in DeLand at summer school every year . . . Can't wait to hear about the Junior Cotillion Club blow-out—the town girls are all peped over it . . . And the copy of "Sanctuary" is still missing . . . Oh, well, we wouldn't recommend it to underclassmen, and all of the upper classmen have probably read it . . . And why has the library quit the Atlanta Journal? We are heartbroken . . . An orchid to the editor for the editorials . . . Scallions to the girl that we saw scattering fine bits of paper over the campus the other day . . . Politics and more politics, with elections right around the corner.

After all though, there is so much bad in the best of us, and so much good in the worst of us; it is hardly fair for any of us to talk about the rest of us . . . We're going philosophical . . . So long . . .

Vesper Programs

The Y. W. C. A. has been interested in the problems of the Negro this year and has built programs around the subject to present these problems to the students. Friday evening Miss Clara Louise Driskell led the program at Vespers. "The Negro Transient," a story of what is being done for the Negro through F. E. R. A., was told by Miss Lorene Johnson. Miss Martha Gay, of Quitman, spoke on "The Farm—the Negro's Best Chance."

Miss Priscilla Kelley, of Savannah, spoke at Vespers Sunday on "The Student and Religion."
