Reverend Eyler Is Assembly Speaker

"Improved Means to Unimproved Ends," the fascinating subject on which Rev. Armand Eyler, Vicar of the Episcopal Church, spoke at assembly on last Wednesday, saidRev. Eyler, "is divided into two factors—the things by which we live and the things for which we live. How these are handled will determine the value of our generation."

Rev. Eyler showed further how duly education and religion are related. He pointed out that we have almost reached a state of perfection in the world of scientific inventions, and therefore we do not have to worry about our means of living. The problem of our generation is to make the ends for which we live justify our means. Rev. Eyler stated that the aftermath of the war has left us a wave of materialism, taking our improved ends, and unbecoming and unbelieving. His belief is that before we can answer the questions to be asked by the next generation, we must undergo a reviving of Christian charity which will enable us to take our improved means of living and direct them. This will not be by improved ends, but to improved ends for the enlightenment of humanity. "Education is an end of living," concluded Rev. Eyler, "it is a means. Your university cares concern knowing how to handle the ends of living."

Y. W. C. A. Sponsors Alumna Speaker

The Y. W. C. A. is bringing an outstanding alumna member, Miss Lucy McGregor, of Halycondale, to the campus the coming week-end, Feb. 9 and 10, for a series of talks on Saturday afternoon and meet the "Y" cabinet to be with them for a time Sunday morning at the House-in-the-Woods. Miss McGregor was a member of the class that furnished the House. Sunday morning she will have charge of the Bible study hour, at which she will speak on "The Bible." The cabinet will give a tea in her honor Sunday afternoon. At Vesper she will make her closing talk.

Miss McGregor is at present a member of the faculty of Andrew College. She is well known for her poetry which has appeared in a number of religious periodicals, among which are the World Outlook and the Christian Herald.

The week-end of February 16 and 17 there will be a deputation team from Emory.

---

The Campus Canopy

VOLUME 1 GEORGIA STATE WOMANS COLLEGE, VALDOSTA, GA., FEBRUARY 6, 1935

NUMBER 8

Rev. Dr. Beebe Thrills Audience Sunday with Accounts of Deep Sea Dives

"Although we went to a depth of 3,028 feet, or one mile and a half, the number of things we see is not up to the scientific minds making it. The fact of importance to us is that by it we have been able to visit and examine life in this hitherto unknown to man," said Dr. William Beebe in an address to the G. S. W. C. student body and the public Sunday afternoon.

After Dr. Beebe had decided to make a scientific study of fish rather than to continue his work with jungle birds he selected Bermuda as his habitat and started for his first dive. The British government, which he represented, gave him every possible assistance before he started. The project ended successfully, and the British government furnished him every possible assistance before he started. Dr. Beebe arrived on the first act arc asked to meet re-

"The Swan" who are in the cast of the Y. W. C. A. sponsors, was a British colony. He explained that the British are as a whole better qualified than to continue his work with jungle birds he selected Bermuda as his habitat and started for his first dive. The British government, which he represented, gave him every possible assistance before he started. The project ended successfully, and the British government furnished him every possible assistance before he started. Dr. Beebe arrived on the first act arc asked to meet reduction for which we live justify our means of living. The problem of our generation is to make the ends for which we live justify our means. Rev. Eyler stated that the aftermath of the war has left us a wave of materialism, taking our improved ends, and unbecoming and unbelieving. His belief is that before we can answer the questions to be asked by the next generation, we must undergo a reviving of Christian charity which will enable us to take our improved means of living and direct them. This will not be by improved ends, but to improved ends for the enlightenment of humanity. "Education is an end of living," concluded Rev. Eyler, "it is a means. Your university cares concern knowing how to handle the ends of living."

---

The Campus Canopy

VOLUME 1 GEORGIA STATE WOMANS COLLEGE, VALDOSTA, GA., FEBRUARY 6, 1935

NUMBER 8

Rev. Dr. Beebe Thrills Audience Sunday with Accounts of Deep Sea Dives

"Although we went to a depth of 3,028 feet, or one mile and a half, the number of things we see is not up to the scientific minds making it. The fact of importance to us is that by it we have been able to visit and examine life in this hitherto unknown to man," said Dr. William Beebe in an address to the G. S. W. C. student body and the public Sunday afternoon.

After Dr. Beebe had decided to make a scientific study of fish rather than to continue his work with jungle birds he selected Bermuda as his habitat and started for his first dive. The British government, which he represented, gave him every possible assistance before he started. The project ended successfully, and the British government furnished him every possible assistance before he started. Dr. Beebe arrived on the first act arc asked to meet re-

"The Swan" who are in the cast of the Y. W. C. A. sponsors, was a British colony. He explained that the British are as a whole better qualified than to continue his work with jungle birds he selected Bermuda as his habitat and started for his first dive. The British government, which he represented, gave him every possible assistance before he started. The project ended successfully, and the British government furnished him every possible assistance before he started. Dr. Beebe arrived on the first act arc asked to meet re-

---

The Campus Canopy

VOLUME 1 GEORGIA STATE WOMANS COLLEGE, VALDOSTA, GA., FEBRUARY 6, 1935

NUMBER 8

Rev. Dr. Beebe Thrills Audience Sunday with Accounts of Deep Sea Dives

"Although we went to a depth of 3,028 feet, or one mile and a half, the number of things we see is not up to the scientific minds making it. The fact of importance to us is that by it we have been able to visit and examine life in this hitherto unknown to man," said Dr. William Beebe in an address to the G. S. W. C. student body and the public Sunday afternoon.

After Dr. Beebe had decided to make a scientific study of fish rather than to continue his work with jungle birds he selected Bermuda as his habitat and started for his first dive. The British government, which he represented, gave him every possible assistance before he started. The project ended successfully, and the British government furnished him every possible assistance before he started. Dr. Beebe arrived on the first act arc asked to meet re-

"The Swan" who are in the cast of the Y. W. C. A. sponsors, was a British colony. He explained that the British are as a whole better qualified than to continue his work with jungle birds he selected Bermuda as his habitat and started for his first dive. The British government, which he represented, gave him every possible assistance before he started. The project ended successfully, and the British government furnished him every possible assistance before he started. Dr. Beebe arrived on the first act arc asked to meet re-

---

The Campus Canopy

VOLUME 1 GEORGIA STATE WOMANS COLLEGE, VALDOSTA, GA., FEBRUARY 6, 1935

NUMBER 8

Rev. Dr. Beebe Thrills Audience Sunday with Accounts of Deep Sea Dives

"Although we went to a depth of 3,028 feet, or one mile and a half, the number of things we see is not up to the scientific minds making it. The fact of importance to us is that by it we have been able to visit and examine life in this hitherto unknown to man," said Dr. William Beebe in an address to the G. S. W. C. student body and the public Sunday afternoon.

After Dr. Beebe had decided to make a scientific study of fish rather than to continue his work with jungle birds he selected Bermuda as his habitat and started for his first dive. The British government, which he represented, gave him every possible assistance before he started. The project ended successfully, and the British government furnished him every possible assistance before he started. Dr. Beebe arrived on the first act arc asked to meet re-

"The Swan" who are in the cast of the Y. W. C. A. sponsors, was a British colony. He explained that the British are as a whole better qualified than to continue his work with jungle birds he selected Bermuda as his habitat and started for his first dive. The British government, which he represented, gave him every possible assistance before he started. The project ended successfully, and the British government furnished him every possible assistance before he started. Dr. Beebe arrived on the first act arc asked to meet re-

---

The Campus Canopy

VOLUME 1 GEORGIA STATE WOMANS COLLEGE, VALDOSTA, GA., FEBRUARY 6, 1935

NUMBER 8

Rev. Dr. Beebe Thrills Audience Sunday with Accounts of Deep Sea Dives

"Although we went to a depth of 3,028 feet, or one mile and a half, the number of things we see is not up to the scientific minds making it. The fact of importance to us is that by it we have been able to visit and examine life in this hitherto unknown to man," said Dr. William Beebe in an address to the G. S. W. C. student body and the public Sunday afternoon.

After Dr. Beebe had decided to make a scientific study of fish rather than to continue his work with jungle birds he selected Bermuda as his habitat and started for his first dive. The British government, which he represented, gave him every possible assistance before he started. The project ended successfully, and the British government furnished him every possible assistance before he started. Dr. Beebe arrived on the first act arc asked to meet re-

"The Swan" who are in the cast of the Y. W. C. A. sponsors, was a British colony. He explained that the British are as a whole better qualified than to continue his work with jungle birds he selected Bermuda as his habitat and started for his first dive. The British government, which he represented, gave him every possible assistance before he started. The project ended successfully, and the British government furnished him every possible assistance before he started. Dr. Beebe arrived on the first act arc asked to meet re-
WHAT DO YOU READ?

What do you read when you have a free period to spend in the library? Does any of the reading that you do in your leisure time have a definite value in improving your intellect? Certainly you want it to if you are at all interested in being intellectual.

How should I know what to read you might ask. Well, we have in the library a definite guide by which you can read magazine articles which are both interesting and educational. On the shelf by the magazine rack there is posted each month a list of the ten outstanding magazine articles, selected by a council of librarians. These articles deal with any number of subjects of current interest—latest developments in the radio world, national and international political problems, etc.—all of which are of interest to the alert college student. The articles are from such magazines as the Atlantic Monthly, Scribner's, Fortune, and Review of Reviews.

A recent interview with thirty-five students of this college selected from the Dean's List, officers, and other outstanding students from all classes reveals that little heed is being taken to this list of articles. Only six students reported that they ever read any articles from the list, and four had read one or more from the January list. A check-up shows that every magazine from which the January list was compiled is in the library, so lack of magazines is not an excuse. Some said that they never go into the library except to study; others said that to read such articles is too much like studying itself.

Don't we owe it to ourselves to keep up with the best that is being published in current magazines? The articles are anything but dry and dull if you read them with the right interest. What issue has recently caused more comment or aroused more interest than the voting of the Saar Basin? The Current History for January carried an article which would give every student a keen insight into the situation as well as an interpretation of the accounts of the newspapers which the newspapers are full.

It is almost unbelievable that some students, even the juniors and seniors, have never noticed this list which is always in the same place in the library. If you have not been interested in a guide for your reading, why not try reading one article a month from the list?

You will certainly profit by it.

LOUISE HARDY.

THE OPEN FORUM

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editors:

The Library Committee desires to cooperate in every possible way with the students and with The Campus in making the library more useful and more helpful than it has ever been. Many desirable purchases are impossible because of dire lack of funds, but every attempt will be made to satisfy real needs. It was a surprise to see in The Campus that there was a wish for the restoration of The Atlanta Journal, as it had already been reordered by the Committee before the comment on it had been published. Sanctuary, however, has gone the way of all flesh. It was read by a normally healthy minded person and thrown into the fire, and the only question raised was—how much reward should be given for such a good deed. But quite seriously we want the students to feel that any constructive suggestion that they have will be welcomed, and grounds for complaint will be remedied, whenever it is humanly possible.

THE LIBRARY COMMITTEE.

Dear Editor:

Yes, it's decidedly better to call it the Dean's List than the honor roll, for that honor roll should carry honors with it and I'm still waiting for someone to point out the honor that's really attached to it. It's true that your names ticked up with the bookworms and allowed to remain there for three months for your sister classmates who makes C's and it is to get them—and whom you probably help occasionally when she's in a tight spot. CASUALLY remark that if she kept her head in the book as much as you did that she would make it too. To a few credit is grudgingly granted because they are supposed to make grades without cracking the book. Don't kid yourself; I may believe in mental telepathy to a certain extent but I don't believe, and some one born knowing. She's contacted the book somewhere along the line. The teacher who will give an A on just what a student can get from a recitation hasn't done his duty. He hasn't refined enough to make her give evidence of her maximum capability.

I would take a good deal of ingratitude to remember that one is a list, if it wasn't amusing to hear the students current remark: "I'd rather have common sense than a lot of book sense made by one of the club. When quizzed on what the difference is between the two, she is about as definite as she was to have been asked to explain Einstein. She doesn't know, for it's only an alibi that she furnished herself with.

If you'll inspect the list you'll find that the majority of these girls are active members of three of the clubs on campus—one of which is probably athletic. Several are F. E. R. A. girls which demands much of their time, takes one more subject than the rest, does all of the girls, and is willing and ready to give of her services when they are requested.

The only privilege granted is that of cutting classes, and check-up shows that these girls do not abuse this privilege. They are usually the ones we appreciate the effort of the teacher and the good derived from class attendance. No one has asked that you praise them, but the least that you can do is to make your comments within your clique where they will be appreciated.

A Sophomore.

Dear Editor:

To keep politics out of the Y. W. C. A. elections was one of the reasons for having the officers of this association elected by a committee instead of by the student body, as is done in the S. G. A. and other associations on the campus. When a principle has been defeated why not change the principle? I wonder if the opinion of the student body is fully capable of selecting leaders without employing political means and that the Y. W. C. A. does not require shelter from politics any more than do the other organizations on our campus. Let's have all of our officers representative of the student body and not a small group.

WINNIE DAVIS.

BEYOND THE CAMPUS

Winnie Davis

Thoughts:

If Al Smith was known as New York's Racketeer, then does that make Gene Talmadge Georgia's Cracktetteer . . . Bootlegged religion in Hitlerland . . . Yugo-Slavia's "youngest" king, Peter; U. of Chicago's "youngest" president; France's "youngest head of state" (in Yugo-Slavia's a Duce; and a Sir Thomas Lawrence.

Baron Von Neurath in his article in "Germany's Foreign Policy" in the January Forum ably defends German attitude as dictated by Hitler. He claims that Germany is at present dominated by two national interests: (1) The Saar Basin, which at present is in the back-ground of international interests following the Pleebesice; (2) The disarmament program that Germany has been following for fourteen years.

This same disarmament program, given to the German government by the Allied Powers has led to the development of one of the most ingenious weapons the Reichswehr, the trained crops with the shum equipment.
PERSONALS

Miss Verdel Dickerson, of Waycross, spent last week-end with Miss Ruby and Marjory Jordan.

The American Association of University Women met Thursday, January 24th, in the Rotunda. Miss Gertrude Gilmer reported on the addresses of Dean D. S. Boucher, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Chicago; Dr. Meta Glass, National president of the A. A. U. W., and Dr. Rhinehart, of Mills College. Dr. Harris gave reports on the speeches of Miss Kathryn McHale, General Director of A. A. U. W., and Miss Jeanette Kelly, Regional Director of South Atlantic. Miss Hopper discussed Student Reaction to the Changed Curriculum.

Mrs. Bill Thomas, a bride of December, has been the center of numerous social affairs. Miss Elizabeth Pendleton entertained with a bridge party and miscellaneous shower on January 26th. Mrs. Howard Bridges entertained at bridge at the Woman's Building on the 24th. The Junior Wymoduous Club gave a miscellaneous shower on Thursday, the 17th. Mrs. Homer Eberhardt and Mrs. George Converse entertained at bridge on January 15th, at the Daniel Ashley. Mrs. Arthur Farramore honored the bride with a bridge party at her home on the 8th.

Among the visitors on campus last week were: Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Lundy and children, Lester and Ellis, and Miss Virginia Anne Groover, all of Boston, Mr. Marvin Register and Miss Lena Bell Register of Adel, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Morgan and Miss Jesse Morgan of Mystic, Mrs. C. J. Morris, Mrs. G. W. Kirkland and Miss Eva Dell White of Pearl, Miss Jerry Rivers of Lakeville, Mr. Hubert Baker and Mr. Robert Cox of Tifton, Miss Louise Price of Jesup, Mr. C. J. Nix of Jasper, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Watkins of Metcalf, Mrs. Renfroe of Vienna, Mrs. Holt, Mrs. Francis Hinson, Marjorie Jordan, Essie Skinner, Rurr Williams, Sally Morris, and Lucille Tyson.

Miss Leila Urquhart spent last week-end in Homerville the guest of Mr. Tommy Brown, formerly Miss Allsior Higdenes.

Miss Lilian Slocumb spent last Sunday in Doerun. She was accompanied by her two roommates, Misses Marie Bower and Carol, and Cook.

Miss Louise Smith was a visitor in Jacksonville last Tuesday.

Miss Camille Rogers and Harriet Bullard spent last week-end in Nashville, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bullard.

Miss Rachel Coxwell made a trip to Albany last Friday to consult a specialist.

Miss Marie Joiner spent last Sunday in Albany, the guest of her aunt, Mrs. L. Smith.

Miss Jerry Hatcher of Moultrie, spent last week-end with Misses Bootsie and Barbara Hatcher.

Miss Annie Laura Rents, student of Florida State College for Women, spent last week-end with Miss Doris Swindle.

Among those off campus last week were: Misses Elizabeth Wilkes, Gayle Chute, Geraldine Collins, Lora McPhaul, Mary Elizabeth Nix, Vivian and Wynelle Vincent, Sally Prescott, Floride Zipperer, and Madie Watson.

Miss Marie Middleton went to Albany Wednesday to have her tonsils removed.

CINEMA CYNIC

Leila Urquhart

Brunettes and Red-heads are to be featured at the Palace this time. Fay Wray and Anna Carroll return to us in White Lies and Jealousy respectively. Carroll gives a swell performance—but maybe you’ve seen it? A big picture of Warner Baxter is o n a t the Ritz. Springtime has made a definite appearance in the wardrobes of the various stars. The gowns are beautiful and are probably just the things for California, but if you don’t mind down here in Georgia I’ll stick to my wraps for a few days more.
SPORTS

The announcement made Friday at assembly by Dr. Reade to the effect that horse-back riding would be offered on our campus next quarter created a distinct current of excitement. That the students are definitely interested in the possibility of participating in this popular sport was made obvious by the comments of the girls following Dr. Reade’s announcement and it is believed that even though a fee will be charged for riding lessons a large number of students will take advantage of the opportunity next quarter.

A two division basket ball court has taken the place of the old three division type on our campus and those who played last year are finding it a bit difficult to get into swing for this division causes a noticeable change in the team organization. After a few more work-outs, however, both Kappas and Lambdas will begin showing the improvement already noticed since the first practice.

The annual Hare and Hound chase which is to be sponsored by the Athletic Club has been scheduled for Saturday, February 9, and plans are already underway. For the past several years the affair has been enjoyable and the members of the club hope that all students in and out of the club, will join in the fun this year.

Both Kappa and Lambda campus game charts are filling up which proves that our school has a sport for every girl and a girl for every sport.

A business meeting of the Athletic Club was held Monday at chapel period and plans for the remainder of the quarter were discussed with particular interest on the requirements of the members if they intend to remain in the club.

ATTEND THE FINE ARTS CLUB’S WAFFLE SUPPER
THE 16th.

S. G. A. HEARS TALK ON CHARACTER

(Continued from Page One)
in the Library
There is one man in the world whom I must satisfy and that man is James A. Garfield; for I must live, talk and die with him.

"History and time have shown," said Mr. Eager, "that less than one per cent of the people do all the thinking and all or some of the time, but we can make the other ninety-nine per cent. It is a matter of organization.

Juniors vote for Spinach

The coveted formula, the envy of every freshman and sophomore, which has given the juniors the strength and courage to carry on for, lo, these past three years was brought to light recently in the most astounding discovery. The secret of their vitality lies in the energy giving power of our old friendly foe Spinach. This astonishing fact was revealed when a careful chart-up on the juniors was made and it was found that the immortal Pop Eye rated first in the popularity contest of comic strips. Why the juniors are such an outstanding class was also discovered when it was found that the members have such widely diversified interests. For instance there are those who have hopes and ambitions point toward the splendid of marriage bliss, which fact was made evident when the following story of a recent marriage was related by one of the members. "Father took second place in said contest. A well balanced class must always have its dreamers who strive for the unattainable. In this respect we are not lacking for we have four ardent admirers of Flash Gordon and Buddy Rogers. Of the two types, who sometimes make good reporters, we are also well supplied for there are some who never miss a copy of Dan Dunn, Dick Tracy, or Fu Manchu. Of course we have the sweet and simple type who religiously read Rum and Little Orphan Annie. Pleasure seekers who pattern their lives after Boots And Her Buddies, the mischievous who swear by the Kattenjammer Kids and the humorists who have found out Smitty. It is with bowed heads and shamed faces, however, that we acknowledge the one flaw in our otherwise remarkable class but we find one of our inmates who never reads the funny papers at all. Sad will be her fate no doubt. It's a pity the way personalities will show up in the strangest places.

KAMPUS KALEIDOSCOPE

Rumors to the contrary, gal-about-town is not a senior. Don't you know they're too busy working for the old sheepskin to stoop to idle gossip? Speaking of seniors, we think Mary Folhill is extraordinary and deserves some publicity—why her b. f. called her up from Chicago not so long ago and another sends her orchids from Washington. What a gal! It's perfectly all right to wear your corsage to church on Sunday morning—girls, but why on a sport dress? "Little girl, what next?" . . . . We also think Mary Lois Hitch deserves publicity—besides being lovely, she's a siren of the first degree and also plays the piano beautifully . . . . What does go on around this campus, anyway? I've tried to get a smidgen of news out of the mis­ fortune of our inmates who never reads the funny papers at all. Sad will be her fate no doubt. It's a pity the way personalities will show up in the strangest places.

COMPLIMENTS

of

Superior

Baking Co.

Cash Drug Store

College Girls

A convenient soda fountain to visit on your trips to town!

AUSTIN QUICK DELIVERY

To the College and Senior House

First National Bank

Valdosta, Georgia

FACULTY - STREET

Everything in HARDWARE

PHONE 800

135 N. Ashley St.