See May Queen
Crowned on Green

One of the most colorful events of the school year at Georgia State Woman's College was the May-Day festivity held on Saturday, April 27. The Queen of the May, Miss Mary Polhill, of Sylvester, was honored in a manner complimentary to the loveliness and patrician of her highness. The Queen was dressed in a white crepe gown with organza ruffles. The train was white with a black bodice and died in folds. The festivities began with the prologue, a ceremony performed by the heralds, Helen Dale Parrish, of Thomasville, and Kitsie Smith, of Waycross. The flocks of the heralds played horse, skip rope, and many other games. Next came the King, Miss Eleanor Bailey, of Douglas, his court, and the people, all doing honor to the Queen. They were followed by the heralds, Helen Dale Parrish, of Thomasville, and Kitsie Smith, of Waycross. The court consisted of Miss Margaret Zipple, maid of honor, dressed in pink crepe with organdy trimmed in white, and Margaret Zipple, maid of honor, dressed in pink crepe with organdy trimmed in white, and Margaret Zipple, maid of honor, dressed in pink crepe with organdy trimmed in white.

The committee on the apportionment of the Student Activities fees has drawn up a report to present to the students as to how the fund is spent. In making its report, the apportionment committee, composed of Miss Hopper, Miss Gilmer, Dr. Phe- lan, and Mr. Dusenbury, recommended that the Student Government Association have one group or sub-division thereof against any other group or sub-division hereinunto. The group is called the Pine Cone. The total amount comprises the income from the assessments on the students at the beginning of each quarter of $402.00.

It has been suggested that treasurers of the clubs and activities make like reports on the income for their activity in order that the students might have an accurate accounting of the way in which this money is spent.

S. G. A. Changes Court Order

The court of the Student Government Association has made several changes in the effort to impress upon students the seriousness of a sum.

The court room is lit by candles, which cast a wierd light over the somber black robes and caps worn by the court members. The object of these innovations is to make the court more impressive and more dignified, and to assure proper respect and conduct on the part of students summoned before them.

Mr. Henry Kate Gardner, of Camilla, president of the Student Government Association, was presented in her senior graduation recital at the Womans Building on Friday evening.

Miss Gardner read all of the parts in "Death Takes a Holiday," by Walter Ferris. The story of the play is a strange one, and a difficult one, but Miss Gardner's interpretation of the roles was excellent in its execution. Death takes the form of a mortal and for a period of three days lives and loves and suffers as a mortal. When he departs to his own realm he takes with him the beautiful girl with whom he has fallen in love, and who does not fear him, even in his own aspects.

The recital Friday evening presented no part of the many of Miss Gardner's talents. She was voted the most versatile in the "Who's Who" election in the fall. She has played the lead in the number of the productions of the Sock and Buskin Club presentations, and she also was one of the outstanding dancers in the May Day festival on Saturday afternoon.

The recital given by Miss Gardner was the second of the senior graduation recitals for the year.

Courses Planned
For Leisure Time

No longer will the Columbus System (discover and land on it), or the Bible System ("seek and ye shall find") be used by the campus typists. A course in typing is now being offered on campus.

The course will be taught by Miss Ruth Whittle, of Brunswick, who has had quite a bit of experience in typing. A small fee is being charged for the rental of the typewriters. Twenty-four girls have been selected out of a larger list of applicants as being best qualified to take the course.

The class met for the first time on Thursday afternoon, at which time the class was divided into sections, and a schedule arranged for the students.

This course has proved very popular with the students, and a similar course will be offered next year. The class is part of the leisure time program for the college students, and will be supervised by F. E. R. A. students.

Glee Club Elections

In a recent campus election Miss Joy Miller, of Albany, was elected president of the Glee Club. Miss Miller is an outstanding soprano in the club. She did several solo numbers in the recent concert by the Glee Club. She was also president of the Philharmonic Club last year.

Miss Alexa Daley, of Dublin, was elected vice-president, and Miss Mary Lois Hitch, of Valdosta, was elected secretary and treasurer.

THE LONG VIEW

Kathryne Connell

The life which does not at some time bring to the person living it something of a long view, has no particle of greatness, less of mental peace and benignity, and a total lack of perception of men and events.

Journalists and authors of political doctrine use the phrase "long view" with considerable bad judgment. To speak of something so frequently as they do a "long view" and never define it, is somewhat preposterous. One suspects those worthy demagogues of not knowing themselves. One entertains for them the same kind of holy contempt which so often prompted Socrates to shout rudely at the perfumed themselves. One entertains for them the same kind of holy contempt which so often prompted Socrates to shout rudely at the perfumed philosophers of Athens, "Define your terms."

It is even more of an injustice to the people, even after a possible definition of a "long view," not to advise some method in which such an end may be attained.

Now for the definition as I understand, and the solution as I see it. A "long view" is a perception of a movement. It is the attitude which prevents war hysteria, race riots, panic, runs on banks, and intolerance and mob action of all kinds. It is the attitude which allows a man to escape the subtle snares of advertising. It is the attitude which in the heat of life, sees the end and attendant circumstances, and avails the possessor of that attitude of something like a middle path. It sees the ideas behind the men expressing them. It exposes false prophets, despises sensationalists, and avoids hypocrites. It will be found in the society of free scholars and rarely elsewhere.

I believe that such an attitude may grow out of a college education. The beginning of a "long view" comes the moment one enters the world of men, and realizes one's relative unimportance. But here's the charm: One's tastes are more or less formed in college. One learns by experimentation what of literature, what of history, what of science, what of mathematics (abused, but the foundation of life), what of politics is his particular province.

The afternoon of one's life is a long period of study in an unlimited library. The uneducated man will not read what he finds truly. He will believe too much of it on its face value; and he will distrust too much of it, because it isn't apparent.

Bland scholarship arms a man against fanaticism. He knows the method of study. Let him apply it to life, and he will have the "long view."

Germany throws a bombshell again. Berlin admits move to arm with U-boats. "British-French-Italian protest" now looms over treaty breaks' real headlines. They have a lot of fun over there—protesting. It does so much good. Submarines constitute a part of the Reich's rearmament program. They caused a lot of trouble last time. To us war seems inevitable—unless . . .

Huey Long assails federal debt at farm rally at Des Moines. Claims $2,100 mortgage saddled on each baby born. There may be some truth in that statement of Louisiana's Kingfish. Ten thousand farmers heard him make the statement, and that certainly means something.

CITIES THROUGHOUT THE NATION TURN TO DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME, AND CLOCKS ARE SET UP TILL THE LAST SUNDAY IN SEPTEMBER.

The Senate refuses to sidetrack Senator Costigan's (Democrat, Colorado) anti-lynching bill. Southerners filibuster to no avail.

Diplomats in Rome prepare for the Danubian Conference to be held in July as the War's four-power summit hopes for an imposing array of premiers and foreign ministers to gather around his council table at which some important issues will be discussed. (1) Austrian independence. (2) A series of non-aggression and mutual assistance pacts among the Balkan states. (3) A decision concerning requests by Austria, Hungary, and Bulgaria for revision of treaties restricting their armed preparations.

Up in Augusta mill employees object to the process tax. They suggest shifting the burden to the people generally. They have so few taxes already.

CINEMA CYNIC

Leila Urquhart

Idols! This old world must have them and since we are forbidden those of stone we turn to movie idols. Right now Nelson Eddy is in full sway and rule. The week has been buzzing with remarks that sometimes slightly shock even us, do we LOVE him—for the time being! Of course you read the nice writeup about him in the Constitution. He and McDonald were good though in Naughty Marietta weren't they?

I am beginning to doubt that the manager of the Ritz has any sort of heart at all. It was not a bad picture that one of us could afford to miss last week and now this week piles up the same way. That is not so good considering that we are having mid-terms for these two weeks. Not one day have we been able to rest—and study with a clear conscience since Naugthy Marietta. Even the Gay Divorcee came to the Palace and everyone who missed it before last Saturday for Mr. William Powell, and Wallace Berry in a recently copied list of the Ten Biggest Male Stars of 1934-35. I almost forgot—of course with only $25 being given away tonight there is not quite the excitement that there has been recently with the bank night money up in the hundreds—but still $25 is $25. Ralph Bellamy and Ann Sothern are playing tonight in Eight Belles. It's a new picture, even if it is bank night and there is little need of a drawing card.

Tomorrow and Friday the music lovers get another entertainment. Bing Crosby and Joan Bennett arrive in Mississippi. Everyone knows what that is all about so no need for me to enumerate. Bing does a lot of high and low singing. Mr. Crosby was toppped only by Will Rogers, Clark Gable and Wallace Berry in a recently copied list of the Ten Biggest Male Stars of 1934-35. I almost forgot—and personally wish I really could—of course with only $25 being given away tonight there is not quite the excitement that there has been recently with the bank night money up in the hundreds—but still $25 is $25. Ralph Bellamy and Ann Sothern are playing tonight in Eight Belles. It's a new picture, even if it is bank night and there is little need of a drawing card.

The ladies taking part in the exhibition were Estelle Roberts, Clare Lawrence, and Lois Hoffard of the Lambdas, and Lawrence Johnson, Antoinette Andrews and Dorothy Oglee of the Kappas.

May Day and sidelines: High school seniors running about the campus in shorts and short—And college girls in the spirit of the thing—Screams, and shouting and merry-making galore—Arrival, registering, changing to play program at the Womans Building, and the faculty presiding very nicely—Henry Kate Pink is your color, all right—Bailey Taber, Valdosta, president, Margaret Hudson; secretary and treasurer, Ruby Harrison.

Saturday was May Day-Play Day and the Athletic Department appeared at its best. Throughout the morning the visitors and the old girls played campus games and there was a demonstration given. The girls shot from the 30 yard line and then some fancy shooting from angles. The girls taking part in the exhibition were Estelle Roberts, Clare Lawrence, and Lois Hoffard of the Lambdas, and Lawrence Johnson, Antoinette Andrews and Dorothy Oglee of the Kappas.

SPORTS

The Lambdas were the winners of the Kappa-Lambda baseball game on Tuesday. The Lambdas won by a so slight margin that it was not until the last inning that the outcome was settled. With a final score of 11-10 and both teams claiming to be "right," we wonder what the next game will be like.

The Kappas and the Lambdas held their elections for club officers and the following girls were elected: president, Louise Odom Howell; vice president, Josephine Daniel; secretary and treasurer, Patricia Oliver; Lambdas, president, Una Ritch; vice-president, Margaret Hudson; secretary and treasurer, Ruby Harrison.
