UNANIMOUS VOTES DECIDE ELECTION

SENIOR, JUNIOR, AND SOPHOMORE PRESIDENTS CHosen

Frances McLain, Mary Hudson, Laura Duncan Are Elected for Next Year's Offices

Frances McLain, Mary Hudson, and Laura Duncan have been unanimously chosen for the offices of presidents of the Senior, Junior, and Sophomore classes respectively for the year 1937-38.

Frances McLain of Dawson is a member of the Junior Class, Treasurer of the Y. W. C. A., Secretary for the International Relations Club, and speaker for the Y. W. C. A. delegation team.

Mary Hudson of Whigham is a member of the Sophomore class, a member of the Phi Kappa Athletic Association, Secretary and Treasurer of the Math Club, Chairman of the Y. W. C. A. Morning Watch Committee, and a representative on Athletic Council.

Laura Duncan of Quitman is a member of the Freshman Class, and is at present serving as President of the Freshman class.

These three nominees were the only ones nominated for their offices, and won the election by mere nomination. This is the first time in the history of the school that the three classes have all apparently known whom they wished for president, and put them into office without competition.

Another unusual feature of the election was the re-election of the Freshman class president as president of the same class in their sophomore year.

Lecturer Stresses Appreciation Of Color and Harmony

"There is more artistry to an ugly woman so beautifully groomed and dressed that her physical appearance goes by unnoticed, than to a beautiful woman perfectly dressed." This quotation from Dr. George Howard Opdyke's speech made at assembly on March 15 shows an application of art close to our everyday life. In this speech, Dr. Opdyke, author of Art and Nature Appreciation outlined the fundamental principles underlying art—line, dark and light, and color. On the evening of the same day, Dr. Opdyke gave a lecture in the Rotunda illustrated by more than fifty slides. "With the aid of these slides," he was able to illustrate the effectiveness of orderly arrangement of subject matter and the necessity of the distance element in creating an interesting picture.

Smith's Marionettes Portray Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn

C. Ray Smith's Famous Olvera Street Marionettes presented two delightful performances Monday afternoon and evening at the High School Auditorium. The traveling theatre was sponsored by students of G. S. W. C. as the second attraction on the 36 and 37 Art Festival.

At the matinee performance, Mark Twain's hilarious comedy-drama "Huck Finn and Tom Sawyer" was given together with a Marconette Circus. In the evening "Huck Finn and Tom Sawyer" again entertained the audience and Continental Variety Show was added. The marconettes were all fashioned in the likeness of prominent movie stars. The skill and ingenuity evident in the production justified the reputation which the show has won throughout the county.

Sophomores Corral Dudes at Ranch Party

"Empty saddles in the old corral, where do you ride tonight?" Empty cups in 'Dosta's favorite bar, where is their punch tonight? Down, down, singers, dancers, actors, cowboys and guests. Home on the range and melody from Lotta's musical ukulele—bang! False alarm, he just wants a drink. Emma met Billy and she said and he said—and she fell in the lake! No cups washed! Every man for himself! She'll be comin' around the mountain—plunk, plunk, when she comes—whom comes?

Melba and Evelyn go for sailors with—Anchors away—my boys, anchors away—tap-tap, turn, salute! encore! encore! Anchors away—

Trouble again—'You're drunk!' "I know it and I'm proud of it. Now stand back there... afraid to take me..."

Concert Features Triple Quartette

Under the direction of Miss Clara Bancroft, the Glee Club will present its annual program Friday evening in the present auditorium.

Miss Violet Almony, soprano, of Jacksonville, Florida, will be the guest artist for the occasion.

The program is divided into two parts, the second half featuring the Triple Quartette and individual solos.

REGISTERED NURSE ADDRESSES GROUPS ON VOCATIONS

Miss Elizabeth Kranz, R. N., graduate of Vanderbilt School of Nursing spoke to the vocational groups on the advantages of enrolling a school of nursing rather than a hospital training school.

There are only four schools of nursing in the United States and these are connected with the Universities of Yale, Northwestern, Washington, and Vanderbilt.

Miss Kranz says there is an open field for special trained nurses. The nursing schools require a junior college diploma and the term consists of three years.

Vanderbilt is the nursing school of the south.

Seniors Bus Trip to New Orleans Makes Hit of The Season

Calling all cars—Tallahassee, Mobile, New Orleans...and the seniors had arrived! Leaving the college at 8 P.M. last Wednesday they reached the Roosevelt Hotel in New Orleans at noon Thursday after traveling all night.

Reports have it that they saw the town right—from night clubs to cemeteries.

On Thursday afternoon the class went in a body to see the banana boats unload their cargo of green bananas, and while there went on board the Sxolka, which left New Orleans for Honolulu. Returning from the wharf the class was the guest of Mrs. Marion McClure, whose apartment in the French Quarter was a charming background for an informal tea-hour.

The first night there was spent on a night-club tour. The tour began with a Mexican night club in the French section, La Lune, and continued through the original Southport Gambling Club at the University Club, to the Variety Club where a floor show was given. It was at this club that a dedicatory number was played for the "girls from Georgia." Following this the tour led to Club Plantation, whose floor show was followed by a visit to the Fish market in the French section where the famous doughnuts and coffee were served.

Friday was a day of tours. The morning was given over to a walking tour through the French section, and the afternoon to a bus tour. On this trip were the St. Louis Cemetery, Gentilly Orchid Nursery, Sushan airport, Huey Long bridge, and Tulane University.

Friday evening was a free evening, and a number of the girls spent the time in the famous Roosevelt Hotel Blue Room.

Saturday was given over to sight-seeing and shopping in smaller parties until the time of departure—9 P.M.
Sport Meeting Deals With Election of Officers

Representatives of G. S. W. C. have returned from Athens, Georgia, where they attended a conference of the Georgia Athletic Federation for College Women. There is only one other organization of its kind in the United States which is located at Texas.

Maudelle Wilesen and Sue Coppage, the Valdosta representatives, gave reports on Outing Clubs and Camp Crafts in American Colleges. Stimulation of Sports was the theme of the conference. Eight schools were represented there being a total number of sixteen delegates. Few changes were made in the constitution of the organization.

Frances Roane of G. S. W. C. was elected president for the year 1937-38. Anne Thompson of Agnes Scott was elected Secretary and Treasurer.

Conferences were held on Friday and Saturday, March 8 and 9, and the meeting closed with a business meeting followed by a dance program that evening by Miss Graham.

LINES TO A LADY

In classroom lectures, reason taught.
Or when requested, views expressed,
With tolerance and amusement kind
You say your gentle firm beliefs—
And after all, as from a bright sublime,
The softest glow transforms your eyes.
One word and I'm converted to
The theory that you may uphold—
Wisdom noble I would attain;
If I could hear
But in my mind, one thought supreme—
To see again
The lovely light
I know will come.

Through endless days I've puzzled over
Whence comes and goes that light I know?
Is it gladness, mirth, or mystery?
I cannot share
Until I find
The worth for living you possess?
I do not know, but this I'm sure—
Your eyes smile down
A benediction
On the world.

COSTUME BALL

I saw him standing in the door
With someone else—
I laughed
I talked
I danced
I walked
My heart, a mask.

To begin with it is delightful to find someone on the campus who has perked up enough to notice that everything is not what it seems, so to speak. But there are things that can be said for and against the article left on the desk this week.

Evidently the author is a transfer, or more likely a freshman student, since she says that this was her first term test. So it is quite possible that she does not know

Two years ago this school had a so-called "honor-system," which like the most of them was a dismal failure. So at an open forum meeting of the Student Government the students themselves decided to revise the old system to the present method and change the name from "The Honor System" to set up a temporary honor system. The student vote requested that students not be made responsible for reporting other students, and that each test or quiz should be supervised by the instructor in that class.

Honor is a broad word. It covers a multitude of sins, if they may be called such. Therefore a great deal of thought would have to go before the institution of a true honor system could be set up.

There will be a change in the method—undoubtedly. But the change will be gradual, one which will come about at the demands of students who have been

What is honor? Is it certainly not the thing portrayed in our school. If it is, I would have nothing to do with it. The trust teachers place in students only goes as far as the school. No further. But the teachers, you can't watch all the time. This is where the honor system failed. There is cheating every day.

Why not have the real honor system?
Honor is one of the fundamental truths of life. Why shirk your responsibility?
If honor alone was taught to every college student a great aim would be reached.

Dear Editor, on Honor

I have to complain against honor tests. It was simple, but with a brain work. The test, it was as simple as the honor system was.

First, everyone knew the system of underwriting. The Banker said the test was easy. That was the most striking. May Very was a bit stiff there.

Like most nations of Europe, the Netherlands is re-arming, but with the Dutch can truly say they are re-arming only for their own protection. "Insulde" their great colonial empire in the Far East stretches a distance equal to that from New York to San Francisco—and then there's Holland itself to defend.

San Francisco's Golden Gate International Exposition will take place as to quantity compared with New York's exhibition but directors are determined that it shall not be second in quality, charm, and distinction. San Francisco wants to celebrate its new bridge with an exposition that will shine in the medal court and will make another record for beauty and distinction.
