Club Sponsors Literary Tea For Maxwell

Young Atlanta Poet Reads Selections From His Poetry Sunday Afternoon

Gilbert Maxwell, young Atlanta poet, will read selections from his poetry Sunday afternoon at six o'clock in the Rotunda, at a tea sponsored by the English Club.

He will read from his two books, "Look to the Lightning" and "Stranger's Garment," from which various poems have appeared in Harper's, Scribner's, the New York Times, and other well-known publications.

Program Over NBC

The summer of 1934 he gave two programs of poetry over WOR for NBC. "At that time," says Mr. Maxwell, "I was living in New York most of the time from 1931 to 1934, where, he says, he did "everything in the world to make a living, even to collecting hills for a night club."

After receiving a scholarship on the first of his book, he attended Rollins College for two years. There he won three first prizes offered by the Allied Arts Club for poetry.

Georgia Train Wrecks Take Toll Of Lives

BY KATHERINE MOORE

Within a week's time ten persons perished on the train wreck at "Alto Time," according to preliminary reports. (See Club Sponsors, Page 4)

Notice!

Students and faculty members who have any suggestions as to a name for G. S. W. C. are requested to poll their suggestions in a box left near the Hall bulletin board for that purpose.

If you name the school and any historical reference to the college or to any person's name, state why you think the name is appropriate.

Contributions do not have to be signed.

The poll will close Tuesday at 6 o'clock. All names entered will be considered by the committee appointed to choose names.

Sports Class Meets School Committee

Valdosta High School Students Approve Plan Suggested By F. E. Class

Recreational Leadership class, meeting with the Valdosta High School sports committee Tuesday, discussed plans for furthering a program of physical education for girls at that school.

The major topics discussed were: (1) the need of a committee to assist the three high school girls carrying out the sports plan on their campus, (2) the need of a high school sponsored teacher, and (3) plans for making money with which to buy equipment.

Burns, Webb Seek Office

Margaret Burns of Macon and Kathryn Webb of Tifton, will compete for presidency of the freshman class in a run-over election Tuesday morning in West Hall.

They were leaders in the election held Friday in which five students ran for director of the election requiring a majority, made the run-over necessary.

Other nominees for president were Emily Cumming, Cordele; Frances Hug, Fort Benning and Frances Middleton, Colquitt.

The two nominations were posted this week on the bulletin board in West Hall. The nominations are taking a leading part in college activities.

Margaret Burns is a member of the Phi Kappa Sports Club and the Fine Arts Club. Kathryn Webb is a member of the Glee Club and the Phi Lambda Sport Club.

Emlie Baume, sponsored by the Valdosta Co-operative Club and the Phi Lambda Sport Club, will be presented Monday evening.

Baume Plays On Series

As the first attraction of the Valdosta Concert Series of this season, the new sensational French pianist, Emlie Baume, will be presented at 8:30 o'clock Monday evening in the G. S. W. C. auditorium.

Of Mr. Baume, who is making his first concert tour, critics have written at length, praising his wealth of poetic imagination and technical brilliancy. Felix Weingartner, the distinguished orchestral conductor, speaks of him as "an admirable and finished pianist with those diverse qualities necessary for a great orchestral conductor."

Won Prizes

Now in his early thirties, Emlie Baume has had already numerous distinctions. At the Paris (See Baume, Page 4)

Armistice Day Tribute Made

After an armistice talk by President Frank R. Reade Thursday, students are in favor of changing the name of the armistice that closed the World war nineteen years ago.

A mad whirl of gaiety, laughter, bright lights and crowds! All these spell the Senior Carnival! A maze of tempting attractions, ranging from fortune teller and cake walk down to the lowly fish pond!

The carnival is here, on back campus. The Board of Control has worked untiringly to make this annual affair the best time the students have ever had, as well as a financial success for themselves.

The carnival is a really, sure enough success! So be sure to bring lots of money. There will be games of all kinds—bingo, fish ponds, as well as many others. All the prizes were so kindly donated by the merchants of Valdosta, are well worth winning.

If you are a victim of what is commonly known as sweet tooth you'll be in your element at the carnival, with beautiful cakes, too. Just think, there will be over fifty cakes—all different sizes, shapes and flavors. So you should be able to win one at least.

Do you know your future? Of course you know your past, but in case you have forgotten, be sure to visit the fortune teller. (She's really a good one, too.)

Those of you who have never participated in an auction before will want to take part in this one. You've never seen such lovely things to be auctioned! Everything from shoes to lamps. And anything can happen at an auction, you know!

For those who want "big apple" there will be a place to dance. So you girls get busy and bring your boy friends out!

The fish pond will carry you back to your childhood. Imagine pulling out a harp, or a top! Here's where you can let go and forget your dignity and be a child again.

Run along now with a jingle in your pocketbooks and fun in your heart! The senior goal this year is Cuba! You'll enjoy helping them along. And good luck with the prizes!

Opportunity knocks but once—do you answer? (Yes—low-down now!! That eternal triangle is with us again—Lily, Johnson and William. Anna, your red-headed friend thinks you are just too busy! He said that girl and that making the little Brunswic girl meet the postman!!)

Who's the vixen whose plans for attending the game with a local lawyer didn't have enough foundation? Dad doesn't like variety in names—but Frances does—she writes Charles and dates Bill!! Ask Katherine Moore if she has a hair-roll— we know she has a hand-towel.

Grits are burning, Martha Ada! Marsha Sue is petting her feathers to catcha Bird. Mary gets around by cradling her under door!! Sarah got the scare of her life when the porcelain head fell off! Have you got that letter yet, Sally Ann??

Ethel looked mighty good at the dance!! Sarah Mathis all smiles Friday night—and Nettie with her cute Yankee. Pretty courage from the Waycrosse friend, Helen—Miss Carter and her steak sandwiches!! Try dressing a voice, the complete new Oura, to settle this car business!! Tree and Ernie hugging their big backpacks around up town!!

DuBois, how are those dollar and a half dinners—junior and seniors have been eating it up this week. Are you planning to take a house affr—who had the intestinal fortitude to go jogging at a shady foot!! Any suggestions for the Christmas, fool would be appreciated by Miss Kay.

G. S. W. C. turned out for Georgia-Florida game! Don't get so nervous. They were mixed when you ask about banana split!! Will see you at the senior carnival Saturday night!!!!!

THE CAMPUS CANOPY

Dear Editor

May I, as spokesman for the "offfellows," voice our violent ob­ jection to the proposal that the senior pictures for the annual be made too long in length in our Sunday outfits?

The cry of our streamlined elasmatrean Eyeglasses may be differ­ ent, but we of the stringbean and teardrop variety will gladly try being different from some other angle.

Some of the girls have been somewhat distressed about what they are wearing, but even if everyone is successful in "putting on the dog," a parade of furs, grotesque hats and long gowns will not go this season, will look ridicul­ ous next May when the annual arrives on campus.

When objections to the pro­ posed plan were raised, the an­ swer was "Wear what you look best in," and already two of our seniors have declared their in­ tention to wear their bathing suits, another, shorts. Personally, I choose a bed sheet.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth Wade

Could the circulation manager of the Canopy put out the papers for the day students before Monday? Very often students riding through the campus on Sunday would like to have their copy then.

Half of the time the town girls don't get copies of the Campus Canopy. I know they are left in the Best Hall for them but the dorm­ itory girls or someone else take them away.

Dormitory girls get their own paper on Saturday afternoon. Can't they leave us at least one copy for each girl?

Day Student.

Charley McCarthy

Is Shirley's Guest Of Honor

By Carolyn Greene

As a farewell present before she left for Honolulu, Shirley Tenorio was given a special party by Charlie McCarthy as the guest of honor. Charlie seems to have quite a list of movie ac­ quaintances, with the perf­ ereditary Shirley Tenorio plus the well-known visiting stars at the broadcasts. Wonder whether he'll fall for the curls? It's safe enough t., warns Dorothy Lamarr that these blondes are dan­ gerous!

Mary Tongues

That tall mood dance Cesar Romo introduced something new intangies with Mary Piek­ ford at a recent Hollywood party. Mary, who comes right about Cesar's heart, did the entire feet-tango without once having her feet touch the floor!

Double Wedding

What about the "Double Wed­ dings"? Both Morris and William Powell have tempo­ rarily got off the deep end—Powell in a coonskin coat and a trailer spending his spare time (a lot of which he can spare) teaching John Beal and Flood to Rice to act. As an ec­ centric vagabond, Powell gets our bets; the trailer wedding promises novelty.

From An Uneasy Chair—We almost did a disappearing act this week—what with all the yearbook fracas and us a neutral it's probably just as well—seems that the seniors might consider that we may wildly ask the freshmen to vote for the very best candidate instead of the best friend—not that they'll ever notice us. In the wake of the last time—Honors Societies are left alone from people with whom she is thrown—difficult to know.

School Days

at G. S. W. C. are over for the seniors of '37 but there are a few and what they are doing! According to reports from G. S. E. A. and S. G. A., last year's graduates have made a good showing for themselves in this world of affairs, proving that their degrees mean more to them than mere pieces of parchment for exhibition purposes.

There are the girls in the social service group who are doing reputable work in various welfare affairs. Margaret Wade and Sue Matthews, who are in the Lowndes County Welfare office at Valdosta; Esther Smith in Fulton county at Atlanta; Eloise O'Neal in the Southhampton county office.

Then there are the girls in the teaching pro­ fession. Chappie Bragg, former president of the Bock and Buikin Club, is teaching in Valley Point High. Elizabeth Wade is teaching in Valdosta, Georgia. Frances Carson is no longer the May Queen of '36 but a fourth grade teacher in Gori­ on, Georgia.

Other outstanding members on the campus last year, now employed in teaching are: Anne Turner, for two years president of the Fine Arts Club, at Cuthbert; Frances Flaker, former presi­ dent of the English Club, at Haddock; Permelia Oliff, president of the French Club, and also the senior Honor Societies chairman; Lulah Johnson, editor of the Campus Canopy, at Lake­ land; and Martha Jennings, Valdosta Club presi­ dent, at Wrightsville.

Faculty work seem to be the most popular professions selected by this class, but Elizabeth Green and Emma Amos have chosen work whereby their laboratory courses have been rendered, with Dorothy Lamarr, former editor of the Pine Cone, is now laboratory technician in St. Luke's Hospital in Jacksonville, Florida, and Emma, last year's president of S. G. A., is taking up nursing at St. Joseph's Hospital in Savannah.

Of course, all the seniors gainfully employed have not been listed here, but from statistics obtained they are continuing their college educations. G. S. W. C. has "what it takes" to turn out successful business women and may the future seniors uphold the standards already established for them.
Math-Science Club Begins Camera Club

Taking up the challenge given by the Campus Canopy that the clubs on campus sponsor new projects this year, the Math-Science Club is introducing to its students the idea of a Camera Club.

All those interested in this proposal are invited to attend a meeting Monday at chapel period in Room 112 for the purpose of discussing the plan. Dr. Earl Phelan will preside and has consented to direct the club's activities.

Knows Photography

Dr. Phelan is well-known as an outstanding amateur photographer in Valdosta. He is vitally interested in the Valdosta Camera Club which he has addressed several times. During the summer he visited the Kodak plant in Rochester, New York.

Members of the Math-Science Club who are interested in photography for scientific purposes took the initiative in forming plans for organization of the club. Development of the prints will be made in the laboratory under Dr. Phelan's direction. Study of the art of photography will be made through reference to books in the library, available on the subject.

Additional photographic supplies will be ordered as soon as the club membership has been established. Additional photographic material will always be on hand.

Group Talks Close GEA

Concluding a two-day meeting held in Valdosta, the eighth district of the Georgia Educational Association met for the afternoon in the classrooms of the Administration building of G. S. W. C. for group discussions. Declaring that the meeting at Valdosta was one of the most enthusiastic he had ever attended, M. D. Collins, state superintendent of schools, said: "Georgia is on the threshold of going places educationally. Never in my experience have I known the various departments of our educational setup to show such a co-operative and progressive spirit."

After the group conferences, the meeting adjourned. About 1,900 visitors were luncheon guests of the college on Monday. Many alumni of G. S. W. C. were on campus for the meetings.

Cry Of "Be Different" Starts Debate Over Pine Cone Costumes

Variety, you know: spice of life and so forth—well maybe so. The new suggestion that the seniors have their yearbook pictures made in three-quarter lengths in any kind of costume has started a revolution, so to speak.

Rebels, or the new costume advocates, say that a longer picture in any kind of dress will give individuality to the wearer; the picture made in her favorite kind of clothes, be it a fur coat, an evening dress, a sport dress will express her own personality.

Loyalists contend that the three-quarter pictures will attract more attention to the person's face; they argue that the face should express the personality.

Carolyn Greene, editor of the Pine Cone, declares that the idea was suggested to her by pictures in Vogue, done in three-quarter lengths. She is very much in favor of the individual styles because they will add a "different" note to the annual.

Sue Coggan, Ann Brooks and "Dippy" Wade voice loud and indignant objections. According to them, what with formal gowns, street frocks and sport dresses in heterogeneous disorder, Vogue will be on display with a vengeance.

Then, of course it is possible that something in the latest

Methodists Have Tea For GSWC, Emory Junior

Entertaining for the Methodist students and faculty of G. S. W. C., the Admahah Class of the Methodist church gave a tea Tuesday afternoon at the Woman's Building.

Dr. J. Meek, the guests, who attended between 4:30 and 6 that afternoon.

A series of musical selections were played while tea was served. The building was attractively decorated with autumn flowers.

The church annually entertains for the college group.

Glee Club members sang the "Recessional" in the armistice exercises at the Methodist church on Thursday.

Miss Hopper Is Dinner Hostess

Miss Annie P. Hopper was hostess, last Sunday evening at a dinner party at the House in the Woods. The dinner was given in honor of Miss Iris Chandler and Miss Maggie Jenkins who attended the G. E. A. convention held here on November 8 and 9. Miss Chandler was formerly assistant dean at this college. Miss Jenkins is a member of the music staff and a valuable member of the G. S. W. C. with the seniors will trip down to Blackburn's this week-end to try out the idea. If their pictures turn out well, the class will probably vote its approval in no uncertain terms. If not, well, no one is sure just what will happen—but anyway—well at least they tried something new.

Lambdas, Kappas Vie In Archery

William Tells, Robin Hood, Indians and just Brave Archers, draw your bows and think before you lose those arrows. There is going to be a Kappa-Lambda tournament beginning Monday, November 15, and closing Saturday, November 20. All qualified archers must shoot according to the rules of the National Junior Archers Association. Your shooting must be judged by two officials. There is a chance of winning a national medal, winning for your sports association, and making the archery team.

New archers are eligible, too, whether qualified or not. You must shoot during class periods supervised by an official. Your shooting will consist of 30 arrows at 30 yards. You also may be responsible for the winning of your association and you may make team.

Take a chance! Be true to colors. Be sure your scores are signed by officials. Consult the athletic bulletin in your classes for schedules and further information.

Don’t “Call a Spade Aspade” Is Slogan Of Name Purrsers

This is Dean Edens’ first year at Emory Junior, and also his first talk on this campus. Judge P. R. McCracken, trustee of G. S. W. C., and Mr. Thomas Molen, governor of the Rotary Clubs in this district, were visitors at the chapel ex- cursion.

Tournaments

The freshmen P. E. classes are having tournaments in their sports program. There will be five different tournaments conducted between now and the end of this quarter.

The tennis group is sponsoring a tennis tourney, and the best player will win a point for the athletic club. The bulldog tennis players are working on a tournament and here again the Kappas or Lambdas will gain a point for the best player.

In archery the Kappa or Lambda shooting the highest score during the quarter will make a point for her team. Team work is emphasized in basketball. The best players will be chosen from the head of each team. The association having the greatest number on the team will make a point for their team.

In football team work is important. Here again the Kappas or Lambdas will gain a point if their players out number the others.

The competition is placed on playing the sport for sport sake and not just to win. These tournaments, if properly conducted, will show good material and good sportsmanship.

In Europe Mr. Baume has con- certized widely, both o., the con- certina and in England, and he is now on his first American tour, after having made his debut in the Town Hall in New York. Of this debut recital the New York Evening Journal has said, “The delighted audience could hardly restrain itself, while the last note still vibrating its lis- teners, by unanimous consent, broke into the impetuous ap- plause that so many hope for and few receive. Mr. Baume should be heard the length and breadth of the land.”

Nominations For Honor Council

Close Monday

Nominations for dormitory and day student representatives on the Student Government Honor Council must be submitted Monday, 6 p.m. Monday afternoon. The election will be on Wednesday morning.

Each nominee must be under- signed by ten names. One day student will be elected and one dormitory girl.

The Honor Council is com- posed of the S. G. F. president, the Y. president, two other students and three appointed faculty members.
