Jane Withers Practices First Aid
Technique On Stuart Erwin

By Carolyn Greene

Try It On Dog technique reversed! When Stuart Erwin suf­ fced a cut finger on the COWCOKER set, Jane Withers begged to be allowed to officialize as first-aid nurse. With a smile, Stuart Erwin granted her wish and was given antiseptic and bandage to use on Erwin.

"Thanks, Jane," he said when the job was done, "but why were you

"I just

Outstanding Players

Outstanding players in the volleyball games were: Lambdas Margaret Abernathy, Cornelia Coker, Kathleen Campbell, Linda Summer and Katherine Mundy. Kappas: Ann Parham, Evelyn Britt and Hazel Vidro.

In American ball, the Kappa lineup was supported by Marion Smith, Ruth Reid, Sara Macekey and Lena Strickland, while the Lambdas outstanding teamsters were Dora Ada Perkins, Annie Adams, Frances Hug and Martha Wilkes.

International Situation Is Unpredictable

At the present time the international situation is in such a mess that it is practically impossible to "keep up," besides anticipating coming events. To what extent British prestige has been injured by the events that preceded Eden's resignation as foreign minister cannot be determined for a long while. At any rate, Hitler has an even firmer grip on Germany at the present time than he has had before and from all appearances he intends to keep it.

Roosevelt is busy trying to keep the recession from getting any worse and stimulate business to overcome the temporary backward slide of the past weeks. A great many people agree with the president's point of view that the main difficulty is psychological.

Senator Ashurst

In a news story last week, an amusing story of Senator Ashurst of Arizona, is told. The senator was discussing the quantity of new bills. Commenting upon this, Mr. Ashurst said that a lot of the bills were unnecessary and that there were not so many things wrong fundamentally. In his opinion, people just like to complain.

Tentative Plans Are Announced For Senior Trip

Tentative plans have been made for the annual Senior trip which is scheduled to take place immediately after Spring Hollays. The seniors will leave either March 22 or 23, and remain in New Orleans for the remainder of the week, where they will be registered at the Roosevelt Hotel.

New Orleans has been the holiday city of the last two senior classes. Thus the campus has been steeped with tales of New Orleans and every senior expects high adventure during her stay there.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Reade will chaperone.
