Nine Receive Leadership Emblems

Siddent Government Recognizes Leaders of Campus Activities

Seven seniors, one junior and one sophomore will be awarded Student Government Leadership emblems this year. The 25 points necessary to win emblems are earned through office holding during two or more years.

Seniors receiving their emblems this year are: Ruth Bugg, Business Manager of the Pine Cone and SGA recorder of points; Sue Coppage, President; Sports Club, Reporter on Campus Canopy and assistant literary editor of the Pine Cone; Lois Hafford, Business Manager of the Freshman Council; Mildred Wilson, president of the Math Science Club and Lambda Archery Mason; Ruth Loughridge, secretary-treasurer SGA; Clinton Gadd, Sophomore Council Chairman and as assistant to the Photographic Editor of the Pine Cone. Virginia Zippel was this year president of SGA.

Dora Ida Perkins, the one junior to receive an emblem this year served as vice president of SGA and on the advertising staff of the Campus Canopy during the year. The sophomore, Laura Duncan was this year president of the Freshman Council.

Hopper Praises Sophomores Work On Council

Started This Year By Elizabeth Garbutt

Miss Annie P. Hopper, in speaking on the Sophomore Council, stated, "It has been one of the most constructive groups on the campus this year." Sophomore Council was organized during the fall quarter by Elizabeth Garbutt, assisted by Miss Mildred Turnbull. The thirty members have shown an active part in the council and have shown much enthusiasm and interest in carrying out the organization beneficial. Meeting weekly, the girls have given programs on etiquette, personality, Bible study, international relations and world affairs, music appreciation, and Trepal. Also, the Cognell has had several faculty members as guest speakers and a devotion led by one of the members at each meeting. Several socials have been enjoyed by the group.

Plans For Ensuing Year Are Discussed

Meeting the week end of May 14 at Twin Lakes for their annual retreat, the officers on the Y Cabinet, in conjunction with Student Government officials, made plans for next year. Outgoing and incoming officers of each organization attended the retreat.

Discussing the work accomplished during the past year, the Y officers decided that the technical part of their work had been greatly improved and that there had been an advance on campus in the study of Y programs. One of the chief problems which they hope to work out next year is the establishment of a more definite and better organized program.

Councils Will Be Continued

Work done by the Sophomore and Freshman Councils has been an important factor in stressing that part of the Y pledge containing the phrase, "to realize a full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God." Elizabeth Garbutt, Y president for 1938-39, stated that in view of this fact, the work of these two groups will be continued next year.

In making further plans for the ensuing year, freshman organization activities were improved over those of preceding years. Representatives of the Y, Student Government and Sports Club will return to take part in these activities.

Lambdas Win Archery Meet

Led by C. J. Morris with a score of 275, the Lambda team won the Archery Tournament from the Kappas, 942 to 711. In the tournament which closed at the end of the spring quarter, the Columbia Round of four ends each from fifty yards, forty and thirty yards, the Lambda and Kappa team was the highest ranking archers on each team were added to decide the winning teams.

The winning Lambda team was composed of C. J. Morris, Lois Hafford, Ruth Whitson and Monte Conant, with Hafford as runner up for high score with a total of 262. On the Kappa team, Dorothy Snow was high scorer for the Kappa team. As winners of the archery meet, the Lambdas received five points, with the Kappas receiving the plaque. Plaque honors go each year to the division of the Sports Club having won in the track and field and track competitions during the year.

Rohde Recommends Career Diplomacy

By C. J. Morris

"Everything pertains to college girls," was the statement made by Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde last Monday morning when interviewed in her sitting room at the Daniel Ashley Hotel.

The second woman diplomat in the world and the first woman sent as ambassador from the United States, Mrs. Rohde sees diplomacy as an excellent field for women, one which their enthusiasm and seem to fit into naturally. Quite diplomatically she would not commit herself to say whether men or women seemed to be better fitted for that field of work.

Exemplary was Mrs. Rohde's policy while running for Congress. Not once did she solicit votes from women because she herself was a woman. On the other hand, she asked men not to vote against her because she was a woman.

Some Possibilities of Radio

"Just think what radio might have done for my father," she stated enthusiastically. "To have his ideas broadcast throughout the nation at one time!"

Mrs. Rohde will be a news commentator for NBC over the red network when she returns to New York this summer. She was greatly interested in this project as more convenient than making speeches.

The program which the American exacts from herself while working is very strict. During the four years she was through a Guggenheim Fellowship he studied during the year 1926-27 in England and Egypt.

A Short Time

So, we received literature from the Keep America Out of War Committee. The seven point program which they propose defines the right to vote for peace, but war and peace.

Among the subjects to be discussed by this group at the Congress which they have called to meet at Washington, D.C., May 28, 29 and 30, will be: The relations of the United States to the United Nations, the War East, and the removal of our fleet from those waters, the Ludlow-La Follette Amendments, giving the right to vote on war, conscription bills and wartime mobilization plans including the March 9th

U. S. Drifting Towards War

This anti-war group sees the United States drifting towards a state of affairs such as existed in 1914. They assert that a war against Fascism abroad will bring Fascist dictatorship at home. One of the most unbiased articles published concerning pacifism is Peace and Reality, by Rosalde Roussy de Sales In The ATLANTIC for May 3. We urge all students who are interested to read it. It is dated Tuesday and Thursday, but it may serve to stabilize one's viewpoint.

War May Be Necessary

Mr. de Sales uses for illustration the case of the ordinary, peaceable man who, should the war start, would fight for his ideals. In so doing he would neither bearrisoning Margaret Cannon, nor losing the respect of his neighbor. Such an illustration seems applicable to nations as well as individuals. Therefore, it seems that the problem which assails us at present is not war or peace, but war and peace.

Former Danish Diplomat Lectures On Cooperatives

America's first woman diplomat, Mrs. John Rohde, was present on the last program of the Artist Series on Monday night. Virginia Zigfield, chairman of the artist committee, introduced Mrs. Rohde to the assembly of students and townsmen.

In her address, Mrs. Rohde discussed the government and social conditions in Denmark. She said that the making of patchwork quilts is a typical Danish industry and that a large percentage of the women in Denmark travel with their children over the countryside to make and sell quilts.

Mrs. Rohde said that the public schools in Denmark are well equipped and that the farmers as a group have an advantageous attitude toward the cooperative system. She told of the cooperative stores which were so successful that all industries were cooperated. The farmers were cooperative and the farmers as a group were a successful advantage to the cooperative system.

As she traveled she became acquainted with the cooperative system in the country. First the farmers and then the women were cooperated. Farmers in a certain area would pool their products, sell them and divide the profits at the end of the year. This system allowed the farmers as a group to have more money than they could individually. Although this system was not a success for all industries, it was successful for many.

The Cooperatives

The complex of the social benefits which the women in Denmark receive from the cooperative stores is very interesting. Mrs. Rohde said that the women in Denmark receive a small percentage of the profits from the cooperative stores. This small percentage is used to support the women's club and to support the cooperative stores.

Alumnae Host To Seniors And Freshmen

The local chapter of the GSCW Alumnae Association entertained the seniors of the Valdosta School and fresh- men of the Womans College on Sunday with a tea. Decorations in the Rotunda were made beautiful with daffodils, violets and orchids. A large tea table and a large arrangement of daffodils and violets on the center table. The tea table was Miss Brown Hutchinson, secretary of the local Alumnae, and Mrs. A. D. Corn, Jr.

Those who greeted at the door and introduced their guests to the receiving line were: Mrs. Jack Howell, Jr., vice president of the National Alumnae; Leety S. Miles, president of the senior class of the Valdosta High School; Ruth Garbutt, retiring president of the Valdosta Club; and Margaret Burns, president of the GSJCW freshman class.

The receiving line was composed of Mrs. Joe Wilsenaker, president of the local Alumnae; Miss Ruby M. Miller, president of the National Alumnae; and Miss Annel P. Hopper, GSJCW Dean of Women.

Mrs. Merrill Eilnor entertained the guests during the tea hour with piano selections.

Miss Melville B. Harrison was in charge of the table. Mrs. Robin Williams有毒

ATHLETIC FOOT NOTES

By Assorbine Jr.

The final baseball game of the season between the Kappas and the Lambdas was played Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, with the Kappas winning by a score of 23-1. By the end of the game it was evident that the Lambdas would be the reverse of the game played last week between the two sister organizations.

The Kappas, led by the dazzling pitching of Mary "Huddy" Hudson, forged into an easy lead which they held up throughout the game. However, the Lambdas never gave up and kept up courage to the last innings, giving plenty of competition to make the game a most exciting one.

Last Tuesday morning the final game of the series of morning games was played, with the Sophomore-Junior team coming out on top with the highest average. The two Freshmen-Junior teams entertained the winning team with the baseball breakfast which was held that morning from 6 to 9 o'clock at Barbour's Pool.

It will be remembered that in the first baseball writeup, it was stated that the Sophomores didn't "look so good". Although they lost the first game, they went into breakfast victorious and from all the other games they participated in, with the exception of only two of the seniors, Orchids to Lois Hafford and "Flop" to Tharp for their faithful service to the team. But the Sophomores did "look so good." Although they didn't "look so good," they managed to pull themselves together and pull themselves into the last selection, orchestral parts were played on a second piano.

Miss Bennett's uniting composition during her double recital has previously appeared in several Philharmonic programs and student recitals.

Rotarians Fete Seniors Annual Event

Swimming, Picnicking And Dancing Finished the Entertainment.

Feted are the seniors by the Rotarians on Thursday by the annual picnic at Twin Lakes. Plans were made by Dr. Gulliver for the occasion. Cars came for the seniors at 4:00 to take them to the lake.

During the afternoon, the guests swam and picnicked. Later in the evening, dates were invited to enjoy dancing at the Twin Lakes Pavilion.

Bennett Presents Graduation Recital

Hazel Williams Accompanies Voice Selections.

On Tuesday evening, Miss Edith Bennett was presented in her graduation recital in voice and piano. She was accompanied in her voice selections by Miss Hazel Williams.

Miss Bennett gave a program consisting of seven piano and seven voice selections. The complete program was as follows:

Ave Maria—Schubert; The Trout—Schubert; To Be Sung On The Wedding Day—Schumann; Tosti—Op 117—J. Brahms; Nocturn in F sharp major—Chopin.

The Maiden's Wish—Chopin; Liszt—“Carn Name” from Rigoletto—Verdi; Polonaise Amer­ caine—Carpenter; Claire de Lune—Debussy; The Harmonica—Wagner—Olson; The Harp— Charles; A Memory—Ganz; Singer of Songs—Hibbs; Concertino in C minor—Mozart. For the last selection, orchestral parts were played on a second piano.

Students of Child Welfare Class Go To Vashti

As students interested in dependent and delinquent children, the Child Welfare Class of the GSWC freshman class, under the direction of Miss Brink, visited Vashti last Wednesday afternoon. This is a school for delinquent and dependent children, subsidized by the Southern Methodist Churches.

During their visit, the students observed the class rooms, saw the dormitories, the dairy and farms. They were guests of the dining room at lunch.

This is a combined grammar and high school, a member of the Accredited High School Association, with classes running from the fourth through the eleventh grades. The age of students runs from ten to eighteen years.

Students at Vashti live according to a strict schedule. They take entire care of their own rooms and cook their own breakfast and supper. Fees for attendance are paid for by the child's own parents, missionary societies, or other charitable organizations.

Of Mrs. Rohde's Address Here

America's first woman diplo­ mat, Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde, spoke on This Business of Diplomacy in Scandinav­ ian Co-operatives, in the auditorium Monday evening, May 16, as the last speaker of the Artist Series pro­ gram. She was presented by Vir­ ginia Zippel, former Student Government president and the chairman of the Artist Series committee.

Speaking of a scrapbook which she and several other American diplo­ manists to Scandi­ navian countries made together while abroad, Mrs. Rohde stress­ ed the great number of clippings which they had in their collec­ tion dealing with crime. These clippings were taken from Amer­ ican newspapers which are our neighbors.

Other clippings told about Americans as tree-sitters, pie­ eaters and frog racing fans, all of which, the speaker pointed out, serve to create an errone­ ous idea in foreign countries as to how Americans are or should be. Improper impressions are also easily circulated through the type of American moving pic­ ture seen on the "Artists Series"

Mrs. Rohde expressed the de­ sire to see more Americans be­ come students and do more to promote loyalty to their nation.

The system of cooperatives as explained by Mrs. Rohde show­ ed clearly the great benefits de­ rived from a scientific method of farming. Working under the disadvant­ age of relatively poor soil and a good deal of wealth, the Danish farmers achieved much more satisfactory results than previously. This is poss­ ible through the elimination of the middle man in marketing the produce.

Folk schools which are found throughout Denmark use an en­ tirely different method of edu­ cation than the educational in­ stitutions in America. Students must prove themselves really desirous of attending these schools before they are admit­ ted, thus eliminating an ele­ ment that is cross purposes with education.

Old age pensions and the sys­ tem of hospitalization in Den­ mark were referred to by Mrs. Rohde as ideas that might well be borrowed by the United States.

Mrs. Rohde saw it her mission as an American to unite the two countries in such a manner as to tighten the bond of friendship which al­ ready exists.

class and served on the Coun­ cil of the Sports Club all three quarters.

Emblem holders who are now on campus are Carolyn Greene, C. J. Morris and Anna Richter.

Regarding the point system, it was decided that the Dean of Women and the Student Rec­ ord of Points should decide whether or not any student could carry more than 16 points during a year. This matter was formerly referred to the point committee.

The honor system as it stands now will also appear in the handbook. No mention of the Student Faculty Honor Commit­ tee as it now operates is con­ tained in the current handbook.

Tennis team enters Office

Since town students make up one-fifth of the enrollment and 50 per cent of the Dean's List students, it was decided that some definite provision should be made for office holding by students from the suburbs. They are always elected from the dormi­ tory students and next year it is hoped to have it stated in the handbook that the vice presidents of the classes shall come from the town students. The vice pres­ ident will not work in the ab­ sence of the president so much as she will be expected to work with the president and the represen­ tative of her group.

New proposals of each organ­ ization will be formally present­ ed to the students voting within the near future.

Emory Students Conduct Services

GUESTS AT VESPER

On Sunday, May 15, the Depu­ tation Team of Emory Univer­ sity made its annual visit to Valdosta. Mr. George Clary, Jr., of Macon, and Mr. Euell Samples, of Mississippi, conducted morn­ ing services at the First Meth­ odist Church, and vesper ser­ vices at GSWC.

Mr. Samples, who is a student at the Emory School of Theol­ ogy, delivered most inspiring talks at both services Taking as his subject for the vesper program "World Peace," he made the talk inspiring and ap­ plicable to young people.

Mr. Samples, formerly a stu­ dent of the University of Missis­ sippi, is now studying under Dr. W. A. Smart, Professor of The­ ology at Emory. Dr. Smart was a distinguished week end guest of GSWC in the fall.

George Clary, a former stu­ dent at Emory Junior College, Valdosta, was chairman of the program.

Deputation Team Visits Cordele

Last Sunday afternoon the GSWC Deputation Team went to Cordele were they had charge of the services at the Baptist church. The group was compos­ ed of Margaret Abernathy, Car­ olyn Askew, Margaret Carter, Nelle Georlee, Ethel Stahl­ ings and Elise O'Neal. Miss Ab­ ernathy was chairman of the program.

The highlight of the program was the inspiring talk on "Pred­ ient Day Summons to Christian­ ity," by Carolyn Askew. Sue Nelle Greenlee and Margaret Carter sang "Hold Thou My Hand." Miss Carter also sang, "The Holy City." Elise O'Neal was accompa­ nied.
