Between Class Conduct

We've campaigned for a noiseless chapel, we got bicker about the constant use of the auditorium piano, but in spite of the near perversions that our disturbances caused, we are evidently immune to the noise in the Ad Building between classes.

"It is like a crowd of strictly disciplined high school kids suddenly released from their misery," commented one professor. His class listened, heard the uproar as though for the first time, and was amused.

Between-class conduct here is nothing to be proud of. Why keep it that way?

To Keep the Record Straight

G.S.W.C. is faced with an opportunity to change its daily schedule—an opportunity to sleep nearly an hour later and attend classes.

Between-class conduct here is nothing to be thereof, we are evidently interested in what the other fellow is saying (if being a good conversationalist."

Gwens highest ambition is to do something with satisfying her art; second, to engage in extensive letter writing. Gwen stiil remembers as the "red and white" days. She has a couple of Thoniasvillo boys in tow.

Alie's life and she goes in for most of the individual area such as bo. Betty McDaniel puts his o.k. on it. and you think of the rush for "Song of India" after T. Dorsey gave his nod—but both come from the classics.

Anything in this being pleasant business can be got interested in what the other fellow is saying. Remember John Jones' things, John Jones' ideas on anything is just about the best ideas out, so listen to them. (No that doesn't mean "doing" and "talking" every other minute either). Anyone will tell you that being a good Listener is nine tenths of being a good conversationalist.

So forget your blues, smile and remember—"the worst never happens!"
Chapel Symbolism, Embodying Sophs Select 15 Council Members

At an informal meeting of the Modern Arts Club and the Fine Arts Club Monday evening, Jean Charlot, art instructor in residence at the University of Georgia, and La- manoor, assistant professor of art in charge of the depart- ment at the university, were the principal speakers. Owen Johnson, Fine Arts Club president led an open forum for the students.

The above list to which we refer below is the list of non-sectarian religious art which will be presented at the public service of Thanksgiving.

The Council members present at the meeting were Miss Ruth Carpenter, Miss E. T. McDaniel, and Dr. Olive Stone.

Diary of a Student

When shadows come creeping,
And my eyes are weeping
I feel your presence near
And live again that bliss—
A farewell kiss.

Reverses Written in Panama's Educa- tion Class:
Daily soul is like a chicken,
It struts around in the dark.
Pecking here and there,
But at night it finds its way home to roost in a nest.

A farewell kiss.

Poetic Pauses

When a young woman's eyes are weeping
And her soul is like a chicken,
It struts around in the dark,
Pecking here and there,
But at night it finds its way home to roost in a nest.

A farewell kiss.
Kappas Tie Score With Monday's Win

The Kappas are hot on the heels of the Lambdas in the race for the Sports Club plaque. After dropping the first football game of the season to the Lambdas, the Big Red Team came right back to take a victory game by a score of 15-14, and 20-15. The Kappas took the first two halves, so a third did not have to be played. Sports flowers were out in large numbers for this game and filled the stands which were set up on the side of the football field. There were an average of ten cheerleaders present and they created an exciting atmosphere with their yells at the game. The Kappas did an excellent job in their cheerleading and made the trip to the Lambdas with their Sports Club plaque.

Archery Tourney Tomorrow Morning

The archery invitation tournament, under the supervision of the Sports Club, will be played tomorrow morning at eleven o'clock. This competition is open to beginners, but later this quarter a qualifying tournament will be played. The match will count five points toward the final score. All Kappa and Lambda supporters are urged to be on hand for this event. Those who will shoot Saturday are: Barrie, Hulls (L), Lowie, Frances (K), Jean (L), Hope, Florence (K), Rowland, Louise (L), Smith, Margaret (K), Swer, Judy (L), Shorow, Grace (K), Story, Nancy (K), Thraner, Carolyn (K), Wale, Morle (L), and the women of the breaking committee. Total Score: Kappas 35, Lambdas 29.

Paddle Battle Is In Quarter-Finals

The first round of the "Paddle Battle" has been completed, the contest moves into the quarter-finals. All matches are to be played Monday night therefore pushing the finals to Wednesday night.

Moonlight Hike Is Success In Spite Of Moon's Absence

With perfect hiking weather and the prospect of fire at the end of the trail, the upperclassmen bravely forth Wednesday night on their midnight hike (hence forth third off). Accompanied by Miss Hopper and Miss Ogle, the match trekked out to the Emory Jr. College grounds where they were met by the refreshment committee and a bonfire.

Kappas Win In American Ball

Exhibiting a much improved defense and some new offensive maneuvers, the Kappas overcame the score for the plaque by taking the Monday night game by a score of 3-0 in Monday's American Ball game.

Gaining the lead early in the first quarter of play, led by the Big Red forward line, they made two points when Ashley fell through the goalposts.

Outfielders for the Lambdas were Johnson, Taylor, Ogbum, Goodwin, and Cran. The Kappas stars were Jean Howe, Edith Robert, and the whole forward line which worked as a smooth unit.

The next match game will be played Wednesday. The team with the best game will be in the lead for the Sports Club plaque.
