The Southern Association of College Women will meet in Augusta this summer for the first time in its history. Dean of Women Miss Agnes Maunder, in her report to the Associated Press at a recent meeting of the Executive Committee, mentioned the association's plan to hold its biennial conference in Augusta. The meeting will be held at the AugustaWoman's Club, and the theme for the conference will be "The Future of Higher Education in the South." The conference will feature several prominent educators, including Dr. J. Fred Hooey, president of the Georgia Institute of Technology, and Dr. William H. Stewart, president of the University of Georgia.

The association's Executive Committee, under the leadership of Miss Maunder, has been working diligently to make the conference a success. The committee has been working closely with local officials to ensure that all necessary arrangements are made for the conference. The committee has also been working to attract a large number of participants to the conference, and it is hoped that the conference will be a turning point in the life of the Southern Association of College Women.

The Southern Association of College Women was established in 1920 and has been working to promote higher education for women in the South. The association has been instrumental in the development of many of the region's leading women's colleges, and it is hoped that the Augusta conference will be a turning point in the organization's history.
A Christmas to Remember

The American people started wishing a Merry Christmas to each other. The mailmen in foreign service get their Christmas greetings in time—thet the Canopy's saying "Merry Christmas" on the fourth of December probably seems quite natural. The staff of the Canopy takes this opportunity to wish you a joyous Christmas, a Christmas you will remember.

Remember this Christmas because you watched the Christmas Eve tree lights on the Rotunda with the other two thousand youths. It certainly was a beautiful sight. And since it was the last time that you will see your classmates, it was a beautiful day. The staff of the Canopy is glad that you have enjoyed this Christmas because you have enjoyed your college life. It is the staff of the Canopy that wishes you a joyous Christmas, a Christmas you will remember.

Poetic Passages

Thanksgiving has come and gone, and now once again our thoughts turn to examination plans for those wonderful days ahead! Nevertheless, there will probably be some time during all the pre-exam period that you will need some relaxation. "See Here, Private Harrup, is perfect to have to read when you need something to pick you up and put down. It is in our library in complete edition, or a brief form in READER'S DIGEST, or LIFE.

Christmas Eve
The door opened on the table tonight.
The hearth fire is aglow.
I seem to hear soft parting feet—
The Christ Child in the snow.

My heart is open wide tonight,
For stranger, kith, or kin;
I would not bar a single door
Where love might enter in.

—Anonymous.

The commentators say that women will have one of the leading roles to play in the future generation in the same tone.

TIRED
They let my brother go where fancy led.
They gave, to me, a little house to build.
"He's like his restless dad," they all said.

While I had hens to feed and bees to greet
Throughout all the years I played a part
In this small town with all its rigid ways.

While all my brother's letters hurt my heart
With talk of ships and roving caravans.

I braided mats and stretched the endless sand;
I washed all dishes, and I brushed the crumbs;
And no one knew that, in rebellious dreams,
I heard a temple bell and jungle drums.

Not, never thought, though it may be true,
A daughter can be like her father, too.

McKinnon Champ
In Table Tennis

Freshman Ida Maude McKinnon was often referred to as the "Tennis Terror" and "Predominant Paddle Performer" when she defeated Sara Catherine Martin in the Puddle Ball finals Wednesday night. A huge crowd was on hand to witness this match. McKinnon won both of them by identical scores of 21-16, 21-16. The defense of the Lambdas prevented their winning the last quarter when Ashley made a break and rushed down the field to score once again.

Outstanding defense by the Lambdas were Langdale, Alderman, and Taylor, while the Kappas were led by Martin, Meadors, and Ashley.

The official line-up followed:

Kappas: Roberts, Gainey, Clements, Maxwell, Hill, Ruh, Martin, Flournoy, Ashley, Dorsey,制动, and Harriet Flournoy.

Lambdas: Lambdas, Crane, Alderman, Taylor, Langdale, Finklows, Grinn, Wilson, Powell, and E. Meadors
