series of lectures on Nutrition will be presented at the College. As a result of increased interest in the part played by nutrition in the War, the Army and the Navy have announced that food rationing, police measures, and education programs will be used to promote proper nutrition. The Army is the best fed army in the world. The Navy has increased its food intake by 50% in the last year and the Army, which must keep up the same standard of health, has increased its food consumption by 25% in the last year and in the last year of this war we should come to the conclusion that this is a much healthier, more efficient soldier.

In the last war, before the United States entered the conflict, only about 10% of the population had access to foods that were necessary for health. They will be trained to analyze their nutrition and to recognize the importance of protein, minerals, vitamins, and carbohydrates in their food. The Army and the Navy are using these materials to educate young men about the importance of proper nutrition.

This is easily understood when one learns that in the last war only about 10% of the population had access to foods that were necessary for health. They will be trained to analyze their nutrition and to recognize the importance of protein, minerals, vitamins, and carbohydrates in their food. The Army and the Navy are using these materials to educate young men about the importance of proper nutrition.

Food requirements, food rationing, and nutrition are important factors in planning the future of the United States. This is true because the health of our armed forces is vital to the preservation of our way of life. In order to maintain the health of our armed forces, we must take care of our food supply and nutrition.

The students are urged to come and participate in these discussions and help make plans for the future. The charge for this material will be included in the cost of the course, but it may be paid in advance. The students will be given a series of lectures and students will be required to keep a final test, if any, in order to receive credit. These tests will be given during the course of the lectures.

Romance Language Club Reviews Book

The Romance Language Club held its monthly meeting at the House in-the-Woods on Thursday, January 14. Elizabeth Gillis, president, presided at the meeting.

Jackie Wood was welcomed into the club as a new member. Plans were discussed for the dance which the club is to sponsor for the benefit of the War Bond Scholarship. The members of the club decided to spend an afternoon at the Red Cross Room to help-bandages.

The president announced that there would be no February meeting as the members would go to the Museum series program, with Ruth Draper, on that night. Miss Gillis gave a short synopsis of the life and stage technique of Miss Draper.

The program for the meeting was given by Janet Joyner, Nina Harris, and Cleo Mesure, members of the Spanish Department. They reviewed the book, "Simon Bolivar," by Emil Ludwig. This is the interesting biography of Bolivar, a man who wanted to be like Napoleon. However, Bolivar felt that Napoleon did not work for the good of his country as he set out to free his own country. Emil Ludwig has been called "The Great Liberator."

First Aid Class Organized By Reid

In cooperation with the Civilian Defense Program, a new project has been undertaken by the teachers and students of S.G.A. It is entirely voluntary and is open to any who wish to take part.

The project undertaken is a Red Cross class under the direction and supervision of Miss Ruth Reid. The members who thus far have joined are Mary Frances Davidson, Dorothy Sawyer, Florence Hope, Catherine Gaskin, Judy Power, Martha Goodwin, Miss Lois Drow, Miss Lillian Patterson, Miss Laura Reed, Dr. Beatrice Neumann, Barbara Deike, and Sunshine Taylor.

It is a 20-hour class — the class meets once a week. The first meeting is held on Tuesday night from 7:00 to 9:00 o'clock. The second class is held on Saturday morning from 10:15 to 12:15. After completing this course, the members will be awarded certificates for their work.

The course consists of the usual work in first aid. The members learn how to conduct themselves efficiently in the case of any emergency. For example, they could be easily used as aid workers.

All who are able to enlist in this work should do so. First aid is always helpful and can always be used.

Miss Sawyer Reads At Fine Arts Club

The regular monthly meeting of the Fine Arts Club was held this week. Miss Louie Sawyer, head of the English Department, read several selections from "Madame Butterfly" by David Belasco.

At the business meeting Miss Gillis took the presidency, and Miss Sawyer was present. The program for the meeting was "The Woman in the Moon" by Faith Baldwin, and "The Woman in the Moon" by Faith Baldwin.

Thompson Speaks To Assembly Group

Reverend Cecil Thompson, pastor of the Valdosta Presbyterian church, gave an interesting talk Monday morning, January 18, in the Campus YWCA. He was outlining a message to the students and faculty of GSVC.

Miss Julia Frances McClelland, president of the Campus YWCA, introduced Mr. Thompson, following by the audience.

Details of his talk was a discussion of "Those Things That Endure," in which Mr. Thompson pointed out that no matter what happens, there are some things that do endure. If one holds fast to these things and faces things to come, it will only serve to make one the stronger. He mentioned that even through the conditions of the present world conflict, these things are and will continue to be. Some of the enduring things are: according to Mr. Thompson, Faith in God, Faith in God's Providence and Everything, Now and Always.

Seely, director of the nation's foremost all-girl orchestra, claims to have discovered some feminine traits completely overlooked by the traditional circus artists. Says he, "I've learned that women are not only better musicians than men, but they do everything more violently. Their love is more violent, less tempered. Their ability to please is more pronounced, and above all, they have greater loyalty."

MIGHTY THIRTEEN REFORM

Yes, the same thirteen men who demanded the right to vote at a rather inappropriate time of night and were subsequently justice before court, have decided that it's just as much fun, if not more, to do something about the situation itself, rather than just sit around and prate. But that comes later in the lips of reform.

First they decided to organize into clubs. Each club has a motto, a rip-singing song, postcard, and everything. It might well be said that the majority of the members at this point: Lucy Lane, president; Mary Odum, vice president; Emily Delke, secretary; Jean Colgan, treasurer; new officers: treasurer: Vc; Hammie Johnson, Ethelyn Powell, Martha O'Hara, Sue McCaslin, Robin Lee Petticoat, Teenie Taylor, Dot Odum, and Florence Hope. The two members, Florence Hope and Teenie, replace two old members that didn't come back this quarter. All that the poor, unfortunate pledges had to do was just to wear the same clothes for a week! But the worst is yet to come. The club has planned an informal initiation party down at the Log Cabin in the near future. If the 13 live up to their reputation that should be a wonderful party.

But we were going to tell you the reform of the "Mighty Thirteen," Well, it started one Saturday afternoon at one of their "weekly meetings. Just before the meal, the group began to rip up with "Why don't we do something good for a change?" The rallies of that suggestion have been quite gratifying. They have started a cleaning up campaign, and in order to do that, the whole campus to cooperate with them. Not stopping with this, they are going to the Red Cross center to help with the bandage-making. And they insist that everyone, especially the girls. Well, you'll have to say one thing about the "Mighty Thirteen"—whatever they do, good or bad, they put it over with a bang!

The program of the group was fumperdenck's "Children's Prayer" sung by the Serenaders, Ruth Taylor sang "Calm as the Night" by Ruth Taylor, and Pat Odum sang "Keep Me" by C. E. Moore. The girls as a group sang the ever popular "Night of the Forgotten" by Carl O. Porter.

The accompanists for the group were Miss Doris Bean and Miss Doris Bean and Miss Doris Bean. The Serenaders included Frances Finch, Mary Thompson, and S. H. KRESS & CO.

Sports Council To Plan Winter Games

The Sports Council met at the House-in-the-Woods on Tuesday afternoon at 3:00 to discuss plans for the initiation of the Sports Council. President Martha Ashley discussed the Council's rules for becoming a member of the Club.

Some students may not become a full member of the Sports Club unless they pass grades in all of their subjects.

Several discussions were held on the appeal of raising funds for the Intramural Relay Campaign. A committee was appointed to look into this matter further.

A supper is planned for the next Council meeting. Grace Longen and Helen will be in charge of the preparations.

Plans for winter games in basketball, volleyball, and archery are discussed. Many games will be held in these sports, as well as tours in minor sports.

Compton Announces Sports Club Party

Freshman Class President Mary Elizabeth Compton has announced a party for all old Sports Club members to be held at 7:30 in the Rec Hall. Several guests are serving as committee heads.

Program Committee — Hildy Bivens, Margaret Best

Entertainment Committee — Betty Stauffer

The members of the Freshman Club are assisting these girls in preparing a party that they know all the Sports Club members will enjoy.

The nature of the party is not known, but after formulating plans for several weeks, the pledges and committee members have decided on a surprise entertainment for all. Taking part on this program will be several well-known stars in the "Mighty Thirteen," Emily Compton, Grace McClure, and Helen."

Regardless of the breaks, change will be allowed. There are no stops for this entertainment. Where dreams are at zero, where failure seems your final aim, where life can write in words of failure...

Compton's final words: "He played the part of Grace Longen — The undergraduates."
