Cupid Scoops All Others on His February 14 Visit to GSWC

That little guy with the bow and arrows, usually pretty evident for February 14, was instead an evid­ent on GBWC campus Valentine weekend. This Valentine evi­dence quite prominent with flowers, cards, and romantic literature. Speaking of flowers—the florists stocked up on red roses and valentine cards, even enough to supply the demand. The Saturday dance was a great success even if it was a little bit starting. Vivacious Misses Best was, as usual, wearing white, Miss Nealon wearing beautiful red roses from Brooks, and Emily Dekle with those in some respect maybe something new. The dance was a real success and the air filled with music and dancing. And then there was the last bit of the evening, the little gift. The Misses were served with candy, chocolates, and various other gifts. But the most popular gift was the kiss. The kisses were given out freely and the air was filled with romance. Victory Book Drive Is Now Underway On The Campus

The 1943 Victory Book Drive has been granted the approval of the Army and Navy as the official agency for the sale of Victory Books, and the books are distributed among the nations fighting war. The organizers of the drive have more and better books are the American Library Association, the American Red Cross, and United Service Organizations. The drive is under the care of the girls.
From An Editor's Notes

We've been considering the ramshackle branches of the armed forces for some time but never had got past the preliminary stage of glancing over the current events section of the morning newspaper. But last week we did.

Yet we had never realized the pressure that was being brought to bear upon us until this past week. Having at last reluctantly decided to read the paper, we turned to the front page of the news and were startled to find what we wanted and then asked respectfully, "Do you wish something to go with a uniform, perhaps?" "Uniform?"

We had just never been aware of the fact that our companion stood in the situation in a glance and offered helpfully, "He means a WAAC uniform, Daniel! No, you're not going into service." Ten minutes later, our companion was reorganizing insomuch as it will enable the Commander-in-Chief of the Army to be prepared for duty.

In minutes later we remembered that Valdosta was preparing for duty. However, we're hoping that Ralph McGill, Clark Howell, Bill Anderson, and all those "big editors" were preparing for their own. " ... for they inevitably bear a foreign accent.

WHERE YOU SEE one you see a host of others. A few complications may set in when John Howe, David Cunningham, and Butch Pasquale come back. How do you keep two men straight?" Wish we knew! The Campus Canopy receives another Valentine from "the last one standing".

"Duck won't be transferred from the Inn to Young from Wilburn. . . . Wood's going to take the new fraternity pin on for Marcy's third birthday. . . . S. E. Smith is the musician, her men blonde, very tall and handsome. She is a very serious individual, but she's got to have a sense of humor. She loves dancing, and dancing makes her very happy. She loves being at the hub of a big group of people, and always played by T. D. Dorsey or Glenn Miller. . . . loves to harmonize. Honorary Day Program Held By Societies

Members of the Freshman and Senior Honor Societies of G.S.W.C. were recognized at an Honorary Day program held in the Chapel on November 21. Hon. Dr. R. H. Reutic, president of the college, spoke at that time.

Several members have been added to the Senior Honor Society and will be officially recognized at this program. They are: Laura Mae Youngblood, Jesup; Eunice Carter, Waycross; Lilian O. Reynolds; and Dorothy Massey, Arlington.

Corinne V. Vickers, a member of the Senior Honor Society, was chosen to represent the freshmen honor society at the Freshman Honor Society.

Some of the members of the Senior Honor Society are Joyce Davis,Chuck Minter,Annette Blackburn, Betty Barnes, Valdosta; Jean H. Isackson, Sylvania; and Joan Thompson, Lumpkin. Those in the Freshman Honor Society include: Sallie Albin Mathews, Dublin, Georgia; Jean Quistorp, Quitman; Dorothy Glen, Pahem; Doris King, Thomasville; Mary Richberg, Cairo; and Mary Esther Carter, Margy Powell, and Mary Sue Wilson, Valdosta.

The purpose of the Honor Societies is to recognize students who have maintained an average of 85 or above for at least two quarters of Freshman work. At the present time, there are 44 of these girls who have made a consistently high record for at least eight quarters.

Powell To Lead Vespers Sunday

A lovely program was presented at Vespers Thursday evening, in the Chapel. Miss Anna Richler, who had been graduated was present. The Serenade furnished the music, the program was presented by singing Humperdinck's "Children's Day March."

Sunday evening Effie Powell, the teachers of the Senior Honor Society, and Elizabeth W.Y.C.W.C. will have charge of the program. Let's have a full house program will be at 7 p.m. in the Chapel.

Flowery Frases

BY FLOURNOY

Saturday, November 13

Here is the poetry column for this month. With it we bring a little ditty by Jessy Moran, she has called it A Friend.

A FRIEND

You've heard of that word friend
And yet what does it mean—
It's supposed to be beautiful and lasting,
And yet it can't be seen.
We've heard it talked of and wondered
If it really is such a good buy,
Then a person whom we love leaves us.
And we can answer only with a sigh.
We want to know what we have lost;
Was it a friend or just a stranger—
Was it someone who turned and left us.
Just as we met someone,
And our thoughts become still deeper
For we haven't really lost a friend.
We have only been prey to a person
Who held us to achieve his end.
Our of this grip that held us,
Comes a lesson deep and strong;
I'll learn one thing to carry through life
And with it we can't go wrong.
For a true friend is one who remains
To meet the storm of either cold or rain;
He stays to fight with blood or words;
He's the one person whom we seldom
Remember to love and respect.
And then here is one that was also done in one of the more likely classes of Summer School '42. It is called What
What is Man?
A girl once asked a sage.
Made in His own divine image
From his own flesh and life giving
It is wonderful, an extravagant social whirl—
it is fun, frolic or hate for but a day
In the million of years of the world,
Life to me is a day of fun—
A day to be spent in the sun.
It is the joy and sorrow of loving someone.

Flavonoids are a class of compounds found in various plants, including fruits and vegetables. They function as natural antioxidants and possess several beneficial properties, such as reducing inflammation and promoting heart health. Flavonoids are also known for their potential role in protecting against chronic diseases, including cancer and cardiovascular disease.

Glee Club Sponsors Thursday Vespers

Vespers TuThursdays were led by members of the Glee Club, directed by Miss Anna Richter. The guests going to the speakers were not known anyone, but you’ll want to be proud of the part you played in assuring its success. If you have not been at the Glee Club meetings, let’s have you start coming and let progress pass. (It usually passes by.)
