THE GEORGIA STATE WOMANS COLLEGE, VALDOSTA, GEORGIA, FRIDAY, MAY 21, 1943

NUMBER 22

Wilson, Smith, McGeachy and Alderman Are Elected

Sue Wilson was named today as the Valdosta Club for next year. Other officers elected at a meeting of the club this morning were Georgia Smith, vice-president; Jean McGeachy, secretary; and the Dell Alderman, treasurer. Wilson will be a junior next year. She is a member of the Philomathean and Math-Science Clubs. She has also been a member of the feature staff of the Campus Canopy.

McGeachy will also be a sophomore next year. She is a member of the Glee Club and Sock and Buskin Club.

Alderman will be a sophomore next fall. She is a member of the Glee Club and is a Phi Lambda Chi officer. The Valdosta Club officers are Beth Whitaker, president; Sue Griffin, secretary; and Sue Wilson, treasurer.

Sawyer to Read "Blithe Spirit"

The annual Sock and Buskin Club tea, to be held in the House-in-the-Woods Sunday afternoon from four until six o'clock, will feature Miss Sawyer's reading of "Blithe Spirit" by Noel Coward.

The Senior class as a whole has been invited to join the members of the club and their guests for the afternoon.

Hostesses for the entertainment will be Christine Young, Betty Barnes and Beth Whitaker. Henrietta Walker will act as chairman of the refreshment committee with Mary Agnes Wolff, Elsie Goodson, and Rachel Cunningham serving on the committee.

Party For Sophs Is Friday Night

The long-awaited party for the Sophomores given by the other dormitories will be given next Friday night.

The party will consist of a swimming party at the pool with a jock to offer music while the girls swim, and dancing in the gym with another jock there. Refreshments will be served in the gym after the swimming party is over.

Julia Storer is chairman of the committee planning the party. Serving on the committee with her are Sara Petty, Mary Ellen Compton, Glynn Hill, Emily Dekle, and Lorraine Anchors.

New Bibliography Published By Odum

"Southern Literary Culture", an annotated bibliography for 1942 by Mrs. Gertrude Gihner Odum, professor of English, has been published in the April issue of the South Atlantic Bulletin of the Modern Language Association.

This annual study has more than three hundred books and magazine articles reviewed and classified under general bibliographies, social and cultural history, the negro, the theater, folklore, and individual authors. The study is restricted to biographical, critical and scholarly books, and articles of 1942 pertaining to Southern literature and closely related topics.

It does not attempt to cover the creative writings which Southern authors published during the year.

Mrs. Odum was asked to do this series of studies because of her research and publications on Southern periodicals which include the book, Southern Periodicals to 1861. Included in the April issue of the Bulletin is an article, "Emory's Joel Chandler Harris Collection" by Dr. Thomas H. English. This article is fourth in the series, "Source Materials for Study of Southern Literary Culture", sponsored by Mrs. Odum on the Committee on Americana.

Officers Elected By Senior Society

The Senior Honor Society met Tuesday morning at ten-thirty at the House-in-the-Woods. President Corinne Smith opened the meeting with a short business session. Joyce Duffy presented her treasurer's report on the Co-op Book Store. It was decided by the Society that there would be a method established whereby the students could donate their dividends which they would receive at the end of the year from the Book Store to the War Bond Scholarship Fund, this being purely voluntary. The general profit from the Book Store will be placed in the Graduate Scholarship Fund as usual, this fund having been accumulated over a long period of time.

Nominations for officers were held and voted upon. The new officers for next year are as follows: Laura Mae Youngblood, President; Dot Sawyer, Vice-president; Mary Mason, Secretary; Beth Whitaker, Treasurer, and Emmie Carter Historian.

Ten old and new members of the club were present. The new members are Beth Whitaker, Mary Mason, and Jean Williams. Dr. Durrenburger, advisor to the club, and Miss Hopper were also present.

Following the business meeting coca-colas, pretzels, and cookies were served.

Freshman Society Elects Officers

Thirteen new members were admitted to the Freshman Honor Society on Thursday when a Coca-Cola party was given in their honor by the outgoing members. Those who were chosen because of high academic standing for two quarters of Freshman work are as follows: Ruth Allen, Lorraine Anchors, Susie Bedell, Ethel Bentley, Florence Hope, Volammie Johnson, Jean McGeachy, Mary Mitchell, Gladys Penland, Effie Powell, Harriet Singletary, Mary Virginia Snow, and Grantland Miller. Mr. Miller is the first co-ed ever to be admitted by the society.

During the business discussion it was decided that a bond would be presented to the War Bond Scholarship Fund from the treasury funds, and Betty Peters, outgoing President, presided over the election of officers for the coming year. Harriet Singletary and Lorraine Anchors became President and Vice-President respectively.

Sara Catherine Martin To Present Speech Recital Fri.

Sara Catherine Martin, who is minoring in speech, will present her Senior recital Friday night at 8:30 P. M. in the auditorium. Miss Martin's recital will be a short one-act play, "Aria Da Capo" by Edna St. Vincent Millay.

"Aria Da Capo" is an Italian Play with three different parts—comedy, tragedy, and a return to comedy. The characters and cast of the play are as follows.

Pierrot, a cynical clown, Beth Rollison, Columbine, lover of Pierrot, Ida Maude McKinnon, and Cort-hurnus, masque of tragedy, Henrietta Walker, Thyrsis and Corydon, shepherds, will be played by Mary Agnes Wolff and Betty MaJette respectively. Julia Storer will act as stage manager.

"Venetian Love Song" and "Good-night" both by Nevine will be played by Ava Collins before the recital is presented.

The play is a satire on the futility of war. It shows how big the little things of life may become if we let them. Two of the characters, beginning with nothing more than a tissue paper wall between them, let that wall materialize and separate them by misunderstanding. And so two life-long friends kill each other over so trivial a thing as tissue paper. Some of the things happening in the world today are, in reality, no more than paper ribbons.

Ushers will be Pat Forrester, Harriet Flournoy, Frances Kennedy, Jean Mobley, Ruth Jinks, and Beth Tharpe.

Ivey Attends P. E. Meeting In Macon

Miss Leonora Ivey, head of the Physical Education Department of the Georgia State Womens College, left today to attend a meeting of the Georgia Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation.

This meeting will be held in Macon, Georgia, May 21-22. An executive board meeting will be held on Saturday also. The Association, headed by Dr. Manchester of the Physical Education Department of G.S.C.W. at Milledgeville, Georgia, is an organization for the promotion of better health, more Physical Education, and improved Recreation over the State of Georgia.

Miss Ivey is chairman of the member committee for the coming year. The association will discuss the part played by physical education in the war effort, as well as many other issues scheduled to come before them at this time.

This association is one of the most active in the State of Georgia, having served for many years to set the standards of physical educators all over the state.

What's Going On Behind The Scenes Of A Rebel's N. Y. Trip

The big day had arrived at last. Loaded down with suitcases, books, boxes, and even flowers, (contributed by an adoring friend) we made a last dash to catch the train. And what a train!!!!

But to skip all the boring part about the ride up, I'll get on with the story. Quote:

Our first streak of luck was to meet someone with an automobile—not the usual kind with the bump tires and an A card, but a very nice one—a '42 Buick with practically new tires, a radio, and above all—a '42 B card. That was the way we saw the city. I shan't attempt to name the places that we saw for they were the usual ones—the same places you read about in the guide-books. (We didn't have one.)

Then for the first meeting. It was mostly routine—at least that's what everyone said. I had never been to one before, so I just played dumb, and looked dumber. More people!!!! More things that you read about—Men from Harvard, Yale, and Princeton. (Oh, that chairman from Princeton, but that's another story!!!!)

Then out of the Village where we were staying while we were there. Then out for real Italian spaghetti. By the time we had gotten that down, had a shower, gotten to bed, and turned over once—it was time for another meeting.

But before the meeting, there came the inevitable question of how to get there. Kitty said it had never been done on a subway, but other than describe our ten minute ride (so they told us before we started!!!!) I shall just say—we were two hours late to the first meeting that morning. Then we had to answer so many questions.

On through the day, until the afternoon, when Mrs. Roosevelt came to speak to us. Rather than miss it, Kitty and I took a taxi. (That avoided the complications of the morning!!!!)

There was to be a dance—but the Executive Committee seemed to have too much to discuss, so the plans were altered a bit. I saw the town from the top of a Fifth Avenue bus.

Then back to the apartment and a party. It was a lovely party—planned especially for the Ashville gang; the only trouble was that none of the Ashville gang happened to come. But, I still think it was a swell party.

Then Sunday, another meeting—this time to decide what had been done while we were there. I have never been so surprised in my life!! One would never guess that all those things could have been done in three short (TOO short) days.

Then Monday, up to Hartford to the psychiatric hospital. Oh, no. Not me, KITTY!!! But the crowning point came Tuesday when we found that was the day our reservations were dated so, two tired, but happy girls boarded the train for the ride back home.

From the first Private met on the trip up, to the last Marine Sergeant on the way home—it was a perfect trip.

Registration for Summer Quarter

Omissions or errors should be reported at once to Dr. Laurenceberger, Room 13.

WE HAVEN'T QUIT!

We haven't given up hope in changing the name of the college. In fact, as a certain noted admiral said, "We've just begun to fight!"

The campaign has gotten under way very slowly in relation to the amount of enthusiasm shown, or apparently shown, by the student body. We have urged and pleaded for suggestions as to suitable names. So far, less than a dozen have been turned in.

We ought to realize that a change such as we are attempting to make cannot be done every year or so. Once done, it is a permanent thing, at least for a goodly number of years. The name chosen in this case must be a fitting one.

School is almost over for this year and we have not even progressed to the point where a committee can begin eliminating names. We have not even tapped the possibilities of names, much less exhausted them.

Therefore, after due consultation with the college authorities, it was decided that the best plan for all concerned would be for a student-faculty committee to be appointed to do research on some names this summer, to ask the student body to do personal research either here at summer school or at home, and to submit the entire collection of names to the students for discussion next fall. Then the campaign would be carried through without a hitch until the name was selected and officially changed.

More details will appear in the Canopy next week about this matter.

FROM AN EDITOR'S NOTES—

Dr. Reade mentioned quite a few matters of general interest to the student body in his informal chat with them Wednesday morning in assembly, as well as giving a highly entertaining account of his trip in his own unique manner. In regard to the heating plant (You count the times it's been mentioned!)—it will be gratifying to know that while we are seeking to escape the Georgia heat in June, workers will be sweating as they build a heating system to keep us warm next December.

Last weeks of school are drawing swiftly to a close and everyone is, or should be, head over heels in work. Human beings are funny, somehow; they'll invariably wait until the last possible minute before a deadline and then break their necks to get a job done. (Yes, we do it too!) Let's take these last few weeks in stride and finish up a good school year. At the same time, let's not let our nerves crack under the strain. Don't forget to get plenty of rest and sleep so you can pass those finals!

OFFICERS CLUBBING - Tuesday night - Julia Frances McCorkle, Jean Mobley, Beth Tharpe, Dot Sawyer, Marolyn Rowland, Jackie Jones, and others.

WISHING FOR WEEK-ENDS—Catherine Hickson . . . wants more at home with Norton there . . . and Jane Rogers . . . would like more at Valdosta with Kenny here . . . and many others . . . just wishing!!!!

GLAD TO SEE AGAIN—June Mosely . . . past president of the "Y" . . . returned to her Alma Mater for the week-end.

JEANNE WHITTENDALE—seen quite frequently with a representative of 43-E . . . namely, Bill!!

THE TIME IS DRAWING NIGH—for several G.S.W.C. girls to march to Lohengrin . . . Announcements are appearing ever so frequently nowadays . . . Showers (and we are not referring to the weather) are occurring daily . . . Jane Spivey is getting all excited . . . Ashley's practically turning cartwheels to get around to all her engagements . . . Ava Collins is spending all her free time shopping . . . and we hear there are still others to come!

SPEAKING OF BRIDES—what about the beloved Sports Club head soon to be Mrs. "Whimp" . . . and her unusual wedding present . . . a cocker spaniel . . . already dubbed "Buff"?

POSIES GALORE TO — Betty Barnes and Marguerite LaHood . . . for a most enjoyable recital Monday night.

LOOKING FORWARD TO—Kitty Martin's speech recital tonight . . . and it's written by Edna St. Vincent Millay . . . promises to be most interesting. . .

IT'S A BOY!—for Cadet and Mrs. Johnny Oliver . . . we called her Lowry . . . Isn't it wonderful? . . . What a sportsman he ought to be when he grows up! . . .

"DANCING AT THE SQUIRE CLUB Saturday night" . . . and having a wonderful time . . . were Marla Davis and Evelyn Saunders . . . and Cadets Bill and Ed.

NEWS FLASH!—We've just heard that another name is being added to the list of brides-to-be . . . Ruth Jinks . . . Lucky man is Herdrick . . . of course . . . the date is May 28.

OUR NOMINATION for the luckiest girl on campus is Rachel Cunningham, just beaming because of a surprise visit of Jase.

Sketching The Seniors

By PAT FORRESTER

SARA CATHERINE MARTIN

"All my mind has changed" . . . so says Kitty Martin, retiring S.G.A. president . . . Sociology major, she accepted a position as a psychiatric aid in a Hartford hospital . . . now, after a trip to a U.S.S.A. convention, her mind is changed . . . she was offered a job there as General Secretary of that association . . . And she's thinking of accepting it too!!!

Living in a room practically wallpapered with Harvard pennants . . . (a tribute to John!), Kitty spends her spare time playing records . . . any kind you want—all contributed by an adoring sailor. . .

A speech minor . . . Kitty will present her recital Friday night . . . "Aria da Capo"—a play by Edna St. Vincent Millay . . . She's directing it—But it's all an old story to her . . . she's appeared in several Sock and Buskin plays—And . . . remember her as Pygmalion in "Pygmalion and Galatea"?

Among her likes . . . hamburgers, lemon pie . . . eaten at one and the same time . . . Then—she likes steaks—or to be exact . . . any food. . .

Looking back over four years—the Waycross girl exclaims . . . "It's been swell!!" During her four years she's been S.G.A. president and vice-prexy, a member of Sports Council, president of her class, a member of Sock and Buskin, Sociology, Philharmonic, and other clubs.

Her ambition is to rival Jimmy Dorsey with her sax . . . to rival Benny Goodman with her clarinet . . . and last . . . to challenge Kreisler with her violin . . . And she might try a one-woman band. . .

Her greatest joy comes from inviting her friends to be 'guests' at the hospital . . . and now she runs around with a beer in her eye . . . humming softly . . . "I'll see you again!"

JULIA FRANCES McCORKLE

Petite, charming, lots of fun . . . That's 'Corky' . . . Y.W.C.A. prexy . . . Hailing from Montezuma . . . declares it's the best little town in the state . . . Art major—past vice-president of the Fine Arts Club. Plans to teach public school art . . . also would like to go to U. of Ga., and get her Master's.

Has been here all four years . . . says she never thought of going elsewhere . . . has had one roommate all that time . . . Says she could never have gotten along without 'Sister'!

Her favorite summers have been those spent camping. For nine years she has spent her vacation at some camp in the mountains. And . . . last summer was her fifth at Pine Mountain.

Her favorite spots on campus are the Chapel and the Art studio. Should you not be able to find her . . . go to one of these places. The windows in the chapel are an example of her work . . . More sketches in the art studio . . . and in just about everybody's room.

Loves sports . . . was voted the most versatile freshman her first year here. Admits that she is an 'outdoor girl'. In those seldom minutes inside she likes to read good books . . . and she loves to collect 'em, too.

Would also like to collect little green jugs . . . Not just jugs . . . but GREEN jugs.

A member of the Sock and Buskin Club . . . appeared in the Christmas play, "Why the Chimes Rang" . . . has also worked on the stage crew of many other productions. Has played the part of "Spirit of the Y. W. C. A." in "Pygmalion and Galatea."

Likes sincere people and begins by setting a good example herself. Could anything be better?

Looking forward to a bigger and better year, she's determined to make it so. So to a girl for whom there is an unlimited list of descriptive adjectives . . . here's the best of everything.

Rowland Advises Us To Live Today!

So many of us live our lives almost entirely in the past or in the future. What do I mean? tell you. We seem to have the idea that the way we can get pleasure out of life is by dreaming of things that have happened or by building castles for future days. We are, in a sense, parasites, living on memories or thinking of what might have been.

We don't realize that there is a today life with countless opportunities for happiness and in making our lives fuller and richer than they have been previously. If we would only look around we would see so many beautiful objects of nature that are here for us to enjoy all the time. We fail to realize that God put the trees, the sky, clouds, and sunset here for us and gave us eyes to see them with, so we may enjoy our lives to the fullest extent. In his poem, "A Prayer in Spring" Robert Frost expresses a very deep feeling for the enjoyment of the beauties of our surroundings. "Oh, give us pleasure in the flowers today; And give us not to think so far away As the uncertain harvest; keep us here All simply in the springing of the year. Oh, give us pleasure in the orchard white, Light nothing else by day, like ghosts by night. And make us happy in the happy bees, The swarm dilating around the perfect trees. And make us happy in the darting bird That suddenly above the bees is heard, The meteor that thrusts in with needle bill, And off a blossom in mid air stands still."

We should make the most of today. I don't mean "Eat, drink, and be merry for tomorrow you may die", but I do think that we ought to make the most of the advantages which come our way, instead of staying in our own little world of make-believe, passively watching the rest of the world go by.

Perhaps you are saying that we must look to the future. Of course, we must, but the preparation for events of tomorrow must be made today. Take advantage of your opportunities today and you will be ready for whatever tomorrow brings.

Living is making the most of every minute of every day, so let's begin living now!

CO-ED CAPERS!

By BERTIE HARPER

Yes, you guessed it, folks; that man's here again. This time we have news about everyone.

Grantland Miller, that man so vital to the war effort, isn't seen around much these days. He is almost in Uncle Sam's Navy. Grantland took his second Navy test a few days ago. We don't know what his grade is, but it's bound to be good.

It seems that the Navy is trying to take all the co-eds from G.S.W.C. Lamar Newbern received his orders to report for immediate induction on May 18 and so he did. Better look out, "Mac"!

All of us are glad to see Akie back at school. The place seems more like its old self. But from the looks of things he might not stay here long. Why? Well he had to report to the local draft board the other day for his Army physical. Akie may have to leave in the June call. Tough luck, Sis!

Old man Luck is certainly not with Tippie. He returned to the hospital about two weeks ago for a week. Tip is at home now, and thanks to Dekk, is well on the road to recovery.

Girls, don't shout too loud! And just why should you be joyous? Well that great pair, John F. Gibson and Thomas J. Crouch, are planning to attend summer school. Please don't crowd them girls. They will try to accommodate all of you. Just keep your date books handy.

At most any time Albert Pendleton can be seen with a crowd of girls. Just look around up town or out at the lakes. How about it, Albert?

By the way, some more Navy reports came in Friday morning. The boys receiving grades were Akie, Tippie, and myself. Because there was such a large number taking the test, only those with the very highest grades were selected. We three boys passed the test but not with a high grade. However if the Navy needs us (it probably won't), it will certainly let us know.

Well, that seems to take care of everyone for this week. But I'll be back soon with news to make the news!!! Goodbye now.

Faculty Homework

By MISS JANIE BUSH

The following dialogue— not intended for my youthful ears—took place between two of our servants and is probably responsible for my being at school.

"That chile sho is dissatisfied (a word she had recently learned and used on all occasions) with her work."

"You're mighty strong, Mandy; she is too high strung. You know she would never have the patience to teach chillum? Think of that red hair, will ye?"

"I have never attained 'distinguished' nor 'patient' status, still the overheard arguments challenge me to strive for a grade indirectly suggested by the old negroes."

"The primary grades the little with red hair was often engaged in which sometimes ended in tears. As she progressed in her studies the altercations became less violent and less violent, although she was often an inward tumult like a rumbling volcano. (This graph is put in the third person out of a sense of shame in making the confessions too personal.)"

"After finishing my work in the college at Gordon, at long last sent to Georgia for my A.B. degree then to North Carolina for my majoring in Latin. In order to reach more nearly to the 'distinguished' state, I next studied in Italy and received a diploma from the College of Classical Studies. My course in Rome necessitated much travels throughout Italy in research in the classics. Nay, following the wanderings of Gilgamesh I had to cross the River Styx; please do not ask me to tell you how I took the part of Charon, or how I ferried me over the river. This is my varied experience is a dark secret reserved only for the foolish minded. My travels in America and European countries furnished me with a fund of information that is not so soon forgotten as the knowledge acquired by reading books and periodicals."

"In 1926 good fortune brought me to GSWC where I have lingered these fifteen years. Whatever name may be given to the Georgia State Women's College, we know that the school will be magnetic, a loadstone that attracts and holds not only the students but teachers as well. Whenever either becomes employed in this institution, he or she remains on the campus indefinitely unless fortunate enough to get married or a more relative position. Even then, some do not sever their connections with the academy of learning."

"My arrival on this campus has brought changes have taken place in the faculty, personnel of students, curriculum, buildings, grounds, etc. Every province, great improvement have been made. We now have a college that is second to none. Praise to GSWC!!"

Superstitions Are Given By Club

The last monthly meeting of the Math-Science Club for the present school year was held on Thursday night in the Log Cabin. Betty Burke, newly elected President, presided over a short business session during which plans were discussed for continuing club meetings throughout the Summer Quarter. It was also announced that the club has presented two more warbonds to the W.B.S.F., making a total of three for the year.

A program, "Superstitions", was presented by Martha Goodwin, Mary E. Carter, Joyce Duffey, Emmie Carter, and Doris King of the Biology Division. The material used came from Dr. Nevins' collection of superstitions. Afterwards the members were asked to contribute others, and Betty Burke, Dr. Phelan, and Elia Meadors were given humorous prizes for turning in the greatest number.

LaHood and Barnes Present Recital

Marguerite LaHood, violin major, and Betty Barnes, piano major, were presented in their senior recital Monday night. Mary Sue Wilson and Miss Gladys Warren, instructor of music, were accompanists.

Miss LaHood opened the program with the Adagio and Allegro movements from Handel's "Sonata No. III." Miss Barnes' opening selections were the Bach "Prelude in B Flat," the Bach-Barth "Arioso," and the Bach-St. Sains "Gavotte in E Major." Miss LaHood concluded the first half of the program with the playing of de Beriot's "de Ballet."

Miss Barnes selected as her next group Macdowell's "Preludium" and "The Sunken Cathedral" by Debussy. Miss LaHood presented as her final number "Romance" by Wieniawski.

Accompanied at a second piano by Miss Warren, Miss Barnes concluded the program with her playing of the Moderato Assai movement of the "Concerto in D Major" by Rubinstein.

Other seniors presented in music recitals this year were Ruth Taylor, Corrine Smith, and Ava Collins.

"When one knows women, one pities men; but when one studies men, one excuses women."

This saying could be used under many different headings. But there is one that overrules them all.

Have you ever tried to plow an old mule without a whip? Have you ever convinced a smarty that he's wrong? Did you ever talk your roommate into seeing a show she doesn't want to see? Men and mules, smarties and roommates; they are all different—except in one respect! Can you guess?

Were you in a heated argument with a good friend and having won your point, did you continue to argue? Have you ever been thrown from a horse and no matter how many times you got back on—you were thrown again? Is an umpire in a baseball game always right—in your mind? Did you ever try to tell your little brother what not to do (since you know all the ropes) and he did it in spite all you could say? Has anybody ever disagreed with everything you said just to start an argument?

What makes us keep our lights on after "lights out" and talk on the phone four minutes when we all know we're allowed only three?

According to doctors, it's insanity; according to lawyers it's tom-foolery; according to preachers, it's a trait to be overcome . . . but according to us—it's just plain STUBBORNNESS!

Language Club Reviews Articles

At the last meeting of the year of the Romance Language Club on Monday night, plans were discussed for the ensuing year, pertaining to the entrance of new members and to the unification of a group of programs. A report from the treasurer revealed that the entire Romance Language treasury had been given to the War Bond Scholarship Fund.

Dorothy Glenn, Program Chairman, presented Jackie Wood and Evelyn Moran, who gave brief reviews of Jean-Jacques Bernard and France Is Waiting, both featured recently in the Atlantic Monthly. After the meeting refreshments were served.

Our Poetry Corner

By BETTY STREET

The following poems were contributed to this column by Mom Steele who we think is quite a poetess. Just last week one of her poems appeared the ATLANTA CONSTITUTION. Thus, it is with delight that we print these selections.

"FRECKLE-FACE"

Maybe your face is covered with freckles,
And your teeth are none too straight,
Your clothes are not always the best in town;
Still you always have a date—
Some may be prettier, hair curly and such,
Clothes latest style, but that doesn't mean much—
Why I wouldn't trade you and your big blue eyes
And your sunny smile that never dies,
For anyone else in the whole wide world
And pshaw! After all your hair can be curled.

"THE GOOD OLD WORLD"

The world isn't so bad, as we look around
There is much to be thankful for, I have found.
The smile of a child we pass in the street,
A hand-clasp of greeting, as friends chance to meet.
The trees and the flowers, the blue sky above,
All these are reminders of God's great love.
A place we call home, a door to unlock,
A fire to kindle, a chair that will rock,
A place to lie down, when the day's sun has set,
No, the world is not bad, there's much joy in it yet.

Roommates To Lead Vespers On Sunday

Betty Majette will be in charge of the Vespers program on Sunday night, May 23. Virginia Torbert, the speaker, has chosen "Prayer" for her subject.

Original plans called for an outdoor Vesper program last Thursday night. However, due to inclement weather, a sing was held in Freshman parlor.

To date, Professor Frederick has discussed some 1,000 books on his program. At least four times that many were considered in making his selections. More than 1,000 listeners a week write in for copies of the interviews and reviews.

HAVE YOU HEARD THE GOOD NEWS?

Mrs. Johnny Oliver or "Lowry", as she is better known to the students of our campus, has a seven-pound boy! She will soon return from the hospital to her home at Savenac in Bedford, Virginia and Johnny is now stationed at Camp Lee near Petersburg. Some have remarked: "When their son grows up, if he can play golf half as well as Johnny and ride a horse like his mother, he will be some boy!"

WEEK-END RIDES ARE BEING SCHEDULED.

Many students have expressed the desire to ride horseback without having to take it during the quarter so here's your chance! Miss Beasley has arranged week-end rides to begin this Saturday morning at eleven, lasting until one! The riding fee will be fifty cents an hour and the students are asked to sign up on the bulletin board in Converse hall and to state the time that they wish to ride.

OUR TIME IS LIMITED! OR DIDN'T WE ALL KNOW?

Plans were being made for a horse show and an aquacade to be given next week, but members of the faculty as well as the students feel that with so little time left and with so much to do, it would be much better to discontinue such plans and use that time for those last minute things that have to be done and should be done, and by those things, we mean along the line of studying most definitely!

THERE MUST BE WORK BUT THERE MUST BE PLAY!

While we are all looking forward to a year of good hard work next year (or while we are giving that impression), we can also look forward to another successful year along the sports line. Lots of plans are being made not only to create more interest but to have more fun and when the Sports Club makes plans, it carries them out. That is a promise, so come back next fall to work and play, and willing to give as well as take in both.

HATS OFF TO COMPTON.

When Compton caught that b-e-a-u-t-i-f-u-l fly ball in the match game Tuesday, someone asked, "Was it self-defense or what?" She seemed a little surprised but you can't keep a good Lambda down! Keep up the good work.

SPORTS

Sports Glimpses For The Future

The summer quarter will be filled with a complete schedule for swimming, golf, tennis, archery, and other campus favorites. The Recreation Department will be in charge of Marth Ashley and several helpers yet to be announced.

It is hoped that short hikes and cook-outs will be made possible and from the conversations about the fun had on the hikes in the past, a good time with never a dull moment can be eagerly looked for.

During the mornings (for the first two periods) the small children of Valdosta will be coached in swimming, but later in the summer the pool will be open for college students and faculty members.

The Recreation Department will sponsor a street dance—complete with refreshments, juke organ, and Moody Field Cadets. The dance will be especially for the benefit of the new Freshmen and the War Bond Scholarship Fund. Of course, we cannot promise but we are hoping for a yellow moon and brightly shining stars!

A new course is being added to the Physical Education Department through the versatility of Miss Ruth Reid. She will teach a course tumbling for which she prepared herself at Boston College. Courses in drilling will also be offered.

The students are still reluctant to abandon their hope for an outdoor rifle range. And who can blame them in times like these, when women must be able to defend themselves on the home front? The range would serve two purposes: first, to enable the girls to protect themselves and second, to teach them the art of killing unrationed meats! Let's not forget to push this idea to the front next year.

We predict one of the best years for the Sports Club ever to be with the new officers and their council. This is really a tough job for next year but you've got what it takes to make every possible gain. We're all for you, goodbuddies!!!!

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Stop Spending, and Save for the future. That has been good advice since biblical days. You cannot buy tires today, but you can start saving to buy that new set of tires when they go on the market again.

Your regular investment of ten percent or more of your earnings in War Bonds through your Payroll Savings Plan will provide the necessary funds to buy those tires later and help win the war now. Let's "Top that Ten Percent."

Sports Council Retreats For Business and Pleasure

By MARTHA ASHLEY

With the usual cries of "Put this darn pack of mine on the bus while I run to grab my toothbrush and pajamas!" the Sports Council, fifteen strong, joined the "Y" and Student Government girls to begin their glorious retreat to the lakes last Friday. Amid a scramble of bathing suits, towels and bobble pins dropping from the packs every five seconds, food being pushed (with care) to the back of the bus, and frantic calls to late-comers, the bus began to roll toward that week-end haven. Needless to say, in a short time the mad mob made merry with musical talents (?) and the old favorites were again sung and shouted by the gay and carefree voices of happy-go-lucky college girls.

Once at the lakes the Sports Council unloaded their duffle at Miss Reid's cottage, while the others went on to the Holmes' cottage. After unpacking, both groups settled down to the business of making next year's plans. Sometimes they met together and sometimes they met separately, but the final results were pooled in a joint meeting Saturday afternoon.

Thanks to the Hiking Committee of the Council the girls ate like queens—coffee, bacon, eggs, fried apple rings, grapefruit, carrots, and even onions, to say nothing of the picnic style suppers.

Since the moon decided to shine very brightly for us, the girls enjoyed swimming, boating, fishing, and even bull-sessioning on the dock by its silvery light. The moonlight, midnight snacks, and bull sessions were thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. During the day the sun gave us a chance to add more glamour to our summertans, especially while hiking over Ocean Pond.

Speaking of the little trek to Ocean Pond, you must know that these girls should be (and claim to be) the most physically fit of any girls on campus. To prove their fitness to themselves they chose the hardest way to travel. During the course they walked nearly four miles to the clubhouse, ate twelve platters of fried chicken, complete with other dishes, and turned to walk through South Georgia sand on rough paved road in the broiling sun, jump wire fences, ditches and a few other obstacles, and run about one-fourth of a mile in order to attend a joint meeting of the three groups. That was approximately seven and one-half miles of walking on the "double quick"—but that fried chicken was reward enough!

The screams of "Hey! Get your feet off my stomach!" while we lay on the porch in the dark chatting about everything in general and nothing in particular, the wild delight experienced upon seeing the moonlight silhouetting the cypress trees with Spanish moss, the cool breeze playing over the otherwise calm water, the smell of food cooking in the open, the feel of the sun blazing on our backs as we hiked to Ocean Pond, the "hacked" wails of certain girls when they failed to awaken at sunrise—all these are phases of the trip which will never be forgotten.
