Sneiors Must Run an Obstacle Course

Have you noticed the practically perfect obstacle course existing between Senior and freshman class? Right by day it becomes a bit more difficult to overcome. Seems though somehow, we put it to keep the Juniors and Seniors from staggering to class half asleep. Just try memorizing about that path with your eyes shut and see what happens?

Time was when all the girls had to go through a cold gray dawn, yawn their way through the hall, and stumble over their first period class. Now look what a duchess Rising and breakfasting is still the thing, but try this to class that.

You trip gaily down a flight of stairs, and at sight of a room, you almost dare to draw a quick, deep breath, and begin the obstacle course. You turn in a vault over a huge tree (deliberately) and are soon to make a jumble over an assortment of large and small branches, jump a ditch, and land amid a pile of broken pipe. You are thinking your feet. Surviving all this, you journey on, to be struck in the face with some gentle palm fronds drooping over the walk. Finally you reach the door, knock it open, and prepare to mount another flight of stairs, and enter your classroom gasping like a trout.

Each of the Seniors are dressed in costumes but we will be asleep.

Sue Batchelor Wins 4-H Clothing Contest

Bue Batchelor, a freshman here at G.S.W.C., was declared the national winner in the 4-H Club's clothing achievement test, It was announced last week. She has just returned from Chicago where she attended the 22nd annual club congress. Sue, is a 4-H club member since her second year in 4-H Club. Sue is a member of the college wardrobe. In addition to this, she is a member of 49 other projects, including food preservation, cooking, poultry, dairy, horticulture and nutrition.

Sue was one of the four seniors who entered this year. The Yuletide Season will be ushered in on campus Thursday night, December 16, by a beautiful, traditional Christmas Carol Service, "The Hanging of the Greens." It is at this time that the Seniors decorate the Rutland with the green wreaths for the Christmas season.

The Seniors form a procession line, and in groups of two hang their wreaths around the Rutland. Each of the Seniors is dressed in a variety of colors, including red, green, and blue. The wreaths are made from evergreen boughs and decorated with small ornaments and lights. The Senior在 the front of the procession, carrying a lantern, is the "Little Town of Bethlehem."

Another Senior in a long white robe is the "Child in the Manger." The other Seniors are dressed in white, with red ribbons around their necks. The Seniors follow the "Child in the Manger" as they make their way around the Rutland. The procession is led by the Senior in the white robe, who holds a lantern. The lantern is lit and shines brightly, creating a warm and festive atmosphere.

After the procession, the Seniors distribute the wreaths around the Rutland. Each Senior places a wreath on a different section of the Rutland, creating a beautiful and festive display.

The Senior in the white robe, who is the "Child in the Manger," is placed in the center of the Rutland. The other Seniors surround the "Child in the Manger," creating a circle of light and warmth.

Goodwin Gives Advice To The Students

Four years ago there were among us some brand new little girls, who, after their first exams, were excited pink over their success. Today those same girls are here. You need not even know them with their new hordes of expression and a broader knowledge of things. I hope to be able to give them the plays, friendship, and can do things like that.

Now after all those days, some have and some just plain days, you come to the feeling of opening a door into a new world. Before, it was a big place and lots of things. That's the place you have been given to take your dreams and ideals two roles. Life is not all fun and games. At times, and even now, the feeling of not enough might creep into one's being, but don't that bother you. It's the time that you find out about this. The time when you have a chance to use your education. For this feeling that makes one stagnant.

It seems to me Christmas is a great step from preparatory life to real life. In the Christmas spirit, life becomes more precious. Even if you can be porous memories. Just like a tiny light came into the world which has gone through the centuries growing bright in some of the darkness and light in a great dark world of mistakes and knowships, but those are opportunities. For it is that overcoming adversity that one grows in person, in character, in the work of the spirit.

Christmas spirit is not a duty: it is a privilege—and one of which we are all entitled to know. And aix' ready to step out into the world. and we shall never forget them.

The campus can be gorgeous memories. Just 1943 was a year a lot of us were at the university. And aix' ready to step out into the world. and we shall never forget them.

For the few days, I don't mind being frank about it. Then, and even now, the feeling of not enough might creep into one's being, but don't that bother you. It's the time that you find out about this. The time when you have a chance to use your education. For this feeling that makes one stagnant.

ONE WAY TO CUT CLASS!
By EVELY MORAN
that his voice doesn't burst forth too loudly for he certainly doesn't want anyone who's mapping to fall out of the desk, onto the aisle. The fall would be so painful, but what matters so greatly is the injury done to the desk. Never take advantage of something that can't talk back. It's not profitable.

Beware of front row! Sometimes there comes a teacher on the scene who likes to seat people on the front row. She is a serious problem because she insists on looking deep into the front row's limpid blue eyes but she is so very demanding that, to achieve her end, she makes her front row keep their eyes open. And so far science has not discovered any way for one to sleep with his eyes open. But don't give up hope for science shall either discover a way or a law will be made to oust the teacher.

There seems to be nothing offered at G.S.W.C. to ensure sleep . . . Don't complain, I guess it's healthy to drink straight water. If you don't agree, and many won't, I'm sure, for there are those who stay on the alert for they must miss something, all I can say is go to sleep and forget what I have said.

MORGENTHAU:

Sports Highlights From The Sidelines

Just think! The first quarter ended by itself. We've got lots of fun in store for the fall. The Physical Ed. Department has a pretty good team this year, but it's not quite the same as last year. The Freshmen had a large class. This is not only the first time in a long time that they've had the excitement that the Freshmen had back then. The major sports for this quarter are American Ball, Fistball, tennis, archery, and riding. All of these sports had a big crowd out, but of course the upperclassmen were a little weak on support. The American Ball was coached by Turner and Bentz, who are the best in the field. The rules have changed a lot since then, but they had some extra downs. Downes, a very dependable corner, was used in the backfield. From Washington, had some tough breaks, but he was always the best. Jefferson, a fast goalie, was made a combination player. The American Ball and Fistball have really gone over so it will be interesting to see what ability we have in the field as well as basketball. Basketball and Volleyball

Basketball and volleyball will be offered next quarter as well as all those who have been asking about them and who are interested, your chance for these sports is just around the corner. American ball and fistball have really gone over so it will be interesting to see what ability we have in volleyball as well as basketball. If you are interested in volleyball, please sign up.

More Tournaments

These coming up next quarter, too—another one in tennis and one in archery, so it is quite evident that the council is making big plans for the future. Let's all plan to do our part in making all these plans work out.

Freshmen Win In

Fistball: Tie In American Ball

The last match games of this quarter were held at the upperclassmen gym. The upperclassmen met the freshmen, and a parallel game was held between the upperclassmen and the freshmen. The upperclassmen scored 29 to 39 and won the game with a score of 29 to 39. The line-ups were: Upperclassmen—Vaughn, Creech, Goodwin, and Staton. Freshmen—Green, Huffman, who were good all over the court, and the freshmen had a pretty tough time. The game was thrilling and they played a good game but the upperclassmen just couldn't hold those freshmen and they lost the game with a score of 29 to 39.
