Polio Fund Will Be Climaxed at Moody With Dance Sat.

The Army Air Forces at Moody Field will officially open their dance at the Officers Club on Saturday night, Jan. 20. The Polio Fund and Moody orchestra will be on hand to entertain the guests.

Henrietta Tarver, president of the Polio Council, disclosed Friday that all plans had been approved and that it was expected to give a big boost to the drive for Lowndes County. Plans for the dance are under the supervision of Carol Mann, Miss Tarver, and officials at the college.

The unique procedure of passing the collection boxes first was used in last year's drive because of the failure to receive in last year's drive. Sports Council girls, sponsored by the Sports Council, are to be stationed at the Ritz and Dolesteas to receive the contributions. The boxes, placed in various locations, also. Last year's drive, also, was scored by the Sports Council, and a second was placed Lownedes County with the Polio Council's collection in the state amount raised.

Students on the G.S.C. campus, as last year, contribute to this drive may give their donation to any member of the Sports Council, or place them in any of the containers in town.

One of Every Five Girls Picks Blondes As 'Man Preference'

They're tall no, short, no, thin no, fat no, but all of them are blondes. We all know that the blonde is the, well, the most popular girl in the class. And, when you think of blondes, you think of those idea-tastic girls. The subject of this discussion is the blonde. It's a subject that, well, it's a subject that you can't help but think about when you see a blonde.

Martin Relates Value of Camellia Trial

Something new has been added: When this statement is made there is usually something said about it, either good or bad. In this case, it is entirely true. The trees now are in such a thrifty, but healthy, manner. I'm not sure the person who is speaking can do it justice. The smell is exquisite - it's a combination of loveliness divine and just gorgeous - and even the unacademic student has learned by experience to say, "Yes, Mary, that camellia trail is pretty near all right."

On a campus as small as this, there should still be some beautiful place where one can go for solitude. This is the best place this is the best place to look for beauty. When your lessons and other worries (which are even more important) are playing tricks with your brain too frequently, try the building up of a life of living, a walk into a spot of nature such as our new camellia trail will ease that pain quicker and more easily than any Doctor's prescription ever formulated.

Perhaps, also, you would like to entertain "Someone" by showing him the spots of interest on the campus. It isn't the buildings or material things that attract particular interests, but there are several spots of nature that are not full of good in their hearts.

One can travel over the United States and find beautiful campuses, sprawling for miles even. What is one of the main things that attracts you personally, perhaps? The list of "dateless" girls she doesn't include MADGE WILLIAMS. She has really been stepping out on campus with guy named Bob.

Now that the Sports Calendars have been distributed for winter Quarter you all know the date of the first Rat Day—January 20. It's a day when the women in your large group will be present. In fact, almost everyone who is interested in sports will be present. This is the only day that the Sports Club will be open in the morning to allow the women and men to check on their practices. The time is set for 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon.

Revision of the Constitution

The constitution was revised last year and some changes were made. One of these changes was that a member of the Sports Club must be a member of at least two teams in order to be eligible for the award. This has been in effect for a year and it has worked well. If you want to join the Sports Club, you must be a member of at least two teams.

Solving Problems

There are several problems that have been brought up by the members of the Sports Club. The first problem is with the number of members who are not attending practices. It has been reported that some of the members are missing practices because they are not interested in playing. This is a problem because it affects the team as a whole.

The second problem is with the number of girls who are not playing basketball. It has been reported that some of the girls are not interested in basketball and are not playing. This is a problem because it affects the team as a whole.

The third problem is with the number of girls who are not playing tennis. It has been reported that some of the girls are not interested in tennis and are not playing. This is a problem because it affects the team as a whole.

The fourth problem is with the number of girls who are not playing baseball. It has been reported that some of the girls are not interested in baseball and are not playing. This is a problem because it affects the team as a whole.

Wide Selection Of Books Added To Library Lists

Miss Lilian Patterson, librarian, has decided the names of 147 new books that have been added to our college library since the beginning of the quarter. These books have been numbered and are now available for students.

Some of the books that have been added are Anna Shaw, Toward Democratic Living at Menlo, Basic aims for English instruction, Introduction to American literature, Best American Short Stories of 1944, History of Rome, American Character, The World of Washington Irving, Modern French Painting, The Indian Problem, Radio Production Directing, The Round Table, A History of Science, What's On Your Desk, etc. Many of these books are in popular demand and consideration should be given to the purchase of copies for the library.

University Plans One Day Course On Small Fruits

A one-day short course to acquaint growers with problems involved in producing and marketing small fruits will be offered January 31 by the department of horticulture of the University of Georgia. R. L. Keener, professor of horticulture, announced the week.

Specialists from the College of Agriculture, the experiment stations and the Agricultural Extension Service will take part in the program along with experienced growers of small fruits. Mr. Keener said the course will be held on the college campus. "The round table discussions should prove very helpful to those interested in these crops," the professor pointed out. "Problems such as variety adaptability, propagation, soils, fertilizers, cultivation, insect and disease control, yields and marketing will be discussed." Discussion subjects will include blueberries, brambles, grapes and muscadines and the marketing of small fruits.

Appearing on the program will be Dr. T. H. McLellan, head of the horticulture department; George H. Flowers, horticulturist of the Extension Service; Otis Woolard and W. T. Brightwell, horticulturists, Coastal Plains Experiment Station; Dr. H. F. Stuckey, director, and F. F. Cowart, horticulturist, Georgia Experiment station and Mr. Keener.

Growers appearing on the program will include F. L. Brubah, Boston; Eugene Shiver, Cairo; D. A. Russell, Avondale Estates; Raymond Stapleton, Elberton; Dr. W. H. Bowne, Rome, and Aubrey Owen, Gay.
