Juniors Sponsor Dance Tonight

Sponsored by the Junior Class, G. S. W. C., the junior dance this year will be held in the college dining hall from eight o'clock until twelve o'clock. The dance, with the theme "Christmas," will be on sale. Boys from Emory Junior College and Valdosta have been invited. Also, W. C. G. girls have invited dates from out of town.

Membership for the junior dance will be restricted to those on the dance committee. The dance fee is $5.00 per couple, with $2.50 of this particular being added to the sophomore council with the remainder going to fund the dance. Students who do not appear on the list and wish to purchase tickets may be able to do so at the door.

Canopy Adds Staff Members

As the first issue of the 1948-49 Campus Canopy goes to press, several additions have been made to the staff.

Replacing Miss Virginia Heisler as Ad Sponsor is Miss Patricia Hoon, who has been added to the staff. Miss Hoon will be in charge of the dance committee and the publicity.

Admission to the dance will be $3.00 for single tickets and $3.50 for couples. Proceeds will help finance Junior-Senior Prorels, a formal affair to be held in the spring.

Freshmen Follow Sisters To W. C.

Little sisters, big sisters, heart sisters, hood sisters, and adopted little sisters are being chosen this year. Those on the list who have not been chosen will remain on the list for a second year. The selection process is being handled by the sophomore council.

Mims, Mann Are Elected By "Y"

Elections held at the YWCA cabinet meeting Monday night, September 27, resulted in the election of Miss Mildred Blassingame as "Y" treasurer and Miss Polly Mann as social chairman. Miss Blassingame, who has been an active member of the "Y" staff for three years, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Blassingame of Valdosta.

Ten Years Ago In The Canopy

By MARGARET SMITH

Life went on ten years ago much as it does today. For instance: Black checked raincoats "spell- ed" the commencement of collegiate fashions.

The Freshmen were treated in the movie, "Alipers" at the Ritz Theater. Another weekend has seen the college truck which was driven at the jolting rate of ten miles an hour.

Another Freshman, having been at school for a week, asked the monitor if it was permissible to give a glass of water to a thirsty neighbor—you might like him!

You've been hearing about S.G.A. for two years. In your view, do you think it is the most interesting, and some of the most well adjusted students are those who achieve balance between study, play, and campus participation. You need not fear that you have a "friend.

Something Inexpensive

There was a squib in a small-town newspaper not long ago that went: "Get acquainted with your neighbor—your neighbor may be your next-door neighbor!"

Despite the touch of sarcasm injected into it, that little statement carries much truth. Of course it apply to us here we must change the pronoun to "her."

Too many of us do not go out of our way to get to know people. We very narrowly let the first impression of a person rule what we think about her and nearly always there is a rude awakening when we get to know the person. People are so friendly and so frank that they appear to be on first acquaintance. It is comparable to books and their covers. Some of the most dully bound ones prove to be the most interesting, and some of the most gaily covered ones, the most sad.

Would logically be the time to ask, "Do you know your neighbor?"

If you remember the Student Handbook you may recall a little passage that says, "Friendliness is the key to success at "WC."

And it doesn't cost a cent.

There's Time For Everything

Strange as it may seem, the majority of entering college students feel that they must make a decided choice between studying and participation in campus activities. It takes them rather a long time to realize that it is not possible to have both. It is often necessary to make a choice. For study, for eating, for sleeping, and campus affairs. When approached by someone asking their help in some extra-curricular activity, they will answer, "Oh, I'd like to help you, but I've decided to study this year."

Studying is a very definite part of college life, and at GSVC good students have little regard for those who feel that it is not. Nevertheless, it is a part of the college experience and most well adjusted students are those who achieve balance between study, play, and campus participation. You need not fear that you sacrifice one at the expense of the others, and if you follow the advice given in helping to make our social and recreational activities a success.

For a college of its size, GSVC offers you a remarkably large number of social, cultural, and recreational activities. The YWCA will welcome you to its many religious services. The Student Government Association's democratic efforts will be in vain. Without a friendly spirit of cooperation from every one of you, the Student Government Association's democratic efforts will be in vain.

Although the various departmental clubs are not immediately open to Freshmen, you will be able to join them later on, and in the meantime there are plenty of others which are.

Do your part to make all of our campus activities of this year a success. We not only want your help, we want to help you!

Mothballs In October

Parson, but I do detect a faint odor of mothballs. asked my roommate, peering over my shoulder at the pile of paper in my typewriter.

"Just trying to give a new look to an old subject," I explained.

"Well, there's nothing you can do to subject it to keep it from looking molded. It's the most harmless thing in the world. I'm not worried about there ever being a war! Put it back where you found it!!"

Undaunted, I pumped up my deflated ego and glared at her.

Then I glared at the typewriter. Then I changed the subject.

... A deflated ego re-defined.

She was right. There really wasn't anything left to say about (I'm almost afraid to mention it for fear you'll read no further) School Spirit that hasn't been summed up, scaled, and analyzed. And yet, written out as it is, it's still a number one item in "Getting The Most Out Of College."

Having school spirit and not having school spirit is like eating eggs with salt and eating eggs without salt. You know your neighbor? 'To know people. We very narrowly let the first impression of a person rule what we think about her and nearly always there is a rude awakening when we get to know the person. People are so friendly and so frank that they appear to be on first acquaintance. It is comparable to books and their covers. WATERS

True Happiness

Think about the happiness you ever had. Was it at the last dance, the Mason's picnic with the folks, the game of bridge you managed to win by the barest margin. Just where was it? Maybe we all know what it's like to have it, but we all have in college life. If you have it, there's nothing that comes from it; if you don't, then the four years are mighty tasteless.

School spirit doesn't mean jumping up and singing the school song, or wearing orange or red or blue. But it does mean taking part. It does mean talking-up the school. It does mean doing all the things that are listed in your Handbook under "Traditions."

It's a tradition.

"O.K.," I said to my roommate (who plays Editor in her spare time), "Here it is," and maybe it doesn't look originally, but Boy! does it have spirit!

MAID OF COTTON CONTEST IS--ANNOUNCED BY COUNCIL

MI-MEMPHIS, Tenn. — (Special) — Here's something you'll strictly cotton to, college citizens. The 1949 Maid of Cotton contest is underway, according to the National Cotton Council, with more excitement and rewards attached to the title than ever before.

All this, and moore, too, awaits the 49 celebrity of the Cotton Belt: a fabulous all-cotton collection of costumes; a six-months' tour including state and national capitals and fashion markets; introductions to top movie stars in Hollywood and to prominent people from coast to coast — the education of a lifetime, packed with fun.

Any single girl between the ages of 19 and 25, born in a cotton-producing state, is eligible to enter.

By no means a beauty contest alone, the Maid of Cotton contest places equal emphasis on background, personality, and appearance.

Early in January more than twenty finalists will be called to Memphis to appear before the seven-member board of judges. The board, headed by a nationally-known chairman, includes outstanding leaders of the cotton industry and representatives from each of the sponsoring organizations — the National Cotton Council, the Memphis Cotton Carnival, and the cotton exchanges of New York, New Orleans, and Memphis.

The Maid of Cotton will leave for New York shortly before her selection, where she spends a wonderful month in preparation for the tour to come. She meets more than thirty leading fashion designers, who present her with originals for her travel and publicity wardrobe.

In addition to the one hundred and eighty-one freshmen, GSWC has added seven transfer students to its roster.

The four-month program begins December 10. Application forms may be obtained by addressing requests to the National Cotton Council, P. O. Box 18, Memphis 1, Tennessee.

Editor's Note: Anyone interested in entering the contest or in obtaining further information about it may do so in Room 301 Senior Hall.

CLOSING DATES FOR ENTRIES WILL BE DEC. 10.

Seven Transfer To G. S. W. C.

In addition to the one hundred and eighty-one freshmen, GSWC has added seven transfer students to its roster.

The sophomore class is Miss Amanda Jean Hancock, a transfer from South Georgia, in Douglas.

Joining the juniors are Misses Iris Moore and Miriam Girtman, both from South Georgia, and Miss Mary Linda Cross, from Mars Hall, North Carolina.

Miss Jurelle Girtman has transferred from Belhaven College in Jackson, Mississippi. She is a member of the senior class. Also in the senior class is Miss Sarah White Black, transferred from Harding College, Arkansas.
