Gothard, Ford, Joiner, Bryant, Jackson Elected To Head YWCA

Last Program To Be Presented February 21

TRIO, an evening of short plays combining Shavian satire and American and significant American drama, will be presented by Touring Players, Inc., February 21, at the Valdosta High School auditorium, the 13th annual rite and its grim preview of the most exciting play ever staged by the group, said its president, Alvie Buskin.

First of the group is J. M. Barrie's 'The Old Lady Shows Her Medals,' whose adaptation by Ellen Viottet adapted from a story by Shaw and directed by Sir Cedric Hardwick, is one of the late George Bernard Shaw's most interesting and informative programs presented at a London theater, with emphasis on the Russian and Communist influence on the government and people. Miss Pitzer then gave the members the opportunity to discuss the play and its deviation from history.

The second play presented, 'To Be Presented,' is a London character whose career was told by Miss Pitzer. Miss Pitzer is a graduate of Emory University and majored in accounting. He is now located in Valdosta, where he is employed in public accounting in the office of Fred Walker.

To fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Florence Mullins, Miss Nicky Melton of Winter Garden, Florida, has been appointed resident nurse. Miss Melton is a registered nurse, and received training at the University of Texas and Brookhollow Hospital, Austin, Texas. She has taken post-graduate training at Jersey City Maternity Hospital and her immediate former position has been as a staff member of Orange General Hospital, Orlando, Florida, where she has been a clinical instructor in the training program.

Hackett and "Cope" are running a heated debate in speech class. "I will take the affirmative one," said Long.

As one of the Senior Hall monitor walking rooms she watched the lights and looked everywhere for the occupants. She was quite surprised when she found a parked car.

The incoming officers of the YWCA are shown above. They are: Maitland Joiner, associate vice-president; Ann Bryant, secretary; Doris Gothard, president; Bettye Jackson, treasurer; Helen Grace Ford, vice-president; Miss Dorothy Ford, secretary; Miss Bettye Jackson, treasurer; Miss Dorothy Ford, secretary; Miss Bettye Jackson, treasurer; Helen Grace Ford, vice-president. During the recent election for officers of the YWCA the following Christian Association of Valdosta State College Miss Doris Gothard was elected president, Miss Helen Grace Ford, vice-president, Miss Bettye Jackson, treasurer.

Three additions to the faculty and staff of the college have occurred during Winter Quarter.

Mrs. Vernon McFae, Jr., Valdosta, has been named instructor in speech to assist Miss Louise Sawyer in the work of the department. Mrs. McFae is a graduate of the college; following her graduation, she returned to the college as secretary to the president and assistant in speech, where she served until 1948.

Luther M. Cole, Jr., Valdosta, has been appointed instructor in Accounting. Mr. Cole is a graduate of Emory University, where he majored in Accounting. He is now located in Valdosta, where he is employed in public accounting in the office of Fred Walker.

Around and About
Mid term has come again, and the unbearable reports have been sent home. Too many people have the idea that being sent out is near to the case—having these grades sent home is actually being sent home. Too many people have been sent home. Too many people seem very interested in that sport. There is no reason for VBC not to have as active a sports program as other schools. The paper of another school which has recently been mentioned has called upon to sing who knows what above the Don Cossacks is the fact that they sing everything a cappella. The conductor, employing a sense of perfect pitch, walks among his group prior to each performance, and this is demonstrated extreme vocal range. At the same time it is a fact that the Don Cossacks never cease to amaze the audience of the current Valdosta College Concert Association series. At the end of the program the audience of the current Valdosta College Concert Association series. At the end of the program, the audience of the current Valdosta College Concert Association series.

One day two angels met outside the city gate and soon were talking. One angel said that he had been given the hardest job a guardian angel could be given and that was that of trying to be guardian of a fallen man. He told the other angel that this was a great task and that he was working hard. He also hastened to add that it was because he was such a wonderful guardian angel that he had been assigned this difficult task. This naturally satisfied the other angel, for if the first one could not resist saying that he had been a guardian over many sinners but that his new task was being guardian of a good saint. And of course, according to the new assignment the angel was given more subtlety than any other task. At this they began to argue and seeing that this would settle nothing, they began to fight with fists and wings.

An archangel came up and decided that something must be done. He then told them that since bey each bought their own task was the harder they must swap. He then went away but not before he heard them complaining bitterly about the new tasks they had been assigned.

It is so hard for us to be content and not complain about the things we must do, whether it is studying for tests or trying to make life more pleasant for those around us.

Contentment is something that we have to WANT first and strive for second. Then we can do the things we want with the greatest happiness.

DAME

A Comparison

The people of America are, in many ways, very fortunate. They are the proud possessors of the highest standard of living in the world, a major share of the modern conveniences and far more automobiles than the rest of the world. They are also possessors of the world's most awesome dream to fulfill the automobile.

According to the Safety Council, sometime December the millionth person to be killed in traffic accidents will lose his life. But he is not alone. In a few months he will be the millionth man killed in defense of our country. According to the War Department, he will be killed in Korea this spring.

There is, however, a slight difference in the time to accomplish these ends. The people killed on our highways have been killed since 1919, while on the other side the first to fall in defense of our country was the Minuteman in 1775.

There is nothing to feel smug about. It is really pitiful. This needless slaughter. What is the cause of it all? The main reason is that there are too many cracks on the wheel. It would be different if they were the only ones hurt. But are they? No. It's the elderly gentleman for whom the world has moved too fast, or the couple out peacefully passing the day away. It's the poor farmer in the broken down jalopy with eight kids and two hampers of beans whose only fault is that he doesn't move fast enough, or can't get out of the way sometimes, or must do, as a result, corrupt politics forget the roads in their lust for power.

But, in the whole, it's "Hot rod", the gent who passes on curves, hills and in poorest visibility; the one who speeds crazily on slick roads and unsafe pavement. There ought to be a law against such stupidity. If wars were fought with the same stupidity, the death toll would have been fifteen million this spring. Compared to our traffic, was are sane.

The American public should wake up, stop, and take inventory of themselves. It's later than we think.
