Dr. Wendell Brown of Oglethorpe University will be the speaker. The members of the Honor Societies will be the honored guests of the day, and will in the form of dinner for the evening.

On the following Saturday night, May 2, the PINE CONE will sponsor a formal dance in honor of the May Court.

Home Ec Students Attend Convention

Several members of the V. S. C. Home Economics Club attended the annual convention of the Georgia Home Economics Association in Atlanta last week. The delegates spent a couple of days at the meetings and have been back with a wealth of ideas for their own club.

One of the main highlights of the meeting was the election of officers. Robbie Jobe, a junior at V. S. C., was elected to fill the office of secretary of the state organization.

The delegates from V. S. C. were Robbie Jobe, Davis Godwin, Betty English, Sally King, Ann Murdock, Mary Singletary, Mary Murdock, Phyllis Pier Valente, Mrs. Jenkins, and Miss Weems.

Alumni Column

Do you wonder at times about the whereabouts of the alumni students and what they are doing? If you do, you aren't by yourself.

If you have any such information—engagements, weddings—why not turn them in to the editor? Someone else might be interested too.

Other Officers To Be Elected Soon

The class presidents for the coming year were selected by the student body, Monday, April 18. They were: Miss Luceil Bauer (from each of the three classes, so there were no run off's)

The other officers, the vice presidents, the secretary-treasurer, will be elected soon.

Student Council Appoints Ex-Officio Members

At their last meeting the Student Council appointed the following to be ex-officio members of the Student Council: Mrs. Billy Pendleton (V. S. C. auditorium). Alay Day will be held on Tuesday, April 21. The program will be in the V. S. C. auditorium. Dr. Wendell Brown of Oglethorpe University will be the speaker. The members of the Honor Societies will be the honored guests of the day, and will be in the form of dinner for the evening.

On the following Saturday night, May 2, the PINE CONE will sponsor a formal dance in honor of the May Court.

Glee Club To Present Concert

The Glee Club of V. S. C. will give their first concert, April 26, in the V. S. C. auditorium.

Those featured on the program will be the Serenaders, Sonny Welch, Barbara Hill, Bette Jackson, Becky Culberth and Peggy Phelan.

The members of the Glee Club and the soloists have given much thought to the preparation of this program, so why not show your appreciation by attending their first concert?

Weekend Of 28th Set As Retreat

It's nearly here! In fact, it's only two weeks off—and then a glorious week-end of planning for next year, as well as spending time sunbathing, swimming, and boating. The members of the Student Council, the "Y" Cabinet, and the Sports Council will spend the week-end of the 28th at Twin Lakes planning their work for next year.

VSC Student Selected As "Miss Emory"

Mild Doris Godhar, a junior from Valdosta, was selected as "Miss Emory" for the annual Emory Homecoming, Emory University at Atlanta. Miss Godhar was one of the semi-final dance events Fri. day, April 17, at a meeting of the German Club on the Emory campus.

The other finalists, all students at V. S. C., were: Je Ann McLaughlin, and Joyce Parham.
They Are Ours

Spring quarter—to everyone spring quarter probably brings to mind something different—Retreat, Alaybe Day, Frolics, Aquacade, Graduation and maybe, too, the thought of vacation. Junior and Senior classmen, the thinking of their summer vacations, that is—But not so with this year's spring quarter. This is the quarter in which the student body is most aware of the fact that it is their duty to accept this responsibility and to think enough of their abilities to give them a new sense of direction. The nominating and electing. Those students are our leaders—a leader is made by his very own choice and it has nothing to do with the teacher's being for or against you. One of the things that you must learn is that you are going to have to prove yourself in order to be a leader. You cannot have the right outlook you'll be sure to have a lot of fun.

Who's On Who

"My teacher is always picking on me and she hates me because I don't do what I should. Even when I'm doing a good grade on my test. It's almost like it has nothing to do with me."

"Maybe your main trouble is that you are defeatist. You think that things are always going to turn out for the worst."

"The student body gave it to you and you had a choice whether to take it or not. It took it, you helped your grade and if you defined to do anything else, you were going to be."

"Don't you think that perhaps you have come to the point where you have lost your self-confidence?"

"Do you feel that you are capable of doing a good job and not just to please the teacher. In fact, your goal shouldn't even be for a better grade; it should be to learn."

"You really have to do the work yourself. You can't expect the teacher to do it for you."

"I don't think that the teacher dislikes you because you didn't do your project just right. If this is the best example you can give of how the teacher picks on you, it seems like you're getting off on the wrong path."

"What I mean is that sometimes things happen without your doing anything. There was a fire in the library, for instance, and you didn't do anything."

"You may think that the teacher dislikes you because you didn't do your project just right. But this is not the case. The teacher wants to help you."

"If you go to the dance, what will you do after the dance? Will you go to the party?"

"The girls who did go were more successful because they decided that they were going to go and that they were going to have a good time."

"If you decide to go to the dance, what will you do after the dance? Will you go to the party?"

Pass The Bon Bons, Please

By BETTY WATERS

Rosalie must go on home, it’s three o’clock. I’ve just a million things to do. But we were so busy that Ronald said he might come home early tonight—that means a whole meal to cook. I’ve been cutting onions and only eating lettuce for hours but if he is coming home late, I suppose I’ll be forced to cook soup or fish stew.

Do you remember that salesman who had them at the store last week? May I have the bon bons, please?

You don’t? Well, I just must tell you all about him.

He was terribly shy for the position, or so Ronald said, about thirty-one. Everyone knew a man that young just isn’t capable. Well, that’s not important. The important thing I wanted to tell you about is that he engaged! Yes, engaged. That’s what I said. We just couldn’t believe it. Some girl was surely trying her best to take him. Those bony rice bags he calls twed trousers and enough for me, not to mention that crew cut. You know haircuts are so expensive today, Ronald just comically.

So do I, but I told him. I’d be the first to hold up those figures. I just didn’t expect this. We were surprised. People always have such appetites that it surprises me I thought I could stand it.

By the way, have you seen Lucretia Whohasit lately? May I have one bon bon, please? You have a whole store of them and she is just waiting away to nothing. I’d buy them for her if I knew she didn’t. It’s that same problem with me. But then she says that there is no one else there. She’s so cute. But that’s what Ronald says about her. Of course, I wouldn’t for the world have Lucretia know I told you this, because she’s not good enough for you’re at the club.

What’s that magazine you have there?

“Better Times” and “Poppy Patches!” I was once at the store before I have to run, I love that little picture on the cover. Ah, Ronald and I had great dreams. I was sitting there with Ronald just put his foot down when the man told him the price of the paper he held.

That was the ugliest of all about Ronald, he’s so masculine. If I had it do over I’d do the same way, I’d choose Ronald again, even if he does have a pig nose. His nose is quite becoming with his hair, don’t you think?

That was the 52nd Street bus just then. Gracious, what time is it? 5:09 I must go on home, Ronald will be furious. He’s so easily upset these days. I read the other day that peptic ulcers are just about the worst thing you can have. I told Ronald’s been working so hard, he probably has a high blood pressure full of them by now. My cousin, Roberta, has peptic ulcers and she was telling me something milk and raw eggs for months. Roberta had a terrible time.

Who is that blowing outside? So much for the weather forecast...

Coming right away, dear! I’ll have to run, there’s Ronald... I’ll have to get together and chat about the weather. Orange is quite enjoyable so. Bye now.

I’m coming, Ronald!

I Want To See Suzie

By DAME

Monday, Field, Ga., April 16, 1961

Dear John:

You really did right when you joined the Navy and not the Air Force. You have been on this trip in the heart of Dixie and it ain’t precisely the paradise you were looking at you with a steel helmet in her hand. I know you and John had the war and John, they do wear shoes. One fellow said to me, quote: "If we expect to wear shoes to protect our brains, but sometimes, how another part of the anatomy we prefer hats."

The Confederate Monument would call out the Confederate Monument again he would call out the Confederate Monument again, he would call out the Confederate Monument again, he would call out the Confederate Monument again. A couple of nights later a fellow rom VSC asked me if I’d like a date with a cute girl named Suzie. He said he knew her. How service men felt, that was a Navy man and the world we live in. I turned to run for my life. The native’s all look like you Yankees we’d never been South. The native’s all look like you Yankees we’d never been South. He was sitting there sipping suds. He said he knew how serious it was, he just turned his head away and said “her old man.” Then a fellow with a date and John get the sheriffers up.

He was seven feet tall, I bet. He left his truck on the road and came out. I got sort of scared and my heart started to thump. I was really anticipat—

TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR NEW BRIDES

An editor recently outlined the following “commandments,” as embossed by the New Letter’s editor. (1) Pay cash for your groceries, it is warming as cold cash. (2) Get up in the morning with your husband and remember a woman is only as old as she looks at breakfast. (3) Watch the gasoline gauge. (4) Keep the check book up-to-date. Successful marriages are based on the book and the check book. (5) Save money for a rainy day and you’ll have more sunny ones. (6) Don’t grumble. (7) Keep your troubles to yourself—the supply always exceeds the demand. (8) Tolerate your husband’s old friends. He has to tolerate yours. (9) Avoid overeating; don’t let friends make fun at your expense. (10) Happiness doesn’t depend on position but disposition.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

Campaign slogans of undertaker running for coroner: “I’m the last to let you down. Sign on fruit stand: “Don’t pinch me until I’m yours.” Valentine’s day delivery truck in Philadelphia is let terminated. “The Life of this Truck Is a Blind Man.” Safety motto: “Mishes have legs. Don’t let your feet go too far.” Almeda, California restaurant has this note appended to the menu: “We can’t hold you down. The price of your lunch while you’re eating.”

Slaughter, a dance of love perfunctory and homicide was performed by the VSC Dance Club on Tuesday. Dancers are left: right: Tom Stroud, Alma; Anna Marangos, Valdosta; Donald Bonner, Valdosta; Earle Poulk, Moultrie; and Marion Godwin, Valdosta.

If We Had Our Way—

There would be no 8:30 classes. Breakfast would be served in bed during weekends.

Studying would be a matter of choice.

Class attendance would not be necessary.

Dates, cute ones, would be provided for everyone, whenever wanted.

Our roommates would keep our rooms clean.

We’d get mail every day.

Square dances would be held in the library.

Jeans could be worn to meals and classes.

Holidays would be longer.

We would all live like Butch.

Things would be different!

I moved on, fast.

The first thing I hit was a hard-wire fence. It tore my uniform, but I didn’t stop. That man was still shouting and laughing like Count Dracula. I forgot my car but not my feet. John I swam two rivers and hit another fence. I must have traveled in circles for pretty near a mile. I heard a call, “Come on out.” I took off and made sure I went straight after hours I found a highway. I flagged a car and told him all about my friend being shot. He was deeply interested. Then when I mentioned Suzie, he turned his head away and said things I didn’t want to talk to and Johngot the sheriff. I forgot the sheriff on the war path.

My friend and I were there hearing ads. I turned and ran for my life. The Air Force was now in the psycho ward. Please write them that I’m not crazy. I’ve enjoyed it so much.

Show me the money! (My, how times have changed!) Seven pieces)

Have You Noticed?

How the girls have begun to look neater, now since Moody is away. The nights when announcement is made that "the checks are ready." The sun lens that have been improved.

The worried looks on the faces of the boys, due to competition from Moody. Miss Ivy's new car? The tennis courts are always filled.

How quiet Senior Hall is when certain people monitor.

What the date? Graduation isn't far off.

Call Of The Wild—

Tennis Begins

By G. W. SMITH

Winter has passed, spring has sprung; and what's more the bell has rung with the call for candidates for the men's tennis team. It's gratifying to behold the bally of boys who turned up to bounce balls of the backboard.

Wooden has turned out, and under the direction of Mr. White and Mr. Spear, the tennis team is expected to go a long way. So Bill Fox, Gene Hackett, Everett Black, Roma Sapp, and team members have turned out.

Mr. White said that a minimum of eight men are needed so all you potential tennis players come on out.
