
VSC Students Ratify Constitution

Three Boys and Four Girls Selected

Seven members of the senior class have been selected to represent Valdosta State College in the 1951 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

This selection was made by a faculty committee and was based primarily on scholarship, qualities of leadership, and participation in school activities as members of the junior and senior classes.

Luell Bacir from Hamilton, who majors in chemistry and minors in biology, plans to enter medical school next year. Her college scholastic average is 2.7. Currently she is president of the Junior Honor Society and the Dance club. She also has been a member of the Student Council and has been active in the work of the Sock and Buskin club.

JoAnne Gilmer from Valdosta, who majors in English and holds a scholastic average of 2.95, has been a member of the Student Council and has been active in the work of the Sock and Buskin club.

She is also a member of the Senior Honor Society.

Majoring in chemistry and minor in minor in biology, T. W. Hamby, Valdosta, holds a scholastic average of 2.7. Currently he is president of the Student Council and has been active in the work of the Sock and Buskin club.

Sports Council and vice-president of the Math-Science club are other students that have maintained a 2.0 scholastic average.

She is a member of the cast of the Sock and Buskin club.

Her major is sociology and she is a member of the Senior Honor Society. She also is a member of the Student Council and has been active in the work of the Sock and Buskin club.

The Cream Of The Crop

STILLER

With the annual selection of Who's Who, it has been shown once again that it does take all work and no play to be better than average in academic work.

The basic requirement in this selection is that the student hold, at least a B average. It takes more than this average; these students must have a willingness to work.

It is the superlative student who passes these rigid tests. Those who were chosen to represent Valdosta State College in the Who's Who Among Students list have taken an active part in student activities.

The Campus Canopy

It's Up To The Students Now!

One of the main grievances of Valdosta State College has been that there has been no central governing body for the entire student body. And perhaps it has been a great need here on this campus.

The student body has been presented a constitution for a Student Government, for approval. At this writing, it is not known whether or not this constitution will be approved.

The point is, the student body has been offered what it has been crying for. As was announced, this constitution was thoroughly discussed by a group made up of student representatives and faculty members. The finished product has been presented to you, the student body, only after much cooperation and effort.

It is the superlative student who passes these rigid tests. Those who were chosen to represent Valdosta State College in the Who's Who Among Students list have taken an active part in student activities.

The Framework has been set up for a Student Government Association for the entire student body.

It is up to every member of the student body to cooperate, and put into action what one may call a truly democratic Student Government Association.

The Honor Pledge

"I, the undersigned, signify that I have read the Rules and By-Laws of the Honor System and hereby accept the entire Honor System. My support is given in the hope that this system will operate to the benefit of everyone involved."

APPENDIX

The Fateful Trek Of V. S. C. Co-eds

Bravely, the long trek is started. Window-rattling wind whispers in the ears of each. The day is wonderful.

Bill, Bob, or Jack—please fill in—loves the sun and the adventure of the day is not completely over. The sun is shining, the sky is blue, but do not worry about anything so much. It's over.

Bob Lane, Quitman—I am here because I believe that college can give me a part of the education I need; however, I enjoy just being here.

Mac Roberts, Nashville—I am here to build up a background for a job in education.

Gerry Hutchinson, Valdosta—Because you can prepare yourself for a better future of life in the years to come. Education plays an important part in this.

FRED WHEELER, ALMA—I am going to college to prepare better to meet the responsibilities of life.

JIMMY DAVIS, MIAMI—I am here to get a major in business administration.

JEAN STEWART, ALBANY—I came to college to get a higher education as well as for a broader outlook on life.

Peggy Jones, Uvalda—I came here for a college degree so that I might build up a better tomorrow with kinder, gentler times coming on.

BANKY GREEN, VALDOSTA—Because I want to further my education. I want to make a good start in life, with a good education.

J. GENTRY, HINESVILLE—So that I may be more fully prepared to enter teachers training and to associate with more and different types of people.

MARY CARTER, LAKE PARK—In order to further my field of knowledge. I think college life is great. Glad to be here.

LILA CARL JONES, QUITMAN—I am in college because I want to teach school in the Andalusia, Alabama, area.

BILL ROBERTS, VALDOSTA—In college to gain a broader education, in all the aspects of life.

SAM TODD, VALDOSTA—In college for an education and I don't intend to let books interfere with it.

GARMON JOINER—I am in college to get an education and I hope to teach someday.

MARVIN DENNIS, VALDOSTA—One of the reasons that I am in college is to learn how to work. The main reason is that I want to get a job that the income is high.

BARBARA ANA RAY, NASHVILLE—The reason I came to college is because it is a step toward a teaching career, plus the opportunity to study.

VIOLET BREEDON, NASHVILLE—The main reason I came to college was to further my education. It is hard to get a good job unless you have a college education.

BARBARA Davenport, Atlanta—I came to college to get a major in Spanish and also to learn to be as independent as I can.

The Cream Of The Crop

RUFUS

Looks as if Dan Cupid is on V. S. C. campus to stay. At least there were many young people on the campus this week—Jackie Sikles and Susan Ulls, Jo Delcie & Billie Cleet seem to prefer the Tech Homecoming, though. Speaking of Homecoming—Jackie Massett went all the way to Athens for the Vanderbilt Homecoming.

After lifting a coat of dust off some old issues of the Campus Canopy we found that this is what was written some time back:

"We get a lot of general jargon, very little human interest."

"We have constructive weeks, but as a result, there is no momentum that way.

"The Junior class dance, however, seemed to be the big hurdle in determining whether it would be proper to say that V. S. C. is in the midst of evolution, but certainly there are some changes taking place.

"It is up to the students to change the unusual amount of studying hich is manifest in the halls of the ad building by underclassmen. It is quite appalling to see these young people pining away over Hamo and Virgil, backography, and other such evils. Oh well, everybody says the younger generation is going to be the dogs anyway.

"Another change around school is the enormous number of window-shattering loogies. No doubt, '51 will be known as the year of the "Great Awakening at V. S. C." If things get much worse I'm going to be called on to refer to it as "The Year of the Billion Loogies.""

There are a few things that you should never forget when you and only is taking you to a movie.

You of course want to be ready when he gets there, which will probably be about seven-thirty. So the thing for you to do is start getting dressed about seventeen-thirty. This will give you plenty of time if you don't drag around too much.

Then to really impress him when he gets there, go running out to meet him, asking your friends to do the driving. This will make all the neighbors look out their windows and they will get a glimpse of the handsome fellow if he gets into the light.

Then to really have fun when you get started, ask him to let you do the driving. This will be a lot more fun if you have just learned to drive. Of course you are going to want to talk to him on the way and if you can't be heard above the noise of the car (which is probably one of the earlier models) just turn the wheel loose and make signs with your hands. He will be certain to understand.

While he is buying the tickets you can go into the lobby and get something to eat. Never tell him—just wait till he gets there and let him pay for it. It is much simpler and won't be embarrassing.

Try to get a seat about the middle of the theater where you can see better. If you have worn blue jeans, prop your feet on the seat in front of you. If someone is sitting there, ask them to please move over a little and can you put your feet over their shoulder. If you can begin to enjoy the popcorn you bought in the lobby. Try to eat it as fast as you can get your hands on it, it is much simpler and won't be embarrassing.

The best way to show the boy you had a good time is to tell him so and give him a resounding smack—on the forehead of course—because that is the method all boys like best.

After this treatment, you should be the most popular girl in your school (among old women and men and should have many and various dates because the same one never comes back for the second date!!)

If you go somewhere after the movie, try to look out for something like chicken or steak. Better if you order something like them, don't accept. He will like you better if you ordered something like chicken or steak.

When you start home, a wonderful way to let your girl friends know that you have been out is to blow the horn loudly as you pass their houses.

So the thing for you to do is start getting dressed about seventeen-thirty. This will give you plenty of time if you don't drag around too much.
Study!!? Are You Kiddin? Are you having to study very much? This is a very familiar question which we all have been asked by the Freshmen who have fallen suddenly and blissfully depressed, who has his or her nose stuck in a book, trying very hard to learn why the partial pressure of each gas in a mixture is the same fractional part of the total pressure of the mixture as the volume which the gas would occupy—when measured at the total pressure—is of the volume of the mixture temperature remaining constant. QUITE simple to understand, isn't it? Why not walk up to some Freshman sometime and ask him if he is studying very much? The response will be something along the lines of: "Why are creatures like you studying?" Then you'll have to change your direction. The poor guy will probably be in deep thought and voice in your local boards office.

General Hershey stressed the importance of all eligible students taking the test, and indicated that those who do not have test score results in their cover sheets may continue to communicate with their local boards on this subject. Application blanks for the December 13, 1951 test must be postmarked Monday, November 5, 1951. An application for the test must be on file at any local board office.

To be eligible to apply for the Selective Service College deferment plan a student is either a satisfactory score (70) on the tho Selective Service College Qualification Tests. Additional information on the Selective Service College Qualification Tests is available on your campus from the Selective Service office. Students whose academic year will end in January 1952, General Hershey stressed the importance of all eligible students taking the test, and indicated that those who do not have test score results in their cover sheets may continue to communicate with their local boards on this subject. Application blanks for the December 13, 1951 test must be postmarked Monday, November 5, 1951. An application for the test must be on file at any local board office.
