Valdosta State To Be Host For Conference
M.Y.F. Sub-District Leaders To Be Here

January 22-24 is to be an important weekend for the sub-district leaders of the General M.Y.F. Conference of the Methodist Church. The leaders are to make their plans for the coming year on the campus of Valdosta State College.

Two young people from each of the conferences Sub-Districts and a leader will be present at this important mid-winter meeting where there will be fun, recreation, worship, study, work, and wonderful Christian fellowship. This conference is expected for 1954 by a special emphasis on the Youth. There will be workshops for leaders in all program areas. Special attention will be given to the Cub Project. The Cuba Project will be one of the main features of the conference.

Registration for the conference will be held in the Administration Building on Friday afternoon, January 22. The hundred and fifty delegates to the conference will be housed in the dormitories of the Main Campus and the Valdosta Campus of Valdosta State College. They will eat their meals in the Dairy Production Building. Rev. Roy J. Bond, Executive Secretary of Valdosta Conference will be in charge of the Conference.

New Students

Thirty-seven new students were enrolled for the winter quarter at V.S.C. In all, 37 left. Three of these graduated.

A hearty welcome is extended to these new dormitory students, Esther Camille Lyons, Anne Kilgore Jones, Carolyn Whitfield, John Corley. Misses Dawn Bowman, Mrs. Dean B. Davis, Ben Wilbrick, Merle S. Hamlin, and Mrs. Charles E. Case.

A big welcome also to the new town and community students.

You Are Needed

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis faces a great problem. The Foundation expects to shoulder the heaviest financial burden in its history. The reason for this is that the policy of the Foundation is to provide more gamma globulin in 1954 to combat poliomyelitis. To support this financial burden the public and citizens of our country are being called upon for their support. Everyone who has time, quarter, or dollar that is given will be used to fight against infantile paralysis (Continued on page 4).

Clare was reminded that it was her time to sell cokes at the basketball game Wednesday night. After some discussion of the expense of the cheerleader uniforms, Sue Bridgess moved that the S.G.A. pay for the letters which would cost approximately $15.00. This motion was unanimously carried.

Earl was asked to see about getting a date for a formal dance sometime in this quarter. He volunteered to attend the annual S.G.A. dinner and dance to be held April 26. The motion was seconded and carried.

V. L. Scott then selected a committee of Claire Wiggins, Charlotte Hardaway, Sue Bridgess and Jane Kean to begin plans for the homecoming dance to be held the first weekend in May.
Have you taken time to go see them? They are beautiful. I am sure you wish to take the time to send your suggestions to us in the form of a letter or by conversation. We have only limited experience, and we would place their criticism in a letter and mail it to us, we would appreciate it. These are going to be between one and two hundred Methodist young people on our campus on the week-end of January 22nd.

No, it is not a Marsian in the moonlight. It is Marilyn Monroe in the moonlight. The Silver Chalice, beautifully written and convincingly realistic, is proving to be one of the greatest of religious novels.

No words are needed as one looks at the hundreds of flowers that seem to think, red and lavender blossoms. Each blossom speaks for itself with beauty without description.

There are stones about kings and men in other countries. There should be one written about an editor and a newspaper staff who try to publish a newspaper with rare style among present-day writers, straightforwardness being a virtue of the past, seemingly. Mr. Costain's style is based upon perhaps the greatest of themes. However, this colorful and descriptive novel is unmistakably different from other contemporary religious works; it is not marred by extraneous detail and by obscurity. This work is no doubt the best example of Mr. Costain's straightforward style, a story that is interesting from the very beginning.
CAMPUS CAPERS

Something to behold! A smile on the face of a blond, blue-eyed Sophomore when she walked into the Home Ec. Art Club meeting late and spied an unexpected guest there! The disinterested looks of the faces of students in Mr. McCoy's accounting class when he announced that he would be out of town on Monday and they would have to take a "cut".

The "sawed-off look" that has come over Russell Friar since "Killy" moved up to the coveted ranks of "Who's Who" in American Colleges and Universities, perhaps he highMt honor bestowed upon Miss Kirby's belief in utilizing educational opportunities found prrcssion in her statement that "pressed simply: "To me, education is not only that which is obtained from an academic standpoint..."

Education Meeting

The Education Club held what proved to be one of its most interesting meetings on January 7, at the House-in-the-Woods. Miss Kirby, President of the Chaper Club, and President of the Young Women's Christian Association of Valdosta. She believes that "a college education is essential in broadening a person's mind, so that future problems may be more intelligently and successfully." From a personal standpoint, she says, "A person who can talk to others, with sincerity, is usually the good personality." In order to become a well-rounded personality, as he certainly is, in our own opinion, he states that one must practice teaching fall quarter, give the program, and think as you feel, and especially to make an effort to know not only yourself, but also to be yourself. Sincerity is therefore the basis of a good personality.

A philosophy of "peace of mind—of happiness" is Mr. Ross. He thinks that because of these two elements, happiness are assured when people make "efforts to weigh what is important." This is the reason why we meet here to develop a personality based upon a working philosophy of selflessness and understanding.

This week the members of the Fdu Fortunae had cause to be both glad and sad. The former was brought about when, during the regular meeting, a Mr. Jimmy Wall, formerly of the University of Alabama, now a field secretary for the Theta Chi Fraternity enlightened the members as to how they might affiliate with one of the top ten fraternities of the country.

For sometime the Fili's have been probing and inquiring with the different fraternities as to how they may affiliate. Thus far representatives have talked to them from the Tau Kappa Epsilon frat., Sigma Alpha Epsilon frat., and Theta Chi. We'll have a national fraternity on the campus of V.S.C. yet.

The cause for sadness was brought about when it was learned that Babs Threlk, the fraternity sponsor, will be away this quarter pracitce teaching. A going away party was given for Babs at the Copeland's Shelter, and the party followed the usual Fili tradition. More fun!

Plans for a radio show has materialized; but at what shape, during great, Ben Porter listened to a portion of the program in that was recorded, and I understand that he was standing on his head. Plans to record a little ditty that Phil Jones, Babe Yeomans, Jim Hathaway, and Elaine Leveere worked up—called "I Got A Girl!"... When you jess, please have a Coke.

\[ \text{English Club Hears Shakespeare Records} \]

The English Club held its regular meeting at the House-in-the-Woods Tuesday, January the 12. The program was centered around the life of William Shakespeare as his great plays contributed to the field of literature. Bill Almonrode, who is majoring in English and hopes to become a writer, was in charge of the program. He did a magnificent job of presenting the background for the records that were played. The discussion that followed was very manuevered. The chilling atmosphere and windy night added the background scenery for Macbeth, one of Shakespeare's great plays. Lady Macbeth seemed part of the group as they heard her in the scene cry "out damned spot, I say." Humor was added by listening to parts of The Merchant of Venice. The description of the faults and dislikes of the wooers brought laughter throughout the listening period. Through this program Shakespeare was made to live once more in the hearts and minds of those who were present. After the program, the President of the English Club, Mary Florce, held a business meeting. No important business issues were before the club so the meeting was adjourned. Delicious refreshments were served by Miss Ruth Meadows and Miss Shirley Taylor who were hostesses for the occasion.
