Dear Mr. Editor:

I noticed that the issue of the Campus Canopy that has been published recently pays little attention to the science lag. I am disappointed that I find that most students are not very (or at all) optimistic. That is why I feel that there’s a need for a crash program of specialization—especially science. It is for this reason that I wrote a letter to the editor of the Campus Canopy, V. S. C. I realize that the Campus Canopy is not the place for a detailed discussion of the problem. But it is the place, perhaps, where the respondent can be found.

Here at V. S. C. our facilities are as adequate as those found in other state schools of Georgia. There is a well-equipped laboratory for each of the specialized science classes. Students who have an intellectual faculty, they’re getting the best education they can. But the students are not for the most part enthusiastic. I find that many of them are very much interested in science. I would like to see some more of these students. Perhaps some day this will turn around.

Sincerely,

Another student

A TREE GROWS IN BROOKLYN

Reviewed by Dillard Ensley

I am not a "everyday" book for the school child, but it has sold over three million copies since it first appeared in 1943. The story takes place in Brooklyn.

The character study of the three sisters, Jan, Grace, and Sal, is excellently done. The book is written for the older reader, but it is a valuable contribution to American literature, and as it is, it is a valuable contribution to American literature.

She later studied at Yale Drama School and received a degree in one-act plays. In addition to A TREE GROWS IN BROOKLYN, she also wrote a play, SUMMER PLACE in the United States, which was five hours a week she completed her four year college course in ten years and during that time won the Avery Hopwood Award in playwriting.

Each Christmas the Education Club has a theme of its own. This year there was not the contributing of toys for needy children, but a gift to the party to a gift for a small child. These gifts were distributed by the members of the family.

Although baseball is still a few months away yet, many things are happening in the major league baseball world.

There has been speculation in the last few weeks about a third major league "the Empire League." Since the franchise shift of the Brooklyn Dodgers to Los Angeles, John McGraw, the New York Giants to San Francisco, many highly respected baseball writers have acknowledged that this franchise shift is not the only change in major league baseball. The third major league sooner or later may be incurred upon the state to finance a football team. There having a football team.

If the "Empire League" is formed, the teams most likely to play in the NFL, National Football League, Portland, Seattle, Denver, Kansas City, and Houston. Teams most likely to play in the National League are the New York Yankees, Washington, Baltimore, Cleveland, Detroit, Boston, Chicago, and St. Louis. The "Gothams," Chicago, Pittsburgh, and Philadelphia. In the American League the New York Yankees, Washington, Baltimore, Cleveland, Detroit, Boston, Chicago, and St. Louis.

WHAT IS YOUR OPINION?

WHO IS THE BEST OR WORST?

The recall of the American Medical College Association's Medical College Admissions Test was announced by Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the test for the Association of American Medical Colleges. These tests, required of applicants by almost every medical school in the country, were given twice during the current calendar year. Candidates taking the May test, however, will be able to furnish scores for institutions in early fall. Many medical colleges begin the selection of their next entering class.

Candidates may take the MCAT on Saturday, May 3, 1958, or on Tuesday, October 26, 1958, at any local center in all parts of the nation. The Association of American Medical Colleges recommends that candidates for admission to classes starting in the fall of 1959 take the May test.

The MCAT consists of tests of general scholastic ability, a test on understanding of medical subjects, and an achievement test in science. According to ETS, no special preparation other than a general science or science subject is necessary. All questions are of the objective type—Copies of the Bulletin of Information and Admission Facts from ETS and local educational testing centers, which give details of registration and administration, as well as sample tests. The examination may be taken at a local center or by pre-medical advisor, or directly from Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey. Complete applications must reach the ETS office by October 14, respectively for the May 3 and October 28 administrations.
