AS I SEE IT

I love criticism. Especially do I love criticism of The Campus Canopy for it shows that the paper is at least being read to some degree. Believe as you will of my "to the point" column last issue, it got results — the kind I had hoped for in the last issue.

Students, whether you thought my belief was harsh and radical, it is in the greatest of sincerity that I would like a band for the students, and thus far there have been fewer members agreed with me 100 per cent. As long as they have their support, I will continue to capitalize upon the weaknesses and shortcomings of the entire student body.

One particular problem on campus, which disgusts me to the utmost, is the fact that $45.00 have been spent to furnish a band, and thus far have been fewer than horns to blow; this is a problem foreign to all.

A pert, I will continue to capitalize upon the weaknesses and shortcomings of the entire student body.

By observing some of the actions at the polls of last week’s freshmen election I noted several very representative examples of mass American apathy.

Students often completely miss the vote and fail to grasp the importance of individual votes in any field of society — in college or community position.

You would vote for a candidate for President of the United States. Therefore, because he is once beside you in biology and gave you a stick of chewing gum, you will vote for him. You would vote for a candidate because he or she had the most "darling eyes" you ever saw. Would you vote for a candidate if he or she got along well with the "crowd"? Or would you vote for a person who had the qualities of leadership, even if you could see no evidence of the ability to perform capably the duties of the particular office?

If we are to uphold the strong American tradition and maintain the zest of our society, we must allow for the future, then we must realize now and the importance of being a citizen in this modern world. Let us begin here at Valdosta State College with the desired practices that will condition us into the type of adults we should be.

GAMMA MU CHAPTER MEETS OCT. 23

Group Observer "FOUNDERS DAY"

Converse Hall was the site of a traditional meeting of the Gamma Mu Chapter of Kappa Delta Rho Sorority on October 23. Other than the presence of the women and the Kappa Delta Rho pledges, the meeting itself was not very exciting.

Boys, away the Kappa’s brand marks for you in your social life. Will you stumble on end in your exciting weekend in November?

These "jocks" are on the "lair" of the motto they so socially minded they got right down to help the club by playing clock-wise.

The men known to lead the pledge class in the exciting coming event are: Jerry Covington, Jim Broxson, Ray Williams, and Joe Wright. These men were chosen to help in leading the freshmen class, while Mary and Sandra, who are newly elected cheerleaders, will be here to boost the Rebel spirit.

Being a Kappa is no easy task, says Marilyn Dixon, chairman of the group, but you have to meet certain requirements. To keep the Kappa "rollin off" is a personal task, chosen by the upperclassmen and maintained by the Kappa’s who can fulfill the duties of the position.

As long as congratulations are in order, the new Freshman Officers should be recognized. They make up a fine group and I sincerely hope that the class will support them all the way. Best of luck, freshmen, and welcome to the student body of Valdosta State College.

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THE IDEA OF V. S. C. HAVING A BAND

Sandra Jones — I think a band would really help our school — it just sets the right tone. It would improve our school spirit among V. S. C. students.

Mary Slade — It’s a good idea — they would help V. S. C. spirit.

Dr. James Hill — We’ve had a band for the last two years and the Georgia Tech basketball game the band appeared for the first time and we lost. The band spirit could easily be seen.

George Smith — It’s a good idea for school moral and I’m looking forward to their first appearance and hope that in the band have devolved themselves to a worthwhile activity.

Ellen Crevi — I think it’s a good idea that arouses more enthusiasm among the students than their own school band.

Bobby Bryan — It’s a great idea if you want all one student body behind it.

WHAT IS LIFE

What is life? — there is no definite answer agreed upon by everyone. It is things and experiences. What we do all our lives and the things we go through, while we are alive; and that is the reason that we have a chance to live. We can take life seriously and accept the knocks and bruises that come with living. If we can learn from these things, we can get better from them. And I believe that is one big happy joke swaying and giving with the knocks of life.

A person serious in life can be easily compared with a long farm bridge or a tall building that has been left no room for the sky — it will fall. The knock will come crashing to the ground in which — in the living organism is eulogized by J. W. Hale. "The student who is swelled at the same time that the bridge or the building — this is the allowance to sway and swing it would forever stand.

Just remember you stuck around you and see the finer things in life which will lead you to become like those who are making the world a better place. Remember to enjoy life — money, position, and all the other things of life.

The ability to reach an upright life, which is what you are today, is the same as the ability to reach a better life for you and for all of us in the future. Keep up your work and reach an upright life.

SOMETHING OF VALUE

By Lamar Pearson

This week my column is taking a turn toward the sporting field. Let’s call it a Support The Rebels Drive. Perhaps this is a rather interesting subject! Well! I think that it’s high time that someone did.

It’s a little early in the season and maybe I am encroaching on the subject of the game. Nevertheless, the subject of whether this year the athletics at Valdosta State have failed to serve their intended purpose.

Last year much to the dismay of the student body of Valdosta State College, over three hundred dollars worth of books were borrowed from the Library and the borrower for the most part was a thief. A person of very little character and no principles whatsoever.

Valdosta State has a fine Library, but if this sort of vandalism is allowed to continue many valuable pieces of literature will be lost and this loss is not always easily replaced.

If you think that you can fool the student body, and thus far there have been fewer than horns to blow; this is a problem foreign to all.

No one ever committed a perfect crime! You can fool the masses, but you can’t fool yourself. After all the thief in Douglas, Georgia, "Championship" was caught. A clean justice was effected and he paid very handsomely for his offense against society’s moral code.

BOOK REVIEW

"Below the Salt"

By Joe Webb

Congratulations to the Freshman Class for their good spirit in making last night’s "Below the Salt" a success. All but a few cooperated with the rules, conducted themselves well during court, and had a good time. Last year’s homecoming court was a complete failure (of which I was one) so for everyone. Those few entered a few more into rebellion and the results were shameful. However, this year’s homecoming court was better than it was last year. Therefore, "rattling" was accepted.

Congratulations should also go out to Joe Patterson, and the entire Kappa Delta Rho crew.

As long as congratulations are in order, the new Freshman Officers should be recognized. They make up a fine group and I sincerely hope that the class will support them all the way. Best of luck, freshmen, and welcome to the student body of Valdosta State College.

Plans Are Laid for Regular Vespers

Leaders of religious organizations on campus met recently and planned what promise it was to a normal and helpful and caring service of vespers programs. The theme, "I am a Christian" and how it is obtained to a very real and essential theme. Once you have read this piece of literature I am sure that you as well as I will become an ardent fan of Mr. Thomas B. Costain.

Speakers for the series are: October 23, Mrs. John Lang; October 30, Dr. Richards; November 6, Mr. Harry L. Johnson; November 13, Milton Winn; November 20, Mr. Harold Raines; November 27, Mr. Norm Alston.

How Strong is Our Government?

Gene Deal

Every college student should ask himself one question: How good and how efficient is the government under which we live? Or perhaps the question should be phrased: How good and how efficient is the government which was created to execute the will of the American people?

It depends mainly upon a person's point of view as to which wording he uses. A person who believes that the individual exists for the sake of the state would use the wording: Who appoints the President? The people.

To analyze a government in even the slightest degree one needs some standard of reference. There are many sources from which we may gather facts. One of the best is the declaration of American independence, or the American Constitution. This document was signed August 7th, 1787. It expresses the philosophy of the government which resulted from the American Revolution.

We also like to think of the U.S. as a true democracy. But is it? Not according to Rousseau (who died before the American Revolution) He states that in a democracy every citizen was his own ruler; there was no group above private interests. (Do we?) Because of human self-interests, he calls democracy a government fit only for gods, so great is the burden.

Running out monarchist, we have left only aristocracy. Judging from Houseuse England is a hereditary aristocracy. The United States is a class-aristocracy, in which the most capable men (supposedly) are elected to rule the rest for a specified period. This, say Houseuse, is the best possible form of government.

"The U.S. government was created by men, to be subservient to the people. But does this situation exist today? Hardly; many of our laws were made long ago and are outdated by the surge of progress. With the increasing population and the bureaucratic monotony of the federal government, the states are governed than at any time in our history as a nation.

Given this situation, to give the people a greater voice in the government and to make our laws more responsive to the evolutionary trends in our society sometimes seems to be the next issue of the Campaign. If you have any suggestions of your own, send them to: Campus Canopy Feature Editor, Box 319, VSC. The best suggestions will win prizes."

TKE Honors New Pledges; Aim For Successful Year

The Brothers of Tau Kappa Equation honored their new pledges Tuesday, October 14. The pledges this quarter were sworn in by: Jerry Hancock from Valdosta; John McIntyre, Freshman from Valdosta; Jerry Hancock from Valdosta; Robert Baker, a Junior from Lenox; and Lynnwood, a Senior from Valdosta.

These pledges are under full steam, making plans for their activities and fund-raising campaigns. They will be selling Xmas trees at the beginning of the season. The Brothers of TKE are extremely proud of their Pledges and feel they have them in their Fraternity.

were presented with Filli Pledge pins. Brother Jim Hathaway was announced as Pledge Master.

Another meeting was held Thursday night, October 16th, and the election of new officers was held. Those elected were: Lewis, Secretary; Jerry Hancock and will Seay, Campus Representatives. Plans were discussed for publishing the basketball programs. The first football game was also a success.

A party was held Saturday night, October 18th at Twin Lakes in honor of the pledges. Plenty of spaghetti and fun was had by all. Mr. Shelly McCoy, Filli sponsor, and Mrs. McCoy acted as chaperones.

Delta Theta Chapter Entertains Forty-five Rushes October 6th

Delta Theta chapter of Alpha Delta Pi entertained forty-five rushers October 6th at the first rush party of the fall quarter at Valdosta State College's Greek House. Entertaining plans were discussed for publishing the basketball programs. The first football game was also a success.

A party was held Saturday night, October 18th at Twin Lakes in honor of the pledges. Plenty of spaghetti and fun was had by all. Mr. Shelly McCoy, Filli sponsor, and Mrs. McCoy acted as chaperones.

The party was held at the home of Miss Gayle Luke on White Oak Drive. The predominating theme was illustrated by a large sign with multi-colored letters spelling out: "A.D. Pi Soda Shop." After the rushies had been served some of them participated in a spaghetti feast. A highlight of the evening was rushie Katie Schmidt.

Entertainment was provided by a group of the sister's sisters dressed as waiters. They performed in a skit to demonstrate to the rushies how Alpha Delta Pi services them. The only thing that will satisfy the hunger of a freshman girl. Those апя в the skit were Marie Converse, Patsy Langford, Lucille Williams, Judy Starling, and Penny Williams.

Mrs. P. M. Prescott of Atlanta, President of Alpha I Province, arrived Monday to assist the Delta Theta chapter during rush week, and remained throughout rush week. Mrs. Howard Haberstad, Field Counselor of Alpha Delta Pi, came to Valdosta to assist the chapter.

On October 9 the Delta Theta chapter entertained the rushies at a "heaven party" at the home of Mrs. B. Whitehead on Georgia Avenue.

The mow of the house were attractively decorated with various flower arrangements. On the buffet table the letters "A.D.Pi." were spelled out with pink carnations.
Coach Gary Colson Speaks About Rebel Cagers; Predicts 58-59 Chances

Head Coach Gary Colson has come to VSC with very high aspirations for the coming basketball season.

Coach Colson played in high school basketball at Dasher Bible School. After graduation he attended David Lipscomb College in Nashville, Tennessee. While at Nashville he placed his major emphasis on Physical Education and minored in History. He also holds a Master's degree from George Peabody University.

The new VSC mentor coached two years of Freshman basketball at Lipscomb College before coming to Valdosta. He is very optimistic about the Rebel's chances in the newly formed conference.

What do you say students and fellow Valdostians? Let's get out and back our basketball team to the hilt this year. This without a doubt could be VSC's year to roll!

Time Out
'By Jimmy Brosson

Many people wondered about my title in the last issue of the Canopy. It should have read just "Time Out." The title was not original. I borrowed it from Harry Bowers, former sports editor of The Albany, Ga.) Herald.

There is a lot of interest and enthusiasm about the intramural sports program at Valdosta State College. The program consists of football in the fall and softball in the spring. The participants are the three fraternities on campus, a team from the men's dormitory, and a team of day students. The three fraternities fielding teams are Filli, TKE, and Sig Ep. Each team is to play eight games each and the first place winner will receive a trophy.

In my first column, I mentioned the fact that Valdosta High School was number one in Class AAA in the state and the next Friday night Albany downed Valdosta in one of the biggest upsets of the year in high school football. People just sat and wondered how it happened. The same thing happened when the New York Yankees crumbled the pretzels in Milwaukee.

Since the ping pong tables have been moved to the porches of the student center, there have been a lot of hot games in progress. I even noticed Coach Colson firing the ball across the net early one evening.

It costs many of us more to be governed than it does to feed, shelter, and clothe ourselves.

Despite the enormous advances by medical science, the undertakers seem unworried.
