Think.. Theme of VSC Religious Emphasis Week

Prejudice, conformity, Communism and words were a few of the timely topics discussed by the Rev. Ralph McCaskill during this year's Religious Emphasis Week, January 23-26, 1961, on the Valdosta State Campus.

Religious Emphasis Week is held each year as an impetus to promote religious understanding and cooperation among all students, regardless of denomination, and is designed to bring people of extraordinary calibre to the campus to speak on and discuss some of the pressing problems facing all Christians, students, or otherwise.

This year's speaker, the Rev. Ralph McCaskill, brilliant young pastor from the First Presbyterian Church in Donalsonville, Georgia, was no exception.

Rev. McCaskill, a young man in his late twenties, is a native South Carolinian but refuses to pinpoint the exact location in South Carolina as he says, "My father was a minister and we traveled much." He attended Presbyterian College and Columbia Siminary. The Reverend plans to continue his studies and do graduate work in the field of psychology. He hopes to be able to spend next summer doing field study at a mental institution in Illinois. He is married and has two children, a boy 4, and a girl 1.

On Monday night, January 23, 1961, at 6:15 in Ashley Hall, Rev. McCaskill presented a talk of particular interest and immediacy to all college students in Georgia. He spoke on prejudice.

He began by reading the parable of the Good Samaritan to the audience. This parable, he said, "contains a burning question that demands an answer."

The lawyer in the parable sought to confuse Jesus by asking him, "Who is my neighbor?" The way in which Jesus defined a neighbor shows that this question is not merely a matter for ministers and theologians, but an integral part of the everyday life of each of us." Rev. McCaskill went on to say that, "We are familiar with the characters of the parable--the priest and the Levite who stopped, looked, listened and then passed by on the other side of the road.

We smile as we mentally picture them gathering their robes about them and trying to get away without being seen. But the smile fades when, in a more serious vein, we consider that quite often we play their part."

The Reverend pointed out that Jesus, in the parable, shifted the fundamental issue from "Who is my neighbor?" to the more profound question: "To whom am I willing to be a neighbor?"

He then said, "This is where we Georgians are truly concerned. The shifting face of the racial situation in Georgia... is faced with the same question: Whom am I going to regard as worthy of studentship in the University system."

"As far as the University system is concerned, the question has been answered by the federal courts... We may not like it, but (Continued on Page 3)

12 VSC Lovelies Seek Homecoming Throne

If you are a lover of antebellum time--hoop skirts, minted tea, and candied yams, the weekend of February 10 has been designed for you. Here at VSC, as is already a known fact, the South will once again rise to all its antebellum grandeur, as homecoming time once again rolls 'round. See the above pictures for an example.

To start the weekend, students will come to class on Friday dressed in the costume of that era. That afternoon will be the homecoming parade. There will be twenty-five units depicting life in the Old South, headed by several different bands from surrounding areas.

Friday night everyone is urged to attend the basketball game dressed as farmers of the Old South or something characterizing farm life in the Old South. The costumes will be in keeping with an old-fashioned square dance to be held immediately following the game.

Mr. Batal Addresses Students

On January 31, 1961, Mr. Batal, an authority on Arabian affairs and a representative of the Arab Information Center of New York, will be on the VSC campus. He will be in Valdosta for several days during which time he will address student and town groups.

Mr. Batal is highly qualified to speak as he has been associated with developments in the Middle East for the past 17 years. He has served several periods of extended residence in foreign countries as information specialist, researcher, and writer.

The South will rise again in a mock battle which will be carried on all day Saturday on the VSC campus. To add realism, there will be horses, Confederate uniforms.....the works. (To make sure the South wins, there will be no Yankees--unless a few brave souls have the nerve to wear the blue.)

The homecoming dance will take place on Saturday night. The homecoming queen will reign over the festivities. She will be elected from twelve candidates nominated by the student body. These candidates are: Toni Steele, Barbara Walker, Gale Thomas, Martha Sue Bragg, Beverly Bridges, Louise Wight, Jean Hooks, Lizzie Helms, Dawn Groover, Suzanne Brown, Mary Dickey, and Charlotte Durden. The Sports Club and the Math-Science Club will be in charge of decorations.

Over the weekend, a series of teas will be held for the alumni. Students are asked to cooperate to the fullest extent to help make

"Old South" at VSC a huge success.

Homecoming Preview

The year's climax is rapidly approaching as plans for the '61 Homecoming at VSC have been formulated and work is underway to make this year's Homecoming the best ever. "The Old South" has been chosen as the theme.

As of now the major issue is the election of the homecoming queen. There are twelve girls vying for the title. The entire student body will vote to determine the queen and the four runner-ups, who will make up the court. They will be presented during the Homecoming Dance.

Homecoming will get officially under way at 4 o'clock on Friday, the 10th of February, with a parade through downtown Valdosta. Doug Calhoun, parade marshal, urges all club presidents to turn in the themes to be used for their floats by February 3rd. He says that convertibles are urgently needed to complete plans for the parade.

Next on the slate is the basketball game, Friday night. The Rebels will meet Piedmont College of Demorest, Ga.

The homecoming dance will climax the activities of the celebration. This will be Saturday night, the 11th, in the gymnasium. The Math-Science Club and the Women's Athletic Association will decorate for the dance, using the homecoming theme. Music will be furnished by the band of Warren Covington, with the Tommy Dorsey band.

Something Of Value

by Lamar Pearson

There comes a time each year when VSC relents a little and celebrates. This eventful time is homecoming. With it comes sports, floats, banquets, dancing, the renewal of friendships, and good times.

Most of us manage to get the "spirit", but too many of us don't. Now you don't have to grow a beard and wear a costume to demonstrate your affinity for State, but can show a deep respect by participating in her homecoming activities.

Word has reached my ear that a full-fledged battle of the Civil War is going to be staged out by the dining hall during the anticipated weekend. That is, if horses can be secured and enough men will get uniforms (grey and blue, please!) I just wonder if General Dave (Robert E. Lee) Melton will be in charge of the "Greys" or Kelsey (Stone Wall) Kemp. Either one can dispatch the job with ease.

Joseph "Fighting Joe" Webb may head the "Blues" or perhaps it will be Robert "Baron Bob" Wagner. These men are short of stature, but they are mighty of spirit.

Ben "Pierre Gustave Toutauste Beauregard" Force and Joe "Joseph Johnson" Tomberlin should prove capable lieutenants for General Melton. Due to the dry spell Admiral Tony "Farragut" Corso will not be able to dock at Bainbridge so aquatic skirmishes are definitely out.

The gala weekend is expected as usual too much to do about nothing, and I have no doubts but what there will be much organized confusion.

President Ralph "Jeff Davis" Thaxton, and Vice-President Joe "Alex Stephens" Durrenburger have not officially declared Homecoming yet, but an executive decree is expected at any moment.

In case the band has difficulty reaching Valdosta, Tommy "John Mosby" Newsom has his Raiders ready to slip through the Union lines.

The expected menu for the banquet is blackeyed peas, sowbelly, collard greens, and corn fritters. Mint juleps will be served in Ashley Hall after the banquet.

Faculty Favorite

"They say that your personality is reflected in the car you drive. In certain cases, even your income, the place you live--can be determined by the car," stated Mr. Spencer Jarnagin, the Canopy's teacher personality for this edition. This was only one of the interesting topics Mr. Jarnagin turned his thoughts to in the course of being interviewed.

This well-known individual on the VSC campus attended high school in Thomasville, Georgia, and received his AB degree from Mercer University. Later, in 1954, he obtained his masters degree from Florida State University and is now working on still another degree.

While Mr. Jarnagin has very little spare time, when those rare moments arrive, he enjoys working with ceramics, making silver jewelry, and woodworking. The latter hobby has brought forth such pieces "that my wife couldn't find any use for", such as an end table which he put in his office to accommodate a multitude of coffee cups. He confesses that he is, but definitely, a coffee hound.

A standard question in any interview is "What kind of music do you enjoy?" Mr. Jarnagin lists popular music as his favorite and he declares that he "doesn't understand" this new type of music, but he can tolerate it.

As for art, Mr. Jarnagin tends to shy away from the abstract--"he prefers realism."

Mr. Jarnagin is acting chairman of the Education and Psychology Department. He teaches psychology and is now enjoying research into this field.

He is proud of his two children, Becky 7, and Spence 2.

After reading all this information for the interview, Mr. Jarnagin returned to his coffee and meditation.

Possible Solution?

Every year at this time everybody begins to worry about the band for the Homecoming dance. It is time that we put the selection of the Homecoming dance band on a less haphazard basis.

This is not a criticism of anyone. It is just to point out a possible solution. The school has limited funds to spend. The SGA goes to a lot of trouble to obtain the bands.

If the student activities fee was raised one dollar per quarter and the extra money was applied solely to the Homecoming dance band there should be over two thousand dollars to use. Any money left over should be held over for next year's Homecoming dance.

This, or a similar solution, and advance planning, would leave the SGA in a position to consistently obtain good bands.

Due to unseasonable colds, magnolia blossoms will not be used, and as pipe worts will be used in their stead; that is, if Dr. Nevins doesn't go Botanizing again.

One thing is for sure this year, and that is that VSC is in for an unprecedented homecoming--a homecoming of cold weather, a victorious basketball team, and most of all one of good times.

POTPOURI

John Kennedy has now been President of the United States since the early afternoon of January 20.

It must still seem a rude shock to many that the paternalistic Dwight Eisenhower is gone, replaced by this slightly stooped, bush-haired young man with a frenetic manner and a great capacity for work. A new presidential image is taking form.

Kennedy brings hope for a brighter future. He is not a maker of miracles. He represents a fresh approach at the executive level in the national government. Fortunately he has surrounded himself with capable assistants. "Let us begin anew," he said in his inaugural address. The speech was good. It was filled with ringing phrases, many reflecting his Harvard background.

It was not a great speech. Abe Lincoln didn't go to Harvard, but his second inaugural remains highest among inaugural utterances.

President Kennedy has earned begrudging respect from this correspondent mainly for three reasons: One is the fact that Adlai Stevenson's talents will be utilized in a role he likes best; two is the fact that Tennessee Williams was invited to the inauguration; and three, Harry Truman was invited to the White House for a visit after eight years' absence.

Harry, in his top hat, had a jolly time at the inauguration. It is good that young Kennedy shows Mr. Truman proper respect. He is to be admired. Truman, Franklin Roosevelt, and Theodore Roosevelt were the outstanding Americans of the first half of this century.

The 34th President, Mr. Eisenhower, gave a life of service to his country. He did not make a good President, many would agree. He might be called an anachronistic President. Mr. Eisenhower should have been a hero of the first World War, coming back to serve as President in the period that Calvin Coolidge had a tenure of office.

The man has great warmth and sincerity. When you look at him, you feel you can trust him.

In 1958 this correspondent had occasion to see him at Moody AFB here during a rain storm. His plane had been detoured here from Albany. He was flying at taxpayers' expense to go quail hunting in Thomasville. Icy rain and hurricane winds swept the runways when his plane touched down.

Wet and cold reporters went to meet him. He came down the ramp, through the rain with a wide grin and a greeting.

That grin got him the presidency twice.

In 1962, when he, a great general, came back to run for president, one Jack Kennedy was obscure Representative in the House from Massachusetts.

That election year, Kennedy defeated Cabot Lodge for the Senate post and this correspondent first became aware of him.

In 1956, he was back in the limelight in the August heat of the Democratic National Convention, waving his arms seeking the vice-president nomination.

Southerners loved him the way they were fighting the maveric Estes Kefauver from Tennessee. Kennedy lost, but started running for a higher office.

Last November, he made Touch football is now in order the White House lawn!

Long live the republic!

At the request of Mr. Lamar Pearson, the editor, we wrote once again a few trivial paragraphs under the heading--Potpourri. Our first such column was turned out in May, 1958.

If you seek more profound reading, turn immediately to the Sports Page or to the Society Section.

Speaking of Sports, our congratulations to Coach Colson and the Rebels. They are doing a splendid job on the hardwood floor. We have seen several games at remembering other years and other teams, we take pride in the accomplishment of the 1961 Rebels.

They are deserving of the support of every student at the school.

The school. There are perceptible changes here. We see new faculty members, a new annex under construction and an infirmary on the drawing board.

Most students are new to us. Many old faces are now gone. The records on the Student Center Juke Box are new and most strange in sound. The ping pong games are going with fiery intensity. There are those among the students who aspire to scholarship and a higher purpose, others just get by, some don't get by. There are those who like the girls in the dormitories. There are those who are planning for Homecoming. Some drink liquid with a high alcohol content, others prefer chocolate.

This is a part of the whole world within a world, a world in which students dwell. It is life--a subject too big to handle.

State politics have been shaken by the university incident. We see a re-aligning. In 1962 it will in all probability be the forces of Marvin Griffin against Garland Byrd with a possibility that young Erwin Mitchell, the former U.S. Representative is a third man.

At any rate "Ole Gene" Tallmadge must be restive in eternity over events in his State.

Yet it is still not ludicrous to speculate that some future governor of Georgia might have run with the mob in Athens.

The campus there is a hot bed of politics. Future governors, maybe twenty years hence, are being made there today. Glory to old Georgia!

BEARDS, BEARDS

My tag's Thelonus Monk (crazy, huh?). Man, like I dig this cool campus the most! I mean like I dig those way out beards--like one of my own people.

When I first made the scene at VSC, transferring from Greenwich University, my thoughts were like THRUG! I mean all those tuggy people with clean, come-to-my-pad-for-milk-and-cookies faces, know what I mean? Man, like I was about the most beat beat ever! I mean, like you know how it is, with no espresso in that cube library-type student center, what can a dedicated beatnik do? The fresh air is killing me! Like I didn't dig the atmosphere at all. And then just when I was like, almost at the end of my usual wits end---it happened!

These square-type dads commenced to put down with these cool-type beards--more or less. I mean, like this crazy joint has started jumping with cats that look just like me!

Ahhhh---If only my psychiatrist could see me now! Like he wouldn't believe the serenity of my way-out personality. (Frankly, dad, I wouldn't believe if either but these cool beards are really frantic!)

But there is one thing I am anticipating, like with fear, dad. They tell me this beard bit is for some type of way-out blast called Homecoming.

Now, I'll hand it to you straight man----that conventional-type name has me worried. Like what's with this "Homecoming" bit?

The Latest Word

After last week's issue of the Canopy came out, I had several "bugs" put in my ear about other engagements, forth-coming marriages, "already" marriages, and births. I hate to be accused of leaving someone's name out of the column when they deserve to be in there, so I appreciate any items of news that you can throw my way about any aspect of society.

February 4 will be the wedding date of an old VSC student, Dot Harrell. Dot is working in Atlanta and will be married there. Martha Price was seen frantically wincing about Ashley Hall the other day with a piece of net in her hand. Upon questioning what she was doing, it was discovered that she was just trying to get her bridesmaids outfitted for her wedding. Martha, who is a "quitee" from Moultrie, will become the bride of Paul Webb on Feb. 18.

Another new name to get used to on the campus is Jere Pruitt. Knowing her as Jere Vincent for years, it's a little hard to get used to Mrs. Pruitt. It seems that the stork has been pretty generous these days, too. Mr. and Mrs. Lew Farlow are now the proud parents of twin boys born on January 15.

Please turn into the Campus Canopy or to me any items that you would like to appear in this column.

Pat Herrington, of Alpha Xi Delta, has recently received her chapter's scholarship award. The award is presented to the sister with the highest scholastic average. Janice Postell was also given an award for having made the most improvement in an individual scholastic average.

Tau Kappa Epsilon recently held its annual winter rush party. The brothers and pledges were hosts for the smoker. Miss Toni Steele, Chapter Sweetheart, Miss Judy Butler, Sweetheart of the Pledge Class, and Miss Ginger Gornto, sponsor, assisted in entertaining the guests. TEKE president, Bernie Brown, discussed some advantages of being a fraternity man, and how fraternity life is an aid to the pledge. Joe Webb introduced the brothers and pledges to the rushees.

Gamma Mu Chapter of Kappa Delta observed White Rose Week, January 18 through January 22. Nationally observed as the week prior to initiation, White Rose Week is a time when pledges are brought closer to the real meaning of Kappa Delta. Initiation was held on Sunday, January 22. Those becoming Kappa Delta sisters were Marianne Baxter, Susan Branch, Suzanne Brown, Mimi Collier, Margaret Davis, Punksy Ellington, Sue Nelle Girardin, Bootsie Hartley, Linda Hudson, Lyn Lewis, Sue McGowan, Judy Parker, Emily Shaw, Betty Joyce Stephenson, Ginger Wade, and Lila McClenny. After the initiation ceremony, the group attended the evening service at the First Baptist Church.

On January 16, a coke party was given in the Alpha Xi Chapter rooms for the winter quarter rushees. A sneak preview of what membership in Alpha Xi Delta would be like was given by the pledges and sisters. The rushees were also given an opportunity to meet alumnae of the sorority. It was also during this time that awards to the pledges were made. Gene Kiff was selected as the ideal pledge and Sharon Boatwright was awarded five dollars for having the highest scholastic average in the pledge class.

Alpha Xi Delta's teas for the fraternities were originally scheduled for January, but they have now been re-scheduled for February 20-22.

A Mother-Daughter Banquet will be held by Alpha Delta Pi on January 28 in honor of their new initiates. Sorority colors will be carried out in the decoration scheme. At this time awards for scholarship, outstanding pledge, and an award for the best pledge theme will be made.

T.K.E. Hold Initiation Banquet

Kappa Deltas and their guests enjoy an evening of dancing to the music of the Lancers at their annual White Rose Dance on January 6. On far right is Norman Bennett, 1961 Dream Guy.

THE TEKES ENJOY steaks at triple purpose banquet celebrating initiation, Founder's Day, and the founding of Zeta Nu Chapter. A dance was held after the banquet.

January 14 marked a very significant affair for the brothers and pledges of the Zeta Nu chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity. The Old South Room of the Daniel Ashley Hotel was chosen as the place for the three-fold banquet. This banquet honored the new initiates, Founder's Day, and the anniversary of Zeta Nu chapter.

Decorations for this event were very appropriate and fitting. Red triangles lettered with TKE, along with ivy, candles, and all the trimmings made the tables quite festive and added a note of gaiety to the atmosphere. The main point of interest was a large map of the United States with gold flags representing the various chapters of the fraternity.

After a delicious steak supper, several people appeared on the program. President Berney Brown welcomed all brothers, pledges, and guests, after which Mr. Alex Skorapai made an interesting speech. Steve Vaughn, Historian, presented a brief history of the chapter.

New Initiates were introduced to the group, and the present pledge class presented its paddle to the pledge trainers, Kelsey Kemp and Joe Webb. The paddle was a large one which (we hope) will be hung on the wall.

Everyone enjoyed the dance with music furnished by the Lancers who were at their very best. Burney Brown and his date, Snookie Rigdon, did a sharp cha-cha for the group.

The evening was a big success and everyone extends thanks to Dr. and Mrs. Wall, Mrs. Odom, and Miss Ogletree for acting as chaperones.

"But the federal courts cannot order you to cease your prejudices... This Jesus knew, and this is why he deals with the spirit of the law rather than its letter... In doing so he has involved each of us, and more deeply, perhaps, than we want to be."

Rev. McCaskill then said that as Christians we must have the same insight as that Good Samaritan on the dusty road between Jericho and Jerusalem--an insight of sympathy for a victim. The negro is a victim of others and is not pushing himself on us but is being pushed by others. He needs understanding, not because he deserves it, but simply because he needs it. The Reverend then quoted the lines of Paul when he said, "There but for the Grace of God... Yes," he said, "but for the Grace of God, you or I might be black."

But "this is not asking you to throw your arms around them and call them your brother in Christ. This is not asking you to take them into your house. This is not asking you to socialize with them. But it is asking you to show them, instead of a cold, hard, rock-throwing, cursing, mud-slinging prejudice--instead of this--to show them the sympathetic insight of a neighbor who sees someone in need."

Rev. McCaskill cogently summed up the talk by saying that all Georgians must face this problem rationally, sensibly and, always, as Christians. Ever remembering His words: In as much as ye have done it to the least of these, ye have done it unto Me."

Rebs Extend Streak With 77-71 Triumph

Holding firm under pressure, the Valdosta State College Rebels carved out a 77-71 basketball victory over the LaGrange College Panthers.

It was the second triumph of the season for coach Gary Colson's Rebs over coach Joe Copeland's Panthers.

With the victory the VSC quintet boosted its overall record to 10-3, stretched its winning streak to eight games, and boosted its GIAC mark to 4-0.

The setback left LaGrange with a 2-7 mark in all games and a 2-5 league record. Although the Rebels held the lead except for a brief period in the first half when the score was tied, the Panthers would start closing the gap, the Rebs would hold firm and then start pulling away again.

After the score was deadlocked at 20-20 midway the half, VSC zoomed off to 28-20 lead. LaGrange closed within five points once in the second stanza, but each time the Rebels moved out of danger quickly.

The trio of Sonny Williams, Doug Winters, and Homer Chambliss sparked the Valdosta State attack.

Williams gunned in 24 points. Winters hit for 20, and Chambliss accounted for 16, with 14 of his markers coming the second half. Top rebounders for the Rebels were Williams and Chambliss with 13 each.

Robert Bailey, Jim Melvin, Jim Nichols, Robert Anderson, and W. A. Carver were others who helped the VSC cause.

Larry Boswell and Jerry Carden, who hit with deadly accuracy from long range in the second half, were offense leaders for Panthers. Carden scored 24 points and got 18 of them in the second stanza. Boswell hit for 16 markers, with 14 coming in the final 20 minutes of play.

VSC scored 29 field goals and made good on 19 of 27 free throw tries. The Panthers connected on 25 tries from the floor and dropped in 21 of 24 shots from charity line.

The Rebel Bench

Charles Greene, Assistant Coach VALDOSTA STATE COLLEGE TO PLAY FLORIDA STATE COLLEGE, FEBRUARY 11, IN TALLAHASSEE, FLORIDA.

FSU, a team that has beaten Kentucky and played Auburn a top notch game, has invited the Rebels to play them. The Rebels are planning to win this game by pulling an upset.

The Valdosta State College Rebels returned home for the first time since Christmas with a very impressive win-loss record of 10-3 and a 5-game winning streak. The Rebels were able to extend their streak to 8 games this weekend by defeating a strong Rollins College team 91-71. The 5th and 6th wins came to the Rebels when they defeated Berry and Shorter Colleges 44-57 and 56-58 respectively.

The attack leaders for the Rebels are Homer Chambliss, Doug Winters and Sonny Williams with averages of 15.5, 14.1, and 11.5 points respectively. The Rebels have been strong on the boards averaging 35.5 rebounds per game. The board leaders have been Chambliss and Williams with 9.3 and 8.6 rebounds per game. The high game for these two boys came against Rollins College when Chambliss grabbed 20 and Williams grabbed 29 rebounds.

From the floor, the Rebels have hit for 13 games 48.5% and 65.9% from the free-throw line. Leading in these departments are Robert Bailey who has hit 56% from the floor and Doug Winters who has hit 80.3% from the charity line.

The Rebels take to the road again this weekend with a GIAC record of 4 wins and no losses.

Rebels Trounce Rollins, 91-71

Valdosta State College's Rebels used a driving attack and a superior rebounding performance to gun down the Rollins College Tars, 91-71.

With the triumph, Coach Gary Colson's Rebs boosted their overall record to 9-3, extended their current victory streak to seven games and avenged an earlier 72-57 loss to the Tars at Winter Park, Fla.

They will play two fine GIAC teams. These teams will be West Georgia and North Georgia Colleges. West Georgia has a large and a good shooting team while North Georgia has a small scrappy team. The Rebels respect these two teams, but at the same time are hoping to improve their winning streak and their GIAC record.

What If ?

Coach Colson grew a beard for homecoming?

Johnny Dalzell completed a behind-the-back pass?

Not one of the team was put on probation next quarter?

Herman Hudson went out on the library balconies alone?

Jim Melvin didn't like posters?

Bob Sanders wasn't attached to Dr. Duvall?

Robert Kitchen accepted Doug Calhoun's challenge for the VSC Heavyweight Championship?

Charles Greene never uttered those famous words, "I'm the nicest guy I know"?

VSC is only midway through its current campaign but has already matched its victory total of 1959-60 when it compiled a 9-14 mark.

The setback left Rollins with a 4-8 record. Against the Tars Colson's chargers gave an indication of what was to come when they zoomed off to an 11-2 lead in the first three minutes.

The Tars got within four points of them midway the first half and moved up within five markers early in the second half. But Rollins never caught up and the Rebels stayed in command of the situation all the way.

Rollins tried both a zone and man to man defense. Neither slowed down the Rebs' well coordinated attack.

Four VSC starters hit in double figures. Homer Chambliss accounted for 28 points, Sonny Williams 20, Robert Bailey 16, and Doug Winters 14. Jim Melvin chipped in with seven markers and turned in an outstanding floor game.

With Williams picking off 10 rebounds and Chambliss snagging 20, the Rebels commanded the "boards" all the way.

Rollins' Dick Bishop scorched the cords for 29 points before fouling out midway in the second half. The Rebs had a 10-point lead when Bishop made his exit and doubled their advantage before it was over.

During a torrid scorching drive in the first half the Rebs hit from the floor at a 64 per cent pace and went out at intermission with a 57-47 lead. They finished the game with a fine 50.0 average.

The Rebels scored 31 field goals and dropped in 29 of 38 free shots. Rollins made 25 field goals and on 21 of 30 tries from the charity line. The Tars were charged with 27 fouls.
