Assembly Heals Martin
Dr. Walter Martin, vice-chancellor of the Georgia University system, spoke to the VSC students of the faculty assembly Wednesday, Oct. 9.

Dr. Martin has been president of Savannah College for the last five years, and has been both Professor of History and Dean of Arts and Sciences at the University of Georgia.

Dr. Martin compared the educational system of today with that of ten years ago, emphasizing that the goal is still the same. He said that his goal was to train students, both in and out of the classroom, to think for themselves and to make intelligent judgments.

For the next assembly program, which is to be held on Thursday, Oct. 24, according to Dr. Martin, the program will include a speech that will be the keynote speech for the assembly.

The Little Man on Campus
The Canopy staff feels that the return of Worthal is an amazing event, which will increase the variety of the paper and will allow students to enjoy the humorous side of college life.

$40,000 Wesley Center
Purchased for V.S.C.

Methodist students at VSC are now preparing their new church home located directly across the street from the school campus. Georgia Methodist recently purchased the Homer Bearden home, 1601 N. Patterson Street, for VSC's Wesley Foundation.

The Wesley Foundation is an organization sponsored by the Methodist Church in America for state university and college students. Wesley's Wesley Foundation was 1,005 Students Surge Over V.S.C. Campus

A record enrollment of 1,005 students is expected to invade this peaceful countryside within the next year.

According to Mrs. Grace Thomas, the Registrar, at Valdosta State College, there are 50 regular students attending college this quarter and 44 students in Saturday classes to make the total enrollment 1,005. Approximately 245 freshmen merged into an already filled college to complete the sum total.

It is the hope of the administration that all of the steps taken for preparation this year will bring Valdosta State College for the tremendous job of educating Georgia's youth.

Barr Wins National Contest
Philip Barr, VSC senior, won the impressive speaking event at the National Business Club Convention held at Cincinnati, Ohio this summer. Barr qualified for the event by winning the first round of the competition.

College Hosts Science Meet
Valdosta State College will be the host to the Georgia Academy of Science Conference, GASC, Saturday, Oct. 19. Teachers and students of the Second and Eighth Congressional Districts will attend the conference.

Those attending will be registered by the local GASC committee and Math-Science Club of V.S.C. Following registration, Dr. J. Ralph Thaxton, President of Valdosta State College, will introduce the keynote speaker, Dr. J. G. Lester, chairman, Department of Geology, Emory (Continued on Page 3)

2 Frats on Probation

Two VSC social fraternities have been placed on probation by J. Graham Wall, dean of men.

The fraternity is local chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon and Sigma Phi Epsilon. Three members have been placed on probation for violation of Rush rules at VSC's Wesley Foundation.

The fraternity will be held for all college students each Sunday night after church.

New $175,000 Infirmary Opens

Completed after a period of 6 months at a cost of $175,000, the new infirmary at VSC officially opened on Sept. 14. The building is located on the northwest corner of the college campus.

The infirmary features the latest and modern medical facilities and equipment. There is a wing for female patients and one for male patients, each wing containing eleven beds. Located in each ward are two four-bed units, one semi-private room, and one isolation room. For further protection of other patients, each isolation room is equipped with its own air circulation unit.

Situated between the two wings of the building are the receiving rooms, kitchen, two examination rooms, lab, utility room, doctors' office, nurses' living quarters. All are furnished with modern, up-to-date equipment. Beige and pale green color (Continued on Page 6)

BSU Gets New Auditorium

Walter and Mary Lynne Porter are the proud parents of a brand new auditorium on the Baptists Student Union Center! After planning for the new addition for nine months, they found they could buy one of the surplus buildings from Moody Air Force Base. After the long ordeal of moving the structure from the University of Georgia, the Regents and students began the process of renovation.

When the foundations had been completed, the building was ready, the partitions down and began remodeling the large auditorium. Students and faculty members installed a new ceiling and floor for the school, which is to be used for Noon Day Devotionals, the Thursday afternoon sessions.

A stage with curtain and dressing rooms will be constructed for the presentation of dramatic religious plays.

The building, which will be located on the main street, will be used for Noon Day Devotionals, choir practice for the BSU choir (directed by Philip Barr), as well as recreation space and assembly hall.

Noon Day Devotionals, which are held every weekday at 12:40 p.m., are sponsored by the Baptist and Methodist churches.
Breakers Still Stand

The May 29 edition of The Campus Canopy proudly reported the announcement that the campus speedbreakers would be lowered during the summer. Yet, school has begun and the unpopular devices have remained, and it was quite surprising that the work was not done since the need for a change has been recognized by the administration.

Without a doubt there is a definite need for the speedbreakers to be lowered. We do not suggest that they be removed, this was tried at South Georgia College recently and proved unsatisfactory. But, with many automobiles scraping bottom even though they have been brought to a complete stop before and to climb the barrier, it seems only reasonable that the height of the speedbreakers be decreased.

It is too late to make the proposed alterations during the already past summer. We certainly hope though that we will not have to wait until next summer for the job to be done. If the work cannot be done while school is in session, we urge that preparations be made for the unreasonably high speedbreakers to be lowered during either the Thanksgiving or Christmas holidays.

6 Long Years

A recent visitor to VSC was the Honorable James D. Gould, member of the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia. Mr. Gould visited Valdosta State College during the last week of June, and an interview with him is printed in this section. In his remarks the Governor stated that the program at Valdosta State must be expanded. In a speech made in Valdosta he said, "South Georgia must some day have an institution of university status." He apparently feels that VSC should grow into such a school.

With a new administration taking office Valdosta State College is in line for greater support from state officials, according to campaign promises made by Sanders. The governor nominee stated that the program at Valdosta State must be expanded. In a speech made in Valdosta he said, "South Georgia must some day have an institution of university status." He apparently feels that VSC should grow into such a school.

In an interview with The Campus Canopy during his visit in town Sanders indicated that expansion of VSC depends on what the school administration asks for. He suggested that a law school could be added along with other new subjects. We hope that faculty members, that city officials will push for a larger and better VSC, and that Governor Carl Sanders will remember the promises made by candidate Carl Sanders.

Commenting briefly on the governor's race, it appears that a big change has taken place in Georgia politics. The reflection of the racial issue signifies that candidates can no longer ride into office on prejudices. The Old Tom Watson-Eugene Talmadge type of politics is being put to rest. A change in thinking and feeling in Georgia seems now to range from the "defeat" of big steel to capitulation to television. It is said that VSC's campus is not second-hand, but is real and valuable. VCS students why not take advantage of this chance to speak? Articles may be turned in to the editor or left in the Public Relations office.

Harold

Things sort of went from bad to worse after basketball season. Harold didn't care too much for tennis and half the time he didn't even ask me for a date. I heard he was playing a lot of pool, whatever that is. I could see things weren't going too good for Harold and me.

"STRESS LIKE EVERY YEAR, WE HAVE TO PLACE MORE OF OUR ENTERING FRESHMEN INTO LOWER LEVEL REMEDIAL CLASSES."

The teachers of Georgia's state universities and colleges will receive a 9% per cent salary increase as announced by Governor Ernest Vandiver. The salary increase will affect 1,641 faculty members in the 19 colleges.

Vandiver stated, "This will provide average salaries of $7,009 for our state-supported colleges. The increase, combined with one given last year, will mean that University System average pay scales in the last two years of this administration have been raised more than $1,100."
