VSC’s Top Students Named To Top Collegiate Honor

By Karen Clary

Eighteen seniors have recently been selected for the Who’s Who in American Universities and Colleges award. Leadership ability and scholastic rating are the marks on which students must show proficiency in order to be eligible for this honor.

The recipients of the honor are: Philip Barr, Norman Bennett, LaRae Bennett, Sharon Lancaster, Tommy Newsom, Jim Nichols, Ann Powell and Noel Wisenbaker of Valdosta; Peggy Elaine Fallen, Lyon; Pat Bert Paul Smith. Directed by Betty Jo Green, the play holds interest for do-it-yourselfers on subjects ranging from "How to get your wife to carpet your bathroom" as Charlie, Joel Boatright as Joe, Gerrie Amon as Julie, Jeanie Hoyle as Poppy, Cheryl Metts as Josieca, Philip Barr as Earl, and Grady Mills as Sol.

In the contemporary setting of New York in a comfortable bachelor apartment located on 44th St., Charlie plays fastly and furiously and almost loses his cards as the lovable (and loving) Charlie lives in a style that even Rod, Hudson would envy. And the play holds interest for do-it-yourselfers on subjects ranging from "How to get your wife to carpet your bathroom".

For the first time in the history of VSC, a complete stage set was used. And the general coincides with that of over twenty club members who worked diligently on them--Charlie's green walls are lovely. As always on opening night, and especially on this night of (Continued on Page 4)

A Word Of Thanks

Next Thursday millions of Americans pause to thank God for the blessings of the past twelve months. This national day of appreciation, begun long ago by the thankful Pilgrims, in many instances is missed. Many people never even think about how they have been blessed. Think about the many close calls we have had with war, yet have not had to fight. Think about the great food we have while the nations are starving. Be thankful for our stable government; some countries are constantly in an uproar. Our material goods far exceed those of any other people in the world. But most of all, we have freedom—freedom to come, freedom to go; freedom to do, freedom not to do; freedom to say, freedom not to say.

Some people do not even have freedom to publicly give thanks to God. We who have so much to be thankful for should not let Thanksgiving Day go by without offering a prayer of thanks.

Congratulations

The Campus Canopy wishes to join with those offering congratulations to the VSC seniors named to Who’s Who. This is one of the greatest honors that is possible for a college student to achieve. The VSC academic year and scholastics and school activities, now the action of the selection committee has rewarded their efforts. Underclassmen would do well to emulate these top students.

It’s Go, Rebels

Hit the Rampaging Rebels of Valdosta State College in the home Tourname tent, 1962-63 basketball season. The Rebels posted a 19-2 record last year in taking their second consecutive GAC championship. Coach Gary Colson has done a remarkable job since he began directing the cage team here.

Grey Sickness

Even though half of my thirty day trial size bottle of super vitamin pills has been consumed, I suffer from tired blood and the grey sickness. This is no run-of-the-mill type of lack of red corpuscles--for it comes about only at the opening of a new term. When I flip the first page my eyes lids sink to half-mast. The second page reads as a conglomerate of words and dreams. There is no third page.

After dosing a few moments I awaken long enough to convince myself that really I don’t have much more to read (after all, I’ve finished two of the four underlined pages) I’ll just get up at 6 a.m. and finish.

So I assume the prenatal position, turn my electric blanket up to seventy degrees and flake out. At 7:30 my sleep is interrupted by an infernal alarm clock and some idiot radio announcer saying it’s “Happy get up time, fast to get up time.”

In time to make it to class, I really can’t understand why this always happens but I have an idea—those vitamin pills are just no good. Guess I’ll have to switch to Geritol, and hope I’ll feel better fast, and get a little study energy.

A New Name

A New Tune

How important is tradition? To most of us it is quite important. To most of us it is quite important. Our college, our activities, religion, family, national affairs, race, social affairs and school life that are steeped in tradition. We are slow to abandon our traditions; yet, there are times when we must realize that improvements can be made on the past. With this statement in mind we ask that tradition is given up at this college in no areas.

First, we suggest that the name of The Campus Canopy be changed.

Second, we suggest that the tune of the VSC alma mater be changed.

Do you disapprove already? Please continue reading to see the reasons behind these suggestions.

To start with let’s consider the complaints of those who argue that this will be too great a break with tradition. What is the name of this college? It has not always been Valdosta State College. Until 1950 VSC was known as Georgia State Woman’s College. Changing the name of the college was quite a break with tradition.

Who attends this college? Only 12 years ago the VSC student body was made up of women. We contend that making the college coeducational was the greatest break with tradition that is possible. These two changes that have been made tower over the two that we are suggesting so that they should seem minor in nature.

What are the reasons that we think that these changes are necessary? We'll first discuss the name of The Campus Canopy. What does it signify? Is the name distinctive? Pretty? Collegiate? Let us not deceive ourselves. We don’t believe that the answer to either of these questions is favorable. The newspaper of a college, the caliber of VSC should be “more descriptive in name than ‘The Campus Canopy’.”

Now to discuss our alma mater. We are the first to admit that the tune is among the most beautiful. It must be, for a multitude of other schools use the same tune. That is our objection. Each school should have its own distinct alma mater. This is our goal for VSC.

We would like to hear your views on these proposals. Write us if you agree or disagree. That way the opinion of the student body can be determined.

Boundless Resou!

We yearn for a feeling of accomplishment. Constantly, we are doing, seeking to satisfy our own goals as well as those imposed upon us by others. Because of the hurly-burly and rigidity of the schedule of college life, we too seldom pause and reflect upon our own accomplishments and our worth. However, when we pause and delve deeply, objectivity is self-understanding, we readily realize that we fall far short of ourf desired goals. A feeling enveloping comfort that that of an animal lost in a maze—constantly busy and going, but getting no place. Questions arise in our mind—why am I so quelled—why isn’t my best good enough? This is our purpose is necessary but it is not sufficient. Difficulty has arisen because we are trying to swap Castro tractors for prisoner freedom, and giving Day go by without offering a prayer of thanks.

This was in the later years after her husband had been abolished. There was veneration for her, too. She was criticized as ‘left-leaning, red-tinged’ traitors. A Catholic Cardinal or criticizing noted women, Eleanor Roosevelt did so with courage.

She was constantly traveling around the country, making speeches, writing magazine articles and speaking on the radio and television.

She came to this campus on a visit in 1939. She came to make the dedicatory speech at Notre Dame.

Sculpture Placed On Display Here

The VSC art department has a sculpture exhibit by Ralph N. Hurst on display in the library gallery.

This collection, to be exhibited until Dec. 15, is the second in a group of exhibitions that the art department is putting on. Mr. Hurst is a professor of sculpture in the department of art education and constructive design at Florida State University.

His work, dealing with figure studies and extractions, is done in different media including bronze, sculptural plaster, cement, terra cotta, wood and marble.

Fox Talks

By Paul Benker

Dr. Vernon B. Fox, criminologist and member of the social welfare department of Florida State University, briefly outlined the VSC students' growing problem of criminal correction procedures at last week's student assembly.

Fox stated that we respond largely to emotion rather than reason. Hazards, penalties, therefore, tend only to instill hate within the prison of today's inmates.

Fox summarized his viewpoint by emphasizing that the problem of criminal correction must be moved from mental health. He added that the move be characterized by small correction centers and increased paroles and probation facilities.

Even though college students believe, and would like to support worthwhile organizations, they are often without finances to do so. Nine VSC students, however, have found that the giving of time can be just as valuable as the giving of money.

Emily Leonard and Ginger Anderson received training this summer and are qualified to instruct the Red Cross Home Nursing course. They are now conducting classes to train local civil defense workers.

During the United Fund kickoff drive these same students, Jim Buie, Adeline Spielar and Tommy Wilkinson decorated Varnedoe's store window and displayed posters around town for the Red Cross, a U.P. agency member.

Robert Shemp, Ginger Anderson, Emily Leonard, Andy Spielar, Mike Giles, Jimmy Owens and Peter Van Horn have just completed painting the auditorium of the United Fund, Red Cross offices. This same group decorated a booth at the South Georgia Fair and presented live demonstration of artificial respiration.

When people realize, as these students do, the importance of such an agency as the Red Cross, the services it offers are numerous: water safety and life saving, home nursing, first aid, baby care, home services and many more.

If you are interested in being a Red Cross volunteer worker, contact Mrs. Lear or Mrs. Van Horn at the Red Cross office.

Behind the Scenes At The VSC Dining Hall

By Betty Wilkinson

In an interview with the Campus Canopy, Mrs. Margaret Wisenbaker, dietician of Valdosta State College, explained the many facets of lunchroom planning.

Since she has about 400 guests to feed each meal, she must plan menus which will please most of the students. A new set of menus is planned each week, three weeks in advance of when they are served. Mrs. Thornton said she planned the meals with the much variety as possible and with a homecook's insight.

When asked about ordering food, Mrs. Thornton said that she ordered staple foods for fall quarter before the summer session was over in order that the goods might be in the store room before Sept. 11. Staple goods, which include anything that is not perishable, are ordered by item rather than brand name from the purchasing department of the state university. The dietician may buy perishable goods any time, just so she stays within her budget.

Five walk-in refrigerators provide storage places for vegetables, meats, dairy products and miscellaneous items. Fresh milk and eggs are stored in the walk-in refrigerator. Staples are arranged in alphabetical order on storage room shelves. "Cans of vegetables are not stored left in cases so that they can be shelved more easily," Mrs. Thornton explained.

Mrs. Thornton has been interested in the preparation of good food on a large scale since the coming of a Red Cross volunteer worker, contact Mrs. Lear or Mrs. Van Horn at the Red Cross office.

During one of the class periods an announcement was made saying “All Greek organizations to the gym during assembly period.” Lila, the exchange student from Greece, remarked quite innocently, “What? what, Greeks? I thought I was the only Greek here.”

The atmosphere among the sororities and fraternities, the comedy on the olympic field and the display of skill, the Greek dances, the awards and church at Pound helped make this year’s Greek Week one of the best ever. Congratulations to all winners!

Congratulations also to Patricia Herrington who has the highest scholastic average for women in the senior class and Noel Wisenbaker who has the highest average among men.

The Alpha Xi Delta Sorority recently announced the selection of Freddy Vonier as the Alpha Xi Delta Sweetheart.

Tau Kappa Epsilon also announced the selection of their sweetheart, Gail Bazemore.

Shades-of-Gray Hold Meeting

Tuesday night found the Shades-of-Gray engaged in another heated discussion. The topic at hand this week was the age old question of capital punishment.

The site of this latest clash of opinions was the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gabard.

The discussion of this very controversial issue was moderated by Lee Christy. Programmed speakers for the affirmative were Tommis Morris and Bruce Gardner. The negative argument was aptly handled by John Bennett and Ashley Register.

A prominent member of the VSC staff was finally heard to wonder if Kruschev would be placed on the Supreme Court if he ever sought political asylum in the United States.

Greek Week Festivities Take Over VSC Campus

The “Greeks” took over the campus at VAC last weekend for Greek Week. The competition was keen all weekend and included everything from singing to athletics and partying. Competition formally began Thursday night in the gym with a song fest. This climaxd many long hours of practicing for the six Greek organizations on campus—Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Xi Delta, Kappa Delta, Pi Kappa Phi, Sigma Phi Epsilon and Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Friday night found the Greeks and dates twisting to the music of Eddie Crock and his Colleagues. No one seemed to be conserving energy for olympics on the following day. However, all appeared fit and ready to do battle by 2 p.m.

The action Saturday afternoon included a track and field meet between the sorority pledges. These were highlighted by a sack race, three-legged race and an egg roll.

The climax of the activities came Saturday night with the formal dance at the Conrady Club. The music for this dance was furnished by Tech-Boosters. The big moment came at the dance when the winner of the “Greek God and Goddess” election were presented.

The Rev. Sammy Clark closed the weekend with a fit up Sunday morning at the church services held at Pound Hall.

In Appreciation

Your many expressions of sympathy for the loss of my little brother were received with great appreciation. I now find myself in a new respect. You were groping for words to comfort me, and I am searching for words to thank you. It meant so much to me to know that you were feeling with me. It is an experience that could not be born without you, first, the help of God, second, the help of friends. I thank all of you for being such friends.

GLAMOUR DRESSES FOR MERRIER HOLIDAYS

By Wally Newton

Once each year in the United States of America, a special day is designated for the express purpose of giving thanks for the necessities of the past 365 days. For a few days, this day is totally unneeded. They are thankful; their joy and enthusiasm are merely a continuation of the gratitude expressed all along for each of life’s daily blessings. For many, this will be a time to be thankful for many things, but they are not the busy siblings of their world’s activities to find moments to realize the sincere purpose of the season. For others, Thanksgiving means a vacation from school work, the keeping of traditional family gatherings, indulgence in much rich food, and a minute’s concentration on thanks for something at the round-table blessing.

What happened to school unity at VSC? Have we ever possessed it? Will we ever again gain this atmosphere of unity that is so beneficial for spirit in college activities? The answer to the question must be seen.

"Why is this subject being discussed in a sports article?" you may ask. I believe the question can be answered very easily. The spirit in which students back the athletic teams on campus permeates school spirit, and according to several opinions as well as facts, the VSC student body is lacking in this phase of college life.

But is the reason for this unconsen that is displayed by VSC students? What is the reason for this spiritless school unity at VSC? Have we ever possessed it? Will we ever again gain this atmosphere of unity that is so beneficial for spirit in college activities? The answer to the question must be seen.

In the last game of the week North Campus came from behind to beat Sig Ep 12-6. Sig Ep scored on the second play from scrimmage with Jack Deavers sweeping right end for 70 yards. Three plays later Chester Dabberley scored for NC from 12 yards out. Both PAT’s failed.

In the second quarter, Dabberley scored on the second play from scrimmage with Jack Deavers sweeping right end for 70 yards. Three plays later Chester Dabberley scored for NC from 12 yards out. Both PAT’s failed.

"BC is tough at home," stated Colson. "They have good boys, team effort and spirit." A sixteen piece band and the "Dirty 100" attend all home games. The "Dirty 100" consists of 100 boys dressed in old clothes and bologna. Their main objective is to make noise.

Last year the Rebels trailed Berry by 13 points with 10 minutes left in the game. VSC won in the last seconds of the game. Colson stated that Berry has an excellent coach in Larry Taylor. Taylor was basketball coach of the year in the GIAC last season. He has played professional baseball with the Nashville Vols in the Southern Association. "This is proof of his athletic knowledge," said Colson.

Needless to say, the Rebels will be in there fighting.

They will also speak to the assembly. Professor William M. Gabard will give an explanation of "The American Way." Professor Don E. Gerlock of the education department will explain the problems and methods involved in offering instruction in "Americanism vs Communism." Others who will take part in the institute are President J. Ralph Thaxton, Dean J. A. Durrenberger, Professor Arthur Gig-nilliat of the VSC English department, and Professor David Lewis of the Economics Department.

Public school teachers who have been invited to participate as resource personnel in the discussion sessions are Mrs. Nina Savelle and Miss Rebecca Miller of the social studies department, Pelham High School and Miss Helen Forney, Thomasville High School.

Invited to attend the VSC institute are the superintendent, chairman of the board of education, and instructional supervisor from each school district in the 37-county area. Special invitations also have been sent to social studies teachers from each school in the area.

---Why Be?
has provided times of recent crises greater than any we have known. Without our ranks are those to whom our country's leaders look for successors and staunch supporters. We hold the mental and physical potentials to be developed into tomorrow's courses of action; surely we have not neglected that phase of our growth which enables us to realize the danger of taking for granted those things most important to us. Surely, we have developed a mature sense of values so that we can distinguish between the important and nonimportant, the essential and the trite. Or might it be that even after years of comparative peace and prosperity our education has not been extensive enough to make each aware of his own wealth.

We have heard that it is more blessed to give than to receive. Then for each giver, there must be a receiver. Have you, as the recipient (from a fellow man or from the Divine), ever experienced the graciousness of the noble "Thank You"? Cumbered by petty insignificance, would you question, "Why be thankful?" Is it possible that you are not?

VSC Students To Assemble
In keeping with the spirit of the season, on November 20, the VSC faculty and student body will be presented a Thanksgiving program given by the YWCA. For the last assembly of the quarter on December 5, the guest speaker will be Mr. John I. Spooner, a member of the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia. Mr. Spooner has just returned from an extended visit to Russia.

He will speak on the life of the Russian people-relative to the Russian farming system, their agricultural program and production in the Soviet Union.
