Three adventurous mariners were rescued last week after their vessel hit a reef and sank into the depths of Frog Pond, located on the Valdosta State College campus.

The rescue was led by Roger Strickland, a senior with an impressive 16-7 batting average for the season, and the Petrels have done just as well in their new surroundings. The Petrels, led by philosophy major John L. Woods, took over the lead in the nation in scoring around 30 points a game.

The winner will then go to Kansas college championships.

In the second game of the night, Oglethorpe will meet Stetson. Stetson, the other team from Florida in the tournament, just recently pulled one of the biggest upsets of the year when they defeated Miami's powerhouse Hurricanes. The Hurricanes support a 19-4 record and are one of the top independent teams in the nation. Stetson's Hitters are a tall, experienced team and should give a good account of itself.

Their opponent in the nightcap always has a good ball club.

"BERKELEY SQUARE" PLAYS MAR. 7 9 IN POUND HALL

By Sue Pendleton

With an effect similar to that of the Twilight Zone, John L. Balderston's "Berkeley Square" will be presented March 7-9 by the VSC Sock and Buskin Club.

Thetwo-time play, written in 1926, is a story about Peter Standish, a man who wants to live in the previous century. His belief is that the people then were less like modern machines, and the times, as a whole, were better.

It begins with a house on Berke­ley Square in London, England, and here falls in love with the past. He goes back into the past, meeting places with an ancestor who sees the great wonders of the future. The reason he can see the future fact that he believes all time is one, time is constant. There is no past, no present, no future.

Back in the past, Peter falls in love with Helen Pettigrew, and he tells her about his being from the future. They both realize that nothing can be married, and the only thing for him to do is return to the future.

He next time back to his own time, and at the play ends, Peter is to be together is for him and then they can live together eternally.

The play is full of humor, in his being able to read the future, of a great romance between Peter and Helen, and of philosophy. It points out that every age has its problems, and people always seem to think only of the good times.

John Balderston, an American playwright, based his play on Henry James' idea that time is constant. This was his most suc­ cessful play, running for two years in London before it was brought to the United States in 1928 where it ran for over a year.

The Rampaging Rebels from VSC edged Shorter 78-76 in overtime to win their third straight GIAC Conference Championship. The game was played at noon on the Mercer College gymnasium before many of the rebel fans.

The Rebels defeated the Gold Wave in overtime without the services of three first string players. Chuck Bonosvitich fouled out early in the second half and was followed by Bill L. Hedges and Frank McCurry. Herman Hadday and Bill Summerton entered the game at this point and did an outstanding job. Dennis Pike also saw action.

VSC grabbed an early lead and led 48-45 at the three-quarter mark. Shorter began to sink free throws near the end of the first half and closed the gap to 60-64 by intermission.

The Rebels increased their lead to 13 points with 7 minutes left in the game when the Rebels can in hot trouble. With sev­ eral left in the game, Shorter took the lead for the first time. VSC's Bill Summerton scored a field goal in the last seconds of the contest to make the Rebels' overtime victory possible.

VSC BUSINESSMEN DROP TO 5TH PLACE DESPITE PROFIT

With the opening of the eight quarter of the Mid-America Aca­ demic Conference, Valdosta State College lags in fifth place with cumulative profits of $425,000 for the previous seven quarters of play. A profit of $223,000 was shown for the last quarter of competition.

Results of the latest operating quarter released by Indiana Uni­ versity's Graduate School of Bu­ siness shows that all nine participat­ing schools completed the seventh quarter "in the black."

Denison University of Gran­ ville, Ohio, led the profitmaking with $389,000 during the period, thus advancing its cumulative standing to fourth place.

Wisconsin State College of Eau Claire showed profits of $352,000 in the seventh quarter released by Indiana Uni­ versity's Graduate School of Bu­ siness.

SENIORS SEE VSC CAMPUS TOMORROW

If you see a strange face around the Rebel campus tomorrow, don't be alarmed. These bright-eyed and eager newcomers are high school seniors, and the event is Senior Day.

The SGA will hold a joint-host to this annual affair at VSC designed to acquaint the prospective student with college life.

There will be lunch at 1 p.m., and the event will be served to our visitors in the dining hall.

On the afternoon agenda is a tour of the campus by the SGA and a fashion show by Panhellenic. The Panhellenic Council and Interfraternity Council will play joint-host at a coke party at four at the House-in-the-woods. The SGA will also be entertaining at an open house. Dinner will be served at 7:30 in the college dining hall.

The climax of the day's busy activities will be an informal dance at the Student Center.
Going To Kansas City

Hall to the Champions!
The Valdosta State College Rebels have captured the GIA CHAMPIONSHIP Basketball title for the third consecutive year, and it was a deserving bunch of boys who did it. The entire season has been filled with thrills and success, but nothing could top those of the playoff game vs. Shorter.

Our boys proved that they are champions when they kept fighting even after three first-team members fouled out during the title game. This never-give-up attitude is a necessary ingredient in the quest for success.

Coach Gary Cobon, assistant coach Marcus Shippman, and all of the boys are to be congratulated for the way they are representing our college.

And now on to Jacksonville and the District 35 tournament!

And then to the national playoffs in Kansas City!

Go Rebels!

The Tin Can

Overheard after a recent assembly program was a remark “It sounds like a tin can.” This was in reference to the piano that the eminent pianist Dr. Theodore Ullman was furnished to play on during the program. Shouldn’t a pianist perhaps be provided with a decent piano?

There is not a concert-type piano in the whole college. We realize that due to the small size of our college there isn’t much money to spend on cultural improvement, but the purchase of a concert grand piano would be a good investment. A concert piano would attract more music students to VSC. It could be used not only at assemblies and music department concerts, but also by groups and conventions that use the college during the year.

What kind of publicity is a beat-up, scratch-up, tin can-sounding piano for our college?

The Georgia Girls’ Class AAA Basketball tournament is being held in the VSC gymnasium this weekend. We welcome the girls to our campus. This is an opportunity for “showing off” our college to many visitors and also a chance to watch the best in girls’ basketball. We are certainly happy to be their hosts.

Robert Maxwell

To Command Respect

To be allowed to attend college is a privilege, to be respected by society as well educated men and women is an honor, but respect is not something that can be demanded. We, as college students, must be well educated and well brought up. If we do not bring this respect to our college, our college will begin to lack it.

The cost of a college education today is staggering. It is up to each student to see that the investment brings in dividends. The trend is towards higher education, and to make it a success one must keep his grades high.

We as college students command the respect we do not afford less educated people, and it is imperative that we deserve it. The world expects us to take over the reins of responsibility once we reach full adulthood, and the task is one requiring sharp minds and well conditioned bodies.

The end of this quarter is very near, let us keep those thoughts in mind as we begin the arduous task of preparing for examinations that will determine our futures as VSC students.

Necessary Growth

Our is a fast growing country. Towns are rapidly becoming cities, and colleges are becoming universities. Industries are expanding and new fields are opening.

We, as the future leaders of America, need to keep up with this growth and expansion. We need to broaden our minds.

Our brains are only so big. They cannot grow. But we can deepen our understandings in them through education and learning.

More and more today people are going to college to try to learn. We don’t all learn the same things, however. We each have special talents and abilities and goals which we desire to develop.

There is one way, however, in which we should all grow. We need to deepen our spiritual understandings. We want to know who we are and why we are, and our minds are letting our spirits remain stagnant.

We know that we have a soul yet, we are content to go on our way with daily thoughts as to how we can grow. Our spirits have need to be filled as do our brains.

We can deepen the convolutions on them through education and learning.

May careful planning and good will be displayed in this year’s elections.

Elections Are Coming

Student government elections will be held on April 7. Candidates for office must be nominated at least two weeks prior to the voting.

April 7 will soon be here, so prospective candidates should begin making preparations for the campaign. Positions of importance should not be filled on the basis of spurious momentary decisions.

May careful planning and goodwill be displayed in this year’s elections.

Art Design Competition Announced

A total of $6,100 in cash and saving bond awards plus 48 medals and eight all-expense trips to Chicago will be awarded to the student winners of St. Regis Paper Company's Fourth Annual Collegiate Packaging Design Competition which opened recently.

In making the announcement of the contest, Professor Joe Pember, of the Department of Art, stated, "Any student is eligible to participate in this contest which is aimed at stimulating interest, on the collegiate level, in the field of packaging design."

This year's competition has been broadened to include every college and university in the United States. Students are eligible to submit entries in four categories: (1) the graphic design for a bag of lawn and garden fertilizer; (2) the graphic design for a bread package; (3) the graphic design and construction of a folding carton for one-pound of candy; and (4) the graphic design for a corrugated shipping container.

The contest closes with entries due in Chicago no later than April 1, 1963.Winners will be announced in May, with the top winner in each division being flown to Chicago for presentation ceremonies.

SGA Plans Homecoming Festivities

Fifty Golden Years," commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of VSC, will be the theme of the homecoming Friday and Saturday, March 28-29. Initiating the activities will be the homecoming pageant Friday afternoon, followed by the dance on Saturday night.

Various clubs and organizations will enter floats in the parade; these floats will be judged for originality. The classes will also enter floats representing certain phases of the last fifty years. Billy Greer will serve as parade marshal.

Highlighting the dance in the gym Saturday night will be the appearance of two bands, the "Aubumites" (Continued from Page 1) and a fifteen-piece dance band; the "Auburnites," a smaller band, also will play alternately, thus providing a variety of style and eliminating intermission.

Reins As "Miss Phi Beta Lambda"

Miss Judy Youngblood, a junior from Sylvester, Ga., was named "Miss Phi Beta Lambda" at the Phi Beta Lambda meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 12.

The contests were judged on the basis of beauty, poise and personality. Miss Winter Cook, Mrs. Stanley Adams Jr., and Lawrence Crawford served as judges.

The contest was the first of its kind held at VSC by Phi Beta Lambda, a club for secretarial science, business administration and accounting majors. Philip Barr served as master of ceremonies.

Miss Youngblood was chosen from a group of five contestants nominated by the club at the January meeting. They included Mimi Collier, Ramona McCall, Judy O'Neel, Sandra Higgins and Miss Youngblood.

Mrs. Copeland Returns From Religious Crusade

On Dec. 29, Mrs. L. N. Copeland, secretary to Dean Durrenberger and Dean Wall, flew from Atlanta to Los Angeles on the first portion of her trip to Wellington, New Zealand with a group of Georgians on a three week religious crusade.

In route, Mrs. Copeland visited with her daughter in Mountain Pago, American Samoa; and Auckland, New Zealand. One of these unusual parts is that everyone has three weeks of vacation three weeks long, one week for Christmas and two weeks for regular vacation. The unusual part is that everyone has his vacation the same time as everyone else. Therefore all stores and shops are closed, except for a few grocers and drugstores.

Mrs. Copeland noticed a number of unusual customs among the New Zealanders. One of these customs was not putting locks on the hotel doors. One hotel official explained that there was just no need to worry about their possessions.

On her return, Mrs. Copeland visited her daughter in Montana before coming back to the Deans' offices.

The Pi Kappas had quite a basketball game against the faculty last Monday. It seems as though there was just a tad of biased opinion on each side. And those referees! "Curly" Brown had better get some glasses, judging from some of the plays he called; and "Preacher" Garwood should study a book on basketball rules.

"Shubby" Colson and "Dreamboat" Grant created the biggest problem with the scoreboard—but "Lanky" Laurens, "Wilt the Stilt" Bass, "Lightning" Lewis, and "Stifling" McCoy kept the Pi Kappas busy on the floor. "Big Daddy" Thaxter made sure that his boys would not drop from thirst; he kept the water (7 ounce) coming.

Balanced Attack And Sound Defense Prove Winning Combination

The Valdosta State College Rebels had a successful season because they had a well-balanced attack and a sound defense. There were no outstanding stars on the Rebel' squad, but nothing was wrong with the Rebels as a team.

They were led offensively by Chuck Bonovitch with 26 big points. This was Bonovitch's largest offensive output of the season. Others added to the Rebel squad's fighting back. Bobby Ritch stole the ball and scored the winning basket.

Sharp-Shooting VSC

The Valdosta State College Rebels downs Arizona's Lions 76-62 to clinch their first place in the GIAC race. The victory left the Rebels with an 8-2 conference record and a 15-7 season record.

The Rebels had a chance to win the game to assure themselves of a piece of the conference crown. The Rebels grabbed the lead early and never headed. The Rebels had stretched their lead to 29-2 by half time. In the second half, the Lions were unable to close the gap to less than eight points.

VSC used superior ball handling and a fantastic shooting percentage from the charity stripe and the floor in subduing the last place Lions from Arizona. The Rebels hit 35-54 field goal attempts for an impressive 61.2 percent. They sank 6 of 7 foul shots for a 85 percent average.

Coach Colson's charges were led offensively by Chuck Bonovitch with 26 big points. This was Bonovitch's largest offensive output of the season. Others added to the Rebel squad's fighting back. Bobby Ritch stole the ball and scored the winning basket.

Rebels Gun Down Piedmont

The Rebels were lead offensively by Mike Perry and Wally Summers with 29 and 22 big points respectively. Perry's 29 marks were a season high for any VSC player. Summers' 22 points marked his largest output of the year.

Both Shorter and VSC finished the regular season with identical 8-2 conference records. The playoff game was necessary to determine the conference champion and the representative to the district tournament at Jacksonville.

As a professor was handing back some test papers to his students, he was saying, "Some of you deserve a Nobel prize for these papers—literary fictions."

Another teacher was seen at a local drive in restaurant coloring in a color book.
The electronics class at VSC is building radio sets. When the radios were almost completed, students checked to be sure they were properly wired. One member was telling a fellow student and said, "We put in all the tubes and they all lit up."

"Oh," said the other student, "you must be an expert." A VSC coed who likes tomato juice opened a can one morning but when she poured it only a few drops of juice came out. Opening the can all the way, she found she was trying to drink tomatoes, not tomato juice.

During rainy weather VSC students may be seen wearing bed jackets and boots.

Late in the quarter one of the more important organizations on campus was holding its regular meeting. The president asked for the minutes to be read. "Mr. President, I didn't bring them, we've never read them before," the secretary answered. I wonder how that group functions under these circumstances.

To Decide Net Team

A tournament is now being held to determine the top six tennis players that will represent VSC this tennis season. There is a possibility that the top eight or more will go to Stetson for VSC's first tennis match.

A tennis challenge ladder composed of four players has been formed. To move up on the ladder, a player must challenge and beat the man above him.

The top six players at present are Tommy Anderson, Billy Roberts, Bill Altman, Bill Brinson, Tom Milner and John McCallum.

The general idea of the corps has existed for so long to determine its origin is hazy. Kennedy himself has frequently mentioned a youth movement in this area in the early months of his administration.

On Nov. 2, the future president formally promised: "We are going to have the best Army we can get for our country abroad, and I think the United States is going to have the best Army we can get for our country abroad."

"For the fact of the matter that our college and Peace and Czecho-Slovakia and Italy, Germany are hundreds of thousands of women scientists, physicians, teachers, engineers, nurses, studying in its institutes, prepared to spend their lives abroad in the service of world communities.

Student Says
It's Zany, But Dorm Life Is Fun

By David Clayton

Have you ever wondered what goes on behind the walls of a dormitory? Many girls have as they stroll over to the library, caf and talking excitedly they pass each window.

An analysis of the various activities is very perplexing. Many of the experiences and feeling cannot be written. However, some of the reasons that dormitory life is more diverting than home life may be found in the following tomfoolery of Reade Hall.

How about the evening that you planned to study and several friends came in to talk for a few minutes; however, the gab session lasted until 1:00 in the morning and still was gaining audience—the house mother and proctors.

Maybe one morning you tried to sleep late; you probably found it useless. There are those innocent friends that continually wake you at unseasonal intervals—every ten minutes.

Or how about the shaving lotion that evades the razor razor? Anything that can cause confusion and disorder.

So here are those serious times when you make a hasty exit from the room, only to find that your door and your neighbor's door have been tied together. You try to start your car in order to make an already late appointment, but your collar wire is later found in your own closet. You may reach for a piece of candy in a friend's candy jar but find ill respect has been done earlier.

Of course, some of these things are ridiculous but they all go together to offer a person at college a chance to experience things to live successfully in a college dormitory.

Home life makes the person take a different route to make the same adjustments in life. He still has his parents and family to help him. However, the dormitory gives the student the brotherly love of other dorm feeling. He finds a friend who is willing to take the extra time to help him with his problems. It may be the house mother, his roommate, or close friend.

This is Reade Hall. The hidden occurrences that make it a boy's dormitory today and a man's dormitory tomorrow; the male campus student of study and the adapted member of tomorrow's society.
