SGA Suspends Senior Member From Council

"One member of the Student Government Association has been removed from the council, and three others have been suspended," said SGA president Laurice Coan.

"Sandy Mars, Senior Boys' Representative on the SGA, has been suspended," said Coan. "The SGA council charged Mars with being involved in an unchaperoned party," said the SGA president.

The SGA presented the charge against Mars, and he has had a chance to defend himself; however, he could not attend the hearing because of the university policy regarding attendance.

"That means they have no voice or vote in the SGA. They can get back on the council if they want to," said Coan.

"No plans have been made to fill any vacancy," said Coan, "because it is near spring elections." Another vacancy on the council was caused by the resignation of Ronald Thomas, who is now in the Student Affairs department, and does not live in the dormitory this quarter, Coan said this vacancy will be filled by a temporary member who has been temporarily suspended from the council for missing more than two meetings.

Big Mouths Make Problems

There is a small problem at VSC which I feel could mushroom into something much more serious. I refer to students who have big notions and little minds. They can be more annoying and cause more trouble than any people I know.

For example, there is the student who always has a cute remark for his professor's statement. The class laughs at the professor's remark because it is clever, not cute. The bright student has to throw out his own cute comment, and his blank silence falls over the classroom. The student should realize that one never, but never, upstages a professor if he wants to pass the course. Besides, if his remark was not worth hearing, he should speak it in barely audible tones. Those around him can laugh in appreciation, without the professor ever knowing.

The professor, to get the last word, must then engage in a rapport with the student, lure him onto unfamiliar ground, and move in for the verbal kill.

Another antagonizing student is one who asks an elementary question, and tries to get the professor to debate with him. This in itself is bad enough. But if the professor debates, it is a disaster. This debate, in all probability draws him in other students. There is a full-fledged debate going between the professor and his students concerning "should the Supreme Court be impeached for usurping powers from the President and Congress." If you have ever been in one of these conversations, you know the seven rules these big-mouthed, little-minded people follow.

1) If you don't have anything to say, say it, especially if it has been said before. 2) Always enter the discussion late. Comment on a statement made an hour before. 3) Use the biggest words you can. 4) Do not be logical. 5) Do not try to get down to basics. Always speak in generalities. 6) Talk loudly and try to be clever.

Always, these big talkers confuse confusion with intellectualism. They love to use big, ambiguous words, whether or not they know the meanings. They forget that Winston Churchill, the greatest speaker of this century, always used the simplest word he could.

The problem is a legitimate one. These big talkers with little or no discretion waste class time in useless debating. When all they're trying to do is be sarcastically, intellectually clever. If they are ever on a panel discussion, they never give anyone else a chance to speak.

In club meetings they always have something to say. These incessant talkers never get the discussion set down to brass tacks. They are too busy worrying about projected situations, theories, and generalities.

These talkers, if they have a narrow mind, can be most dangerous in shaping public opinion. They are always the ones who complain the most and talk the loudest about nothing. And some people are impressed by big talk rather than rational reasoning.

Somehow we need to cure these big talkers before they are turned loose on the rest of the world.

SEASONS INFLUENCE LOVE

"Love is the passionate and abiding desire on the part of two or more persons to share together the conditions under which each can be, and spontaneously express, his real self, to produce together an intellectual and an emotional climate in which each can develop to the utmost of what either could achieve alone... Technical. But true.

Yes, love is a many-splendored thing, but it is also painfully destructive.

Love is subject to change without notice. It is affected not only by the whims of the people but by the mighty forces of nature. And when does nature fight hardest to defeat love or, according to statistics, Mother Nature is most cruel in late autumn. More lovers fall out of love in the month of November than at any other time of year. The month of March is the next worst, though love, for reasons that are not well understood, must be as much as ever in the heart of the lover. The third week in March is the time of year when the men and women of the South meet for the Georgia State, Mercer, and Columbus College. Their purpose is to write a constitution for the Georgia Collegiate Press Association under the sponsorship of the Georgia Press Association."

Students Voice Needed Changes

If you could change anything about VSC, what would it be?...? Nancy Jenkins (fr.) I'd like the bookstore to be more open around for reading...? Jo Hodges

Denny Tyson (soph.) I think girls should be allowed to wear pants and be more independent. That would just take up campus, for instance, to the dining hall in the morning, and to supper. Tom Jenkins (fr.) We need more scholarships and opportunities for the Greek organizations on campus.

Mr. Lee Bennett, art professor at VSC, says, "I can't remember when I wasn't interested in art. I was even before I started school." Mr. Bennett has studied painting with Dall Reed in Oklahoma and Karl Zerbe in Tallahassee. His primary interest lies in painting pine trees, to beacces, swamps, inns, and members of his family. Exhibitions of Mrs. Bennett's paintings have appeared at Oklahoma State University, Louisiana Art Center, Louisvill, Southern Art Exhibition; Atlanta, and Georgia Art Association. -- one man show--in Tallahassee.

Bobby Ritch Gets All State Awards

Each year the Atlanta Journal picks two basketball teams representing the finest ball players from the numerous year colleges in the state. This year Bobby Ritch was named to the All State first team and Camerone continues as the All State second team as a sophomore. Ritch, who attended Atlanta North High School, was named to the All State first team last year and Camerone was named to the All State second team last year. Both players have starred on the basketball court for the past three years.

War On Affection

(MCP) — The great issues of education having been solved, Colorado State University has turned its "loving" attention to a problem dear to the heart of the CSU student: Public Display of Affection.

The VSC tennis team, premiered its 1965 season by playing strong, scholarshiped FSU Saturday. Led by a fine young South African, FSU powered their way to a 9-0 match sweep and a 214 season record.

The VSC tennis team, led by Tom Anderson, continued to show their ability against FSU's other top player, Billy Gillis, while losing, showed glimpses of brilliance which should give the Conference Championship. Anderson, half of a doubles team which won the conference doubles last year, teamed with Milner in making the Seminoles earn a 6, 63 victory.

Anderson lost 62, 64, against FSU South African, and Gillis playing FSU's other top player, lost 61, 61.

Billy Gillis has shown much improvement over last year, and is the team's finest server. Tom Anderson continues to show his over all finesse and should win the conference singles championship. Tom Milner is perhaps the best doubles net man, and makes most of his points in this position. The team returns three other regulars, Bill Spillers, Jimmy Burrough, and Earl Willis, all juniors. Three new additions, Mike Fletcher, a sophomore, Mike Slack and Andy Lauren, both freshmen, complete the team.

Practice Begins For Tennis Team

A Debating Team Is Being Formed

A debating team is in the process of being formed here at VSC. According to Saunders Greenwood, the team's advisor, the team is still in the early stages of formation, and it will take time and much work before it is firmly established. It will participate in tournaments with such schools as the University of Kentucky and Georgia Southern.

Mike Slack, the leading proponent of the team, sees the debating team would be good for the college, would bring recognition to the college and the city of Valdosta. It is mandatory for a school of this size, he says, if we are in a position of growing and advancing. We would do well to do it.

It has been quite some time since we have received invitations to some of the tournaments. Now it is up to the students to decide whether they want a debating team or not. The Public Debate Society will hold a meeting to discuss the possibility of starting a debate team.

The question that the team will face is whether or not they want to have a debate team. The team is composed of students who are interested in public speaking and debate. The team has received invitations to some of the tournaments and is looking for more opportunities to compete.

The team is looking for new members to join and contribute to the team's success. If you are interested in joining, please contact the team advisor, Saunders Greenwood, for more information.

Weitman helped keep the Rebels in the limelight as did old hands Bobby Ritch, Tommy Johnson, Ray McCulley and Preston Hodges.

In the playoffs, Del Rio downed the Crusaders in both of their sixes, 6-2, 6-3; Bennett-Poore (FSU), beat Earl Willis-Gillis (VSC), 6-4, 6-1; Paul Bennett (FSU) beat Tom Milner (VSC), 6-3, 6-2; Mike Slack and Andy Lauren, both freshmen, complete the team.

Makers Of The Monorail Want You To

a phenomenal growth. Over 99 million Americans are bowling in some 11,000 modern tenpin of today's bowlers are women, AMF turned its attention to to haute couture.

Clothes that are too tight cramp a bowler's movement, and those that are too loose can obstruct delivery of the ball and affect style.
