Bids are to be opened on November 16 for the construction of a new shop and warehouse building at VSC. The building will be in the $50,000 range and will incorporate all the existing buildings, according to Larry McCoy, VSC Comptroller. The present shop, which is southwest of the gym, will be torn down and the metal building next to it will be converted into a shop. The new warehouse will be built to the west of the metal buildings with a walk extending from the warehouse to the metal buildings and connecting up again at the other end of the warehouse. Walking in the shop will allow a future extension of the roof to create another building on the site of the original warehouse. A parking shelter will be built along the entire east wall of the structure. The existing fence will be moved and extended to encompass the warehouse and the boiler plant. Entrance to the warehouse will be made from Oak Street.

The four other construction sites on the campus are in varying stages of completion. There have been rumors of labor problems, material shortages, and bad weather bringing progress to a halt. These rumors are exaggerated by the normal problems of a hidden boiler pit that no one expected would ever find its way to the building. The problem will be over by the time the building is ready for use Spring quarter, and the science part ready by Summer quarter. Only the new equipment on North Campus will be moved. The rest will have to be built. The building will cost about $500,000.

The Student Government Association is sponsoring a bicycle race tomorrow, November 6. An Awards Dance will be given tomorrow night at which a trophy will be awarded to the winning team and a few ribbons will be given to individuals who excelled in the race. The dance will be at 8 p.m. in the gym and is for VSC students and their dates only. The Ivey's Lea gum from VSC will perform.

Bike Race Begins Tomorrow Money Helps Tracksters

The Student Government Association is sponsoring a bicycle race tomorrow, November 6. The race will start at 2 p.m. and will continue approximately 2½ hours. The race will be a relay race on bicycles which will be about 25 miles long. There will be at least ten teams, four boys on each team, and the team members may divide the race in any way they wish. Only one bicycle per team will be allowed and any type bicycle without racing gears may be used. After the bicycle race there will be a girls race on tricycles, wagons or scooters. This race will not be as long as the bicycle race, but it promises just as much excitement.

The price of admission for this race will be 25¢ per person. The proceeds will be used to support the VSC Track Team. According to Jim Whiteside, president of the SGA, "The public is invited to this race, and we hope a lot of people to come so that we can make a lot of money for our Track Team."

"Wake Up Darling" To Be Held Nov. 12-13

The first showing of the drama is to be the weekend of November 12-13. A different act is to be presented all weekend. VSC students may attend the play for free upon presentation of the student card.

Miss TKE Calendar Girl 'It Seems Like A Dream'

"It's like a dream! I am so proud of the opportunity to represent my sorority, Phi Mu, by being Miss Calendar Girl," said Bonnie Gerlock, the newly elected Miss TKE Calendar Girl for 1966. Sponsored by the Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity, the calendar girl contest is an annual social highlight of Valdosta State College.

This year the contest was held Saturday night at the Ed Murith Municipal Auditorium in Valdosta. First runner-up in the contest was Priscilla Bagby of Alpha Delta Phi sorority; second place winner was Jane Duncan of Phi Mu sorority; third place winner was Patricia Williston of Alpha Phi Mu, Jennifer Stidham of Phi Mu, and fourth place winner was Angie Jarrett of Kappa Delta sorority.

Other coeds placing in the top twelve were Joanne Cason of ADPi, Patsy Henry of Phi Mu, Sandy Lamoignette of Alpha Xi Delta, Bobbie Minnick of AXi, Susan Parramore of Phi Mu, Jean Rumph, Independent and Jennifer Stewart of AXi.

For Miss Gerlock her "good luck charm," as she termed it, was her dress. When she wore the white, strapless gown in the Miss Valdosta contest, she captured the title of first runner-up. The daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Don Gerlock of Valdosta, Miss Gerlock is a member of the Fin and Flippers Club, as well as Phi Mu sorority. Although she hopes to obtain a major in education, she also hopes to continue her work in dancing which has been her favorite creative outlet for nearly all of her 19 years.

Miss Gerlock, a sophomore at VSC, will represent the month of January on the TKE calendar. The other 11 finalists and semi-finalists will be named the remaining months of the year.

Other girls in the beauty pageant directed by TKE brother Jerome Blanton, were Carol McKinnie, Royce Bridges, Marsha Bravewell, Sandy Stewart, Laurie Carlisle, Julia Hutchinson, Ann Walker, Rosemary Rolf, Donna Gleaton, Connie Champion, Breck Roper, Cecelia Barnes and Nancy Meigs.

During intermission a folk singing group of four Valdosta High School girls performed the entertainment.

German Students Have Liederfests, Gesprachtisch

The German students at Valdosta State College should be among the most enthusiastic students on campus. Members of the Modern Foreign Language Department, under the supervision of Rev. Bill Adams, are sponsoring two activities which are designed to stimulate the students' interest in the language while helping them to learn it. These activities are the German Songfests and the German Conversation Table.

The Songfests, or Liederfests, are held every Thursday night at the Wesley Foundation from seven to eight o'clock. The students gather around the piano with McKinley and sing German folk songs and ballads. There is quite a bit of conversation going on and students have an opportunity to learn a lot about the language as well as some of the customs of the German people.

The German Conversation, or Gesprachtisch, meets every day at noon in the VSC dining hall. The students who wish to come eat lunch while indulging in a German conversation with their friends and colleagues. Subjects for conversation range from A to Z, and quite a bit of German vocabulary and grammar is exposed. According to McKinley, the songfests and conversation table are opportunities for the enjoyment of the German students as well as for anyone else who would like to attend.

Recreation in Remerton

By JANE CANNON

Members of the Wesley Foundation and the community for Methodist students have found a new project to work on. Every Thursday afternoon at 3:30 interested students gather to find the city of Remerton, just outside the city limits of Valdosta. A new recreational program planned for the children of the community. Those workers participating in the program so far are chairman of the committee, Kay Porter, Rev. McAlister, vice president, Harris Beddingfield, secretary, Jimmy Hewitt, treasurer, Horton Grif fin, chaplain, and Bob Hamilton, sergeant-at-arms.

The Songfests, or Liederfests, were launched on Oct. 14 when student workers took a survey in the village to find the most enthusiastic group among the children of Remerton Church. The department is sponsoring two activities for Methodist students, have found a new project this year. The VSC workers, the children take part in many kinds of organized games. The boys play softball and football while the girls are more interested in group games and relay races. Refreshments are served to the children at the end of each session.

The VSC students say they are participating in the program because they like working with children and enjoy seeing the youngsters' enthusiasm response to the recreation activities.

Rev. Starling commented that the only problem with the whole project was that the children still were "raring to go" at the end of each session.

The actual purpose of the program is to provide entertainment and recreation for the children of the village. VSC workers hope it will also give the children as well as for Spanish-speaking children. Four weeks were spent in Vacation Bible school in which some of the classes were held outside of under parachutes. She described the children as being poverty stricken, without food or clothes and often from broken homes which the fathers had deserted.

Little English Spoken

The children and adults spoke very little English. She described one incident in which a Spanish woman remarked, "My baby was so small they had to put it in a 'coolerater.'"

After a five day visit to Mexico Sheila observed, "After grocery shopping a little of the environment is easier to understand the ways of those who have come into our country from underprivileged and often from broken homes."

Rock ‘n Rollers Wow Audience At First SGA Performance

By BOBBIE NICKEL

A crowd of over 1000 people filled the VSC gym for the first SGA concert of the year, and the Campus Canopy sells a $400 profit from the performance.

Performers at the concert were the McCoys, the Shangri-Las, Ivey’s League, Jimmy Clinton, and Freddie Cannon. Ivey’s League which is from Valdosta accompanied the other groups besides giving their own performances.

During the performance of the McCoys the crowd went wild. Since the sound went off during “Sleptie” the audience demanded a second performance of that number. Other songs that the McCoys sang were “Shout,” “Knew You’d Win,” and “You’ve Got to Hide Your Love Away.”

Good news to all McCoy fans—they will be coming back to Valdosta from their home town of Indiana and Ohio along with the Dreamers and the Shangri-Las.

The boys went wild when the Shangri-Las were on stage. Even though the girls are from Queens, New York, they sang “Georgia on My Mind” and “Walking in the Sand.”

Freddie Cannon came on with “Kansas City” and “Where the Action Is” in which the audience sang and clapped along with him.

All in all the concert was a huge success. The MacCoys were warmly received. There was an excellent turnout for this event, and everyone seemed to enjoy the show very much. Thank you SGA.

G.A. Endorses Viet Nam Policy

Proud To Serve His Country

[Editorial Note: The following letter was written to Campus staff writer Bob Grondahl by Pfc. Courtland Fisher who is currently serving in Vietnam.]

Grondahl adds his comments to the letter. I asked Courtland for his opinions on the demonstrations here in America about Vietnam. He sent the following letter of which I took liberty of having Grondahl add his comments to the letter.

Pfc. D. C. Fisher is now stationed in Chua Tai (50 miles south of Da Nang) and serves as an electronics technician. Courtland’s sister, Jan, attends the University of Georgia and his parents reside in Ortega Park of Jacksonville, Florida.

Courtland tells me he expects to return home in 1968 if all goes well.

If you feel that this “open letter to the students of America” (or in your instance; to the students at VSC) will help, then you’re welcome to use it in the paper.

I can’t truthfully say that I hear malice toward those students that are demonstrating against the U.S. policy here in Vietnam. Rather, I feel pity for them. I feel that if they really looked into the situation objectively, they’d realize that we’re ever here fighting for ideals, rather than against any specific people. If they could see the Vietnamese children that have been orphaned by the VC’s (Viet Cong) or the villages that have been intimidated and destroyed by the Communists, I know they’d never think of giving up on their ideals. Vietnam is where I served being done by some college students.

Viet Nam Communism

I feel (and most of us over here feel the same way) that we must stop the spread of Communism, to keep the free world. Vietnam is just the place we’ve got to go to oppose them. I know I could be back in the states going to college, dating girls and having a ball in general. But I wasn’t here, but I’m here fighting for exactly those rights (at the present for you’ll back home you may also enjoy and but also insuring them for myself when I return).

I personally feel proud to do this because I feel that I owe a debt to the United States for giving me the freedoms we have to enjoy and I consider it very important enough to fight for. I also feel that these “radicals” (what the papers call the demonstrators) mature a bit and really understand the situation they will realize that they’ve been led astray. I also feel that these demonstrations will wake up a lot of people up to the fact that we are, in general, inclined to take our freedom and liberty for granted.

Promote Patriotism

If they (the demonstrations) promote a feeling of intense patriotism in that vast majority that disagree with the demonstrators, then I feel they will have served a beneficial purpose, rather than detrimental, at least, I hope this is what happens. Believe me, I’m not encouraging to hear that students in your own country, are collecting money to send to the people you’re fighting for your life and freedom.

I feel confident that these demonstrations will cease to be so violent and growing up to “a mere whisper” from those people that always want to oppose something.

Of course, we all realize that it’s just a small percentage of the population that is garnering all those headlines. We know the

A Few Have Tried To Fill The Void

The problem has been presented: VSC is lacking in what it takes to make it a truly great college. One feature stimulating lecturers or the variety of courses offered is nothing sponsored by the college per se promotes the student into an awareness of what is happening in the world.

But there are groups on campus which are aware of this gap and do something to stimulate student thought about it outside the textbook. The drama and music departments each quarter present programs which the students should support. Various clubs on campus hold programs geared to making the student aware of social, religious and political problems.

Drama, Music, Movies

The drama department each quarter presents a play of high quality. The most recent was "Far from the Madding Crowd," written by Thomas Hardy and directed by Dr. Fredric Levine. The students put on a top notch job, andprovoked much discussion among the students. One cannot be so simple as to presume the fault lies with an unaware student. It is just as bad to concentrate on the cultural opportunities at VSC. This group, as well as others present on campus are now sponsoring a series of discussion films dealing with social, religious and political problems. It is also interesting to note that many students attend discussion groups dealing with everything from pre-marital sex to existentialism to the student protesters against Viet Nam.

One cannot be so simple as to presume the fault lies with an unaware student.

Fault Lies With Apathetic Students

One can readily see the fault lies in the anarchy of VSC students. One cannot tell what he is doing or what he wants to do. He is just as bad as the others, and it is up to him to realize that he is no longer just a student, but a person with an organization. But, the student must be made aware that he needs to broaden his concepts of what a true education is.

One cannot be so simple as to presume the fault lies with an unaware student.

Rock’n roll should not be condemned. It is a very real part of our culture. But a steady diet of one thing is not good. It is like having just as little variety as it is to concentrate on modern culture. But at VSC we dwell on the modern, the here and now, and are oblivious to the past or future.

Continue Education On Our Own

This four year education may be sufficient for today. But what good will it be five or 20 years from now? We need to learn to continue our education on our own. A man is not well-educated if he knows nothing and appreciates nothing beyond the textbook.

There is a student-faculty committee working now on improving the education here at VSC. Is the modern education on campus, aware of the void that must be filled. These first attempts at broadening education must be supported by interested VSC students or enthusiasm will die out completely.

City To Call Library Referendum, Qualified Students Must Vote Yes

"If a man read little he need hath much cunning to seem to know that he doth not," warns an inscription over the entrance of Powell Library. Accordingly, the inadequate public library facilities in Valdosta must have fostered many extremely intelligent individuals, as library conditions hardly encourage the public to read. The city will call a referendum for a new library on November 15. The students at Valdosta State College constitute a sizable vote. College students should be aware, perhaps more so than the general public, how important it is to an individual's intellectual development to be well-read. Beyond formal education, the public library is the only recourse for most individuals to continue to expand their reading. Every qualified student should vote for the approval of the library.

Carnegie Library, recently renamed South Georgia Regional Library, is struggling to serve the public with outdated facilities and equipment. A library study uncompromisingly reports, "That at some places that state a protection from the elements. Here are no features of the Carnegie building and much of the equipment therein that is satisfactory. These deficiencies should provide the library service from this building will continue to be so unsatisfactory and ineffective that it amounts to a waste of tax funds to secure such a small return from the community's investment."

The same building which now serves a population of 5,594 with a staff of 8% librarians was built in 1913 to serve about 8,000 people with a staff of 17 librarians and 1,500 books. The present library has a book collection of 68,498 to be used by three counties—Lowndes, Echols, and Lanier. Total circulation for 1964 as 454,386.

Inadequate reference material forced high school students to turn to the college library, which had to refuse in order to meet the demands of its own increasing enrollment. Limited shelf space severely restricts the diversity and number of selections. The condition of the building is an anachronism in a supposedly progressive community.
College Ruins Student Morale, All Just Matter of Adjustment

You say you love college and you’re getting D’s in all your subjects? You say you cut classes so you can play drums? You say you have halltoias because everytime you go to brush your teeth you fall into the mirror? You say your roommate is a pet snake and she the ex-pect to love it as a sister (brother)? Is that your trouble? You say you were running down the hall in your bare (shoes) and panties (shorts) and you ran right into the pantry as he was yelling “Man (Woman) Out of the House!”. You say you were going to State for the weekend and there were 99 inches of snow Friday? And you say that last weekend you were supposed to go to Yale for Homecoming ceremonies and you got diarrhetic? You say you’re starving and the machine won’t give you change for your last 50 cents. You say you’re out of razor blades and the machine still won’t give you change so you say you’re having room check tomorrow and it’s a rat race to hide the iron, the dining room silver and dishes, the stolen school towels, the ironing board and the beer cans? You say you’re going before the judicial coun-cil because you’re caught in the attic of the Fraternity House (Residence House). You say you stayed up all night studying for a test and then slept through the next day? You say you’re out of clothes and ripped them all to shreds while wearing your best shoes (she (he) fell down the stairs and broke the heel and it’s a blind date and his (her) guide dog but you) is that all that’s on your mind?

You say you were in the shower with your hair full of shampoo and the fire alarm went off? You say you got a call from the library saying you owed $25.00 for overdue books? You had a date with some terribly handsome boy (pretty girl) and you campused and can’t go out with Mr. “Big” (Miss “Big”) for the next two months? You say your room faces the men’s (women’s) dorm and the window shade fell off? And now you’re dressing in the closet? You say this morning the closet door fell off? And now you have to clean the johns’ ‘cause you were dressing in the hall?

Well, my dear, don’t despair. Keep your chin up. It’s all in adjusting to college life. (Ed. Note: The following story was written by a student at Boston University. It was submitted for publication to The Canopy by a VSC student.)

Mrs. Gertrude Odum Retires to a Life of Activity.

Mrs. Odum Keeps Active Taking Busman’s Holiday

“What is Aunt Gerlie doing now that she has retired?” is a question asked by many students about Mrs. Gertrude Odum who retired last spring after teaching for 43 years in the English department of Valdosta State College.

Mrs. Odum states that she is simply taking a ‘busman’s holiday’ because she is still teaching, reading, and writing, as well as keeping up with the activities in her church.

During the summer Mrs. Odum began teaching classes at a local business as a part of a personnel training program.

Bookstore In Making

Recently students have noticed that Mrs. Odum has been spending quite a bit of time in the college library. When asked about this Mrs. Odum commented, “At the present time, I am expanding my endeavors to include a bookstore and travel agency.”

Backed by a local business, Mrs. Odum plans to open a bookstore and travel agency at Brookwood Plaza in the near future. The J. N. Bray Company has established credit with more than 80 national book concerns in order to offer a wide and varied selection of books to the people in this area.

“We will try to offer books to the public that can not be obtained in this area at the present time so there will be no infringement on any of the present book dealers around Valdosta,” said Mrs. Odum.

Concerning her philosophy of good books as opposed to censorship, Mrs. Odum said, “If enough good books are made available to the public, there should not be any need for censorship.”

She added that the book store would try to service the needs of the people in the area by ordering any book that was requested by anyone and that if the book was out of print every attempt would be made to locate it for a customer.

Mrs. Odum said that she is very excited about her new venture, “and I am just as happy as I was teaching, because so much of the paper work has been eliminated.”

Theatre Trip To New York

On November 21, Mrs. Odum is taking a group on a Theatre Trip to New York. This project is being sponsored by a local railway companies.

The group will stay at the new Manhattan Hotel, which is located in the heart of the New York theatre district. The play that will be seen by the group is “Hello Dolly,” “Half a Sixpence,” and “Odd Couple.”

Another Theatre Trip is being planned in December. The group will leave on December 15. Mrs. Odum explained that a reduced rate for students has been applied for and she hopes that this rate will be available to students for the December trip. Other details have not been completed for the December trip.

Sororities Have New House

“Attention! All sororities will meet in their respective rooms on North Patterson today.” To most of you this would seem an ordinary announcement at VSC. But not so!

At this time last year the sororities met in rooms in the dormitories. This brought about much confusion in the dorms and also consumed badly needed space. Even though everyone involved was at a disadvantage, it seemed as if nothing could be done.

A few weeks before school began, Dean Ogletree notified the sorority presidents that a new house had been purchased at 1605 North Patterson Street. This house was originally purchased for girls to live in since the dorms were overcrowded. This proved impractical and then all thoughts were to turn the house into a Panhellenic House.

Each of the four sororities, Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Xi Delta, Kappa Delta and Phi Mu has an individual room in which to meet. A representative from each sorority met in Miss Ogletree’s office and drew numbers to determine which room each would have.

All roommates and much praise has been given to these new rooms.

Kappa Delta: president Josephine Brill. Kappa Delta was originally presiden-ts, ADPi Elaine Freeman, AXDi Gayle Pinkston, and Phi Mu Louise Hill when she commented, “We appreciate the sorority rooms greatly because we have more storage space, privacy, and it gives us a feeling of unity for all the sororities to be together. In fact, we think they are.”

Dianne Thilenmam, and ADPi thinks the rooms are progress for the Greeks on campus.

You know, we often hear this statement: "Practice, what you do in the classroom is important, but what really counts is what you do in practice." Of course, the Rebels won, but in winning, the referees did an excellent job. The game was played in Valdosta on November 12 and 13. Reid and Geoff Russell of the Rebels did an excellent job of refereeing. Practice games with members of the team, because practice is an important part of the game. The Rebels won, but in winning, the referees did an excellent job.

Another point is the use of funds allotted to us. What I'm trying to say is that if you were in my place, you would pay $1000 to have a golf tournament. Sororities, Fraternities Add Pledges

Recent Greek activities on the Valdosta State College campus have included the addition of new pledges to sororities and fraternities, the election of pledge-class officers and sweethearts, and initiation into the brotherhoods and sisterhoods, and individual projects by the seven Greek organizations.

AXID's Pledge Three

Three pledges have been added to Alpha Xi Delta sorority—they are Pat Paschal and Alice Embry of Atlanta, and Nancy Harrow of Griffin. Newly elected pledge class officers are president Jan Jenkins of Valdosta, vice-president Sherry Normorl of Atlanta, treasurer Bobbi Farrrow of Covington, secretary Sandy Lamontagne of Valdosta, and song leader Diane Stewart of Albany. An initiation banquet was held at Howard Johnson's on October 23. Lineberger Serves At Camp, Spends Summer In Maryland

"This summer was really an enlightening one," said James Lineberger. "It's hard to believe that there are children growing up without ever seeing grass, and yet many of the children at the Fresh-Air camp saw it for the first time in their lives. A few didn't know what some of the foods served at meals were, because their usual diets consisted mainly of bread."

"These kids came from slums and from not very happy homes," continued James, "but they were all very innocent—nobody was bad. They were just typical children."

James plans to return to the Fresh-Air camp next summer and take another group of kids.

'Bitch-In' Lets Off Steam For U Of Colorado Students

BOULDER, Colo. (CPS & ACP) — "Imagine walking into a large auditorium and being handed an IBM card with a coded number. It happens all the time, you know?"

Then imagine being encouraged to bend, spindle, mutilate, fold, or otherwise mess up that IBM card. It can't happen? Students at the University of Colorado are being encouraged to do just that.

It's all part of a plan sponsored by the Associated Students on that campus to allow the student to "get it off his chest." The program is called a "bitch-in on the Multiversity." Each student who attends has an opportunity to speak for 5 minutes about anything that bothers him. Of the 2,800 students present when the event got under way at 10 p.m., only about 200 stragglers remained until 4 a.m. when the last "bitcher" had his say.

The entire evening was organized under the guidance of Howard Higman, a sociology professor. Higman, students say, "tends their parties, drinks with them, and responds happily when students call him at 3 a.m. for a talk.

At certain points throughout the evening, the affair threatened to turn into a circus, with effect measured more in terms of oratorical adeptness than actual complaints. Reason, or the word most frequently heard throughout the evening, "responsibility," was quickly restored by a hard-core group of 50 "student leaders."

According to this group, the purpose of the entire evening was to find out if student opinion existed on questions of education reform, academic freedom, and administrative control, as they felt it did. They were searching, essentially, for a "mandate for action."

They dismissed all critics who felt the evening was an administrative plot to try and level off student protest by giving it a 'vocal letting-off-of-steam."

Seating was not available for half of the early crowd; many sat, slept, and did homework on the floor, while others wandered in and out of the room and into the hallway where the "bitch-in" was held, students milled about, most of them trying to think of a "bitch" they might air. One small Brunette from California walked back and forth wrapped in red ribbon with a sign on her back stating "I protest the red tape at the University of Colorado."

On the ballroom ceiling hangs a $1,000 mobius strip built by IBM for a special conference they had at the University. It is an endless strip, on which light can carry and never cross itself. This caused one observer to remark that it was a little like the university—"built by science and running around in a never-ending circle trying to find itself."

The hard raisin cookies and stale donuts and black coffee promised by the administration did not materialize until three hours after the program began. This was noted with a caustic eye by one observer who said, "They're three hours late with a lot more than coffee."

While all the students who talked were the "normal student type"—no bearded or sandaled rebels—there were virtually no faculty or administrators present to hear the students' speeches.

The loudest "bitches" of the entire evening came from the Mike Royers, who are used to having the Memorial Center locked at 11 p.m. They complained to each other loudly of those "complaining students" of society and the place of the student in the world to denunciations of the showers in the dormitory.

During the SGA rock and roll concert, the male elements admiring, erstwhile exuberance over the Shangri-La's equalled, if not excelled, the female frenzy over the McCoy's. One student admired yelled at the Shangri-La's, "You don't have to sing, just stand there."
