Organizational Meeting For Volleyball

A Valley Ball League is being formed in intramural sports on the VSC campus. A short organizational meeting will be held in the gym Wednesday night April 28, at 7:15.

The requirements are nine members including one faculty member and at least three girls on each team. Three teams have already been formed: the East Dorm team with Mr. Gary Bass, the Speech Department team with Mr. Stan DeHart, and the Campus Canopy team.

The teams will start playing next week. Anyone interested in starting a team should be at the organizational meeting Wednesday night.

Young Democrats Organize, Plan To Attend Platform Convention

A Young Democrats of Georgia Club is in the process of being established at VSC. An organizational meeting has been held and plans were made for the club to attend the College Young Democrats Platform Convention at the University of Georgia April 29 and 30.

The club is recruiting any interested student to go to the convention. The cost of the convention will be $8, which includes meals and a place to stay. Transportation will be provided. Anyone interested in going should contact either Dr. G. M. Gabard, Mike Slack, Ron Bledsoe, Gerald Boyd, David Ratcliffe, Gary Coleman, James Lineburger, Sandy Odum, Kay Powell, Barbara Rosden, Niawa tha Sapp, and Mell McCord. These men will attend a party for the delegates on Friday night and then each will speak to the convention Saturday morning Saturday night each candidate will give an individual party and the delegates are free to attend any of them.

According to the club’s organizational chairman, Mike Slack, “We want to take enough people to the convention so that we will have an effective voice in the discussion Saturday morning. We want VSC to be heard and respected as a growing school.”

The purpose and goals of the club are to support the platform and policies of the Democrat Party, to promote an interest in government, to give interested persons a chance to participate in party affairs, and to gain political experience through social contacts among the other Young Democrat Clubs of the state.

Slack points out that, “As a club we do not support any candidate, but any individual member may campaign for the candidate who has his support.”

The club is still in the beginning stages of organization and needs new members. Slack says, “We want interested people, of both sexes, who are willing to work.”

Schedules of future meetings will be posted around campus.

Wesley Readers’ Theatre To Perform In Atlanta

The Wesley Players, a reader's theatre group sponsored by the Wesley Foundation, is preparing two dramas to be presented at Emory University and Georgia Tech in Atlanta. The players are to go to Atlanta May 12-15.

Under the direction of Stan DeHart of the VSC drama department, the players are to present Agatha Christie’s “Ten Little Indians” and an adaptation of Reginald Rose’s “Twelve Angry Men” has been adapted to have a mixed cast and will be billed as “The Jury.”

Members of the two casts are Terry Carter, Janelle Matthews, Gwen Hart, Vance Boone, Carol Bledsoe, Gerald Boyd, David Ratcliffe, Gary Coleman, James Lineburger, Sandy Odum, Kay Powell, Barbara Rosden, Nia waatha Sapp, and Mell McCord. Steve Burton is assisting with props and technicalities.

“Ten Little Indians” is a murder mystery involving a psychopath and nine people stranded on an island. The people are murdered by a plan set forth in a rhyme about ten little Indians. “The Jury” is the study of the actions of a jury while deciding the fate of a boy accused of murdering his father. The drama deals with the concept of what constitutes a “reasonable doubt” when having to decide someone’s innocence or guilt.

Serenaders To Present ‘Down In The Valley’

The Serenaders are now working on a musical, Kurt Weill’s Down in the Valley. The musical is under the direction of Mr. Lavan Robinson, director of the Serenaders. It will be presented this quarter in Pound Hall Auditorium.

The story of the opera is the love of Brack Weaver and Jennie Parsons and their conflict with Jennie’s father and Thomas Bouche. The story starts with Brack Weaver in jail for the murder of Thomas Bouche. He escapes from prison to see Jennie one more time before he dies. Then there is a flash back to tell how Brack Weaver killed Thomas Bouche for the love of Jennie, and then the ending.

Parts of the score are based on American folk songs. The music is by Kurt Weill, the libretto is by Arnold Sundgaard. Songs used in the opera include “Down in the Valley,” “The Lonesome Dove,” “The Little Black Train,” “Hop Up, My Ladies,” and “Sourdough Mountain.”

Excitement being at a low ebb last week-end, Mike Nelson and Steve Parker played the unusually sedate card game for their age of "Old Maid" with official Old Maid cards. However, no statement could be obtained as to which card shark is now the "Old Maid" of the Hall.

Mr. Lamar Pearson of the history department decided that since women are reputed superior to men, he would conduct a survey in his class to see how many women would fight in Vietnam. Freshman Jackie Bierman, a potential draftee, was patrician with reservations. When asked if she would be willing to fight, she volunteered, "Well, yes, if the men were losing."

Mr. S. L. Varnadoe of the English department assigned a theme to his students in the non-credit language clinic. When one student protested, pleading a big test for the next day, Mr. Varnadoe sympathetically and poetically replied, "Tough toenails!"

During Monday's Student Government meeting, one student proposed a plan for revamping the SGA involving a rather complicated hierarchy including assistant editors. After listening to the description of the elaborate government, Ronald Thomas, a junior, asked, "If this goes through, maybe I could be appointed ambassador to ABAC?"

Anyone roaming around Barrow Hall who is suddenly seized with the strong premonition that he is being watched, is probably right. Lurking somewhere in the trees around the dorm is a rather friendly, very ugly, very green, very reptilian iguana, disowned mascot of the TKE's.

Wonder why the University of Georgia School of Forestry bus is loaded with raving, screaming males (of the shaggy-dog variety), so said one of them was touring the Valdosta State College campus? Could it be that they had to drive all the way down here to see a virgin pine?

On a recent trip to Twin Lakes, the subject came up about how nice it would be to tie a weight around the neck of Linda Reaves and thus drowning her. To which she calmly replied, "Debie will you sign me out?"

Crazy Days of April's History

As the usually peaceful month of April draws to an end, signs of strife are noted on the past historical scene. On April 22, 1808, in Persia, the Persianmutes conquered Yebbi by disguising themselves as dromedaries. On April 23, 1864, mutual trade agreements were signed by the Galapagos Islands and Tierra del Fuego. In 1779 in Oririty, India, the 808 Indian Chamber of Commerce adopted the slogan "Your future is great in a growing India," in an effort to stimulate their famous birth increase program.

Moving into our own century, on April 26, 1923, Dresden, Ger-mamy, was the scene, when the expressionists combined business by holding an art exhibit in a butcher shop. They sold 347 pounds of hamburger on the side.

Yort Frolics At Sex Party With Date

In the last exciting episode we left you with one outstanding question: Did Yort get it all over himself? Well, that's what we're here to tell you about.

That night Yort attended a party sponsored by Sigma Epsilon Chi fraternity with his girl Ewe Banga, an exchange student from the Fijii Islands. In case you haven't heard about a VSC from the Fijii Islands, get all dolled up for another "Adventure With Yort." This time they are going to a Sigma Epsilon Chi party.

Yort and his date Ewe Banga, foreign exchange student from the Fijii Islands, get all dolled up for another "Adventure With Yort." This time they are going to a Sigma Epsilon Chi party.

Following this Yort goes back to Ewe Banga, since the activities are only limited to sponsors.

Yort proceeds to dance with Ewe Banga to the rhythmic sounds of "Good Lovin'" and "Double Shot" performed by the evening's orchestra, Jim Brown and the Night Riders. As the night grows harder and harder to endure, Yort finds it increasingly difficult to control his emotions. Finally, compulsion drives him toward Ewe Banga to dance (at this point the lights go out) ... After the lights are restored, we take note that Yort is still in love, over him from the top of his head to the bottom of his feet, mak­ ing it very difficult to dance. The fool fell in a hole. (What is a hole in a party?) Well, gang, anyway we'll leave the rest up to your imagina­tion.

Since Yort is enjoying himself to such a vast extent he decides to stick it out through the rest of the party, knowing that there is plenty of time later on to engage in activities herewithout not mentioned.

The time finally arrives that our hero has been longing for — all evening—after the party is over. With only 30 minutes left, Yort decides to go back to the dorm and being a little high spiritually, not know­ing a hole from a tail in the ground, Yort decides to put it on her. Since Ewe Banga doesn't know what is coming off, she decides to endure it. Ewe Banga's heart beats faster and faster, her breathing goes to the point of the point of collapse, near faints at the sight of it but she accepts Yort's lavi­ rier. Ewe Banga wasn't just a little bit hesitant about accepting the latest Yort-type joke going around campus about the Yort Wayollah doll — you won't believe it and it hurts out lavi­ riers.

Nevertheless, she does accept since her roommate is lavaliered to Yort's esteemed roomie Dref Odwing. Ewe Banga feels that if her mate and Dref can make it, then she and Yort can. Yort, realizing that the midnight hour is approaching, flies like a bat out of hell back to Hutch's Nunney, otherwise known as Hopper Hall. Upon ar­ riving in the dorm, Yort tells Ewe Banga how much he cares for her and how much he is anticipating the upcoming an­ nual shack-up party in the Vir­ gin.

Be sure and read the next article which reveals what real­ ly happened at the Yort Wayollah bash. All this and much, much more will be revealed in the next issue.

The new President of the SGA has based his platform on four very progressive proposals. He publicized these proposal in his campaign speech by saying, "First, I believe that we need to eliminate the tradition of Rat Day. Its purpose is sup­ posedly to create unity within the Freshman class and encour­ age school spirit. Yet it is noth­ ing more than hazing."

"Secondly, I do not under­ stand the position that this col­ lege has held in the past against Negro entertainers performing on campus. I do not see how this can be upheld legally."

"Third, I believe that the Homecoming should be re­ vived. Self-government implies a commitment to responsibility. If we are responsible enough to govern ourselves, then we must be responsible enough to sit in judgment on our peers."

"Lastly, I believe that repre­ sentatives of the Student Body should be allowed to attend faculty meetings on a limited basis."

Spring Play Begins Next Weekend

The current library exhibit on Shakespeare will be on display until May 2. Most of the material is from the collection of Alex McFadden of the English department.

Dr. S. Walter Martin, president designate of Valdosta State College, has announced the appointment of Fluker G. Stewart, 44, Public Relations Director at Florida State University, DeLand, Fla., as Director of College Relations at VSC.

The Regents of the University System of Georgia approved the appointment.

This is a new position with VSC, and we feel fortunate to have found in Dr. Stewart the abilities we need in this position,” said Martin.

Dr. Stewart will take charge of adult education at VSC and will develop a program designed to serve the entire South Georgia area.

Correspondence Work Due

All students taking correspondence courses must turn in their course work by May 2 in order to receive credit for the class, announced the registrar’s office.

Honors Day Set May 4

Dr. Raymond A. Cook, president of Young Harris College and chairman-elect of the Valdosta State College English Department, will be the main speaker at the annual Valdosta State College Honors Day. The program is scheduled for Wednesday at 11:30 a.m. in the VSC gym.

The purpose of the program is to honor newly named members of Sigma Alpha Chi and Alpha Chi honor societies at the college, as well as to give recognition to students who have made outstanding achievements in various fields. The Annie Pogue Hopper award, and departmental awards will also be announced.

The Honors Day activities will begin with a coffee in the rotunda of Ashley Hall from 10:30-11:00 a.m. After the program, honors students and their parents, or guardians, will have lunch in the cafe of the college for lunch in the dining hall.

In Memory...

Jane Dewberry, a VSC freshman, was fatally injured in an automobile accident, April 12.

A man who proposes, "The State System is in trouble," is not lying. I believe in its inherent potential. We must feel that the Student Body wants the SGA to be a first, and powerful voice for the student. I believe it can be done,” has been elected President of the SGA in last year’s election.

Bill Wright of Valdosta carries over in this seat, as he was re-elected President of Thomasville, by a vote of 446 to 108.

Gail Hutchinson of Tifton, has become the first lady Vice President ever to serve at VSC, beating Roger Roberts of Iron City. The vote count was 323 to 291.

Joannie Cavan of Thomaston, has become the new Secretary by beating out Elicie Passmore by a vote of 367 to 226.

Sandy Steward of Alvin has been elected vice president, with a vote of 353 to 335.

Petitions stating desire and intention to students who have completed by September 1, 1966, "The building will be completed by September 1, 1966," said Dr. J. Ralph Thaxton, VSC president.

Dr. Thaxton says of Dr. Nevins, "more than any other person, Dr. Nevins has been responsible for the fine science program that we have in the college at the present time. She was a woman of outstanding abilities, a first-rate teaching personality and a master teacher. She believed in quality education above all else." Thaxton added.

Dr. Nevins, 65 died March 2 of an apparent heart attack at her home in Neptune Beach, Fla.

She had made her home in Neptune Beach since her retirement in 1962. She was born in 1936. Prior to that time, she taught at the WoMen’s College of Georgia in Milledgeville.

She was born in Oshkosh, Wis.; received her B.A. and Master’s degree at the University of Wisconsin, and began her teaching career in the public schools of that state. She also held the Ph.D. from the University of Wisconsin. She was buried in her home state.

Dr. Clyde E. Connell, VSC biology department head, was associated with Dr. Nevins from 1952 until the time of her death. He succeeded her as biology department head.

Dr. Connell says of Dr. Nevins, "she was the most dedicated and unselfish people I have ever met. She lived primarily for and through her students. Even after her retirement, she remained in close contact with as many of them as she could, and her interest in VSC never waned."

Connell added, "I think it is most appropriate that the building being named in her honor."

Thaxton adds that "It will be appropriately named for the late Dr. Nevins, the first biology department head appointed by Dr. Pettit, and the first woman to hold that position at VSC.""

The building will be known as Nevins Hall.

Mail Order Marriages Reappear; Operation Match Pairs Public

Mail order marriages are once again gaining subscribers on the American marital scene. However, unlike the cruder efforts of our pioneer ancestors, these marriages are done through the more sophisticated techniques for applications, advertisements, and process of our present day. Mail order marriages are an attempt to personalize one's own integrity and initiative for choosing a life partner. Other applicants may, however, succeed in establishing a meaningful full relationship with the computer. One may well imagine the expressions of puzzled family and friends asking questions regarding examinations their improbable find-a-vote, containing not the picture of a loved one but rather, an IBM number.

A strange commentary in a society where men do not hesitate to walk in space can women fly solo around the world? People are apparently more enterprising and aggressive than their more enterprising ancestors. Witness the Wright brothers who won the Oscars in their own efforts. Witness the Church's bulletin. Those are boys making it on their own efforts. Witness the height of the welfare state. Witness the public gets hold of these images. Negative—if you don't define yourself and your purpose clearly, the machines are masterful in a society where men do not assertive. A similar philosophy is unnecessary.

Mail order marriage services are growing at a rapid rate. People are quite alarmed at thought and one reason is leading us to a possibility. Indeed, the younger generation is leading us to a new possibility. Perhaps divorce statistics have so impressed the public with the necessity of choosing competent partners that it is afraid to rely on its own judgment. Perhaps the younger generations are more insecure than their more enterprising ancestors.

While sociological implications cannot yet be fully evaluated, what we are witnessing is mastering their masters. Rebels of the land unite! Do it yourself!

MACON, Ga.—The Sixth Annual Georgia Collegiate Folk Festival will be held at Mercer University May 6th and 7th. Folk singers from colleges throughout the southeast will gather in Mercer’s Porter Gymnasium to swap songs and play before folk song enthusiasts at a Friday evening performance beginning at 8 o’clock and at a Saturday performance at 2:30.

Dr. Ben W. Griffith, director and founder of the festival, said the informal songfest is “among the oldest collegiate folk festivals in the country, having started before the recent boom in folk music.” The Mercer festival specialization in traditional folk songs and bluegrass-type instrumental. No amplified instruments are used. Informal workshops and playing sessions are held during the weekend.

The festival will be presented in a new format this year. Part of each performance will be presented from a central platform in the gymnasium. At other times during the evening the audience may circulate, listening to several groups playing simultaneously in various sections of the gymnasium and in the adjoining gardens.

Any college folk singers interested in participating in the festival are requested to write Dr. Ben W. Griffith, Mercer University, Macon, Georgia 31207.
