Hike to see a college club or organization take the responsibility of turning the building into a recreational area for all students. Plans would have to be approved by the office of student affairs.

Suggestions which are now under consideration are a student "night-club", a coffee shop or a pool hall. Young pointed out that pool tables have already been ordered for the new College Union.

The Office of Student Affairs plans to have the building open and ready for use by September.

Barrow Hall, the residence hall that is located at Valdosta State's North campus, has had a varied array of residents. At the time that north campus was Emory Junior College, the building was used as a men's residence hall. Since then, it has served as a private home, and is being used presently as a women's residence hall. Next year, Barrow Hall will be used for still another purpose.

Dr. George Young, director of student personnel, has announced that Barrow Hall will be used as a fraternity lodge next year. Each of the four fraternities on campus will have 15 boys living in the lodge. The lodge will be under the leadership of Jegg Hiers, newly-elected president of the Interfraternity Council. Young added that these boys and their organizations will make their own rules of conduct for the lodge and will enforce these rules themselves.

There are three new programs concerned with student financial aid and provided through the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare which will be available for students for the coming academic year. The primary purpose of the programs is to provide financial assistance to students who, without such aid, would be unable to attend college. The programs consist of scholarships, grants, and employment.

The three new programs, which are also under consideration are for a student "night-club", a coffee shop or a pool hall. Young pointed out that pool tables have already been ordered for the new College Union.

The Office of Student Affairs plans to have the building open and ready for use by September.

"Savannah" was the only city shown along the seacoast of an area, without boundaries, known as Georgia, in a 1732 map by Ewan Bowen, geographer to His Majesty. The 235 year old map, printed on a heavy canvas material, is the oldest of 26 maps of Georgia given to Valdosta State College by Dr. L. C. Holtzendorff, Valdosta State College.

The maps are reported to be the second largest known private collection of this type, the first having belonged to the late father of Mayor Ivan Allen of Atlanta. Mr. Allen's collection was given to Emory University several years ago.

Dr. Holtzendorff, a Valdosta native and graduate of Emory, first began collecting maps while in the military service during World War II. At that time, he sought to collect maps of the Okefenokee Swamp. Finding these too difficult to locate, and being impressed with the more colorful and interesting maps that showed the development of the State of Georgia, he shifted his course of further search.

The years since have uncovered five produced in the 1700's and the balance of the collection dating from 1800 and 1877.

A colorful 1794 heavy canvas map, bearing the American flag with 13 stars for the original colonies, was printed in London. Lower Creek Indians are shown residing in the area where Valdosta State College now stands. A 1790 map of the State of Georgia shows 35 counties in the State, Camden being the most southern and the one closest to what has since become Lowndes County in which Valdosta State College is located.

Seminole Indians are shown inhabiting the central-southern area of the State, with Lower Creeks in the western-southern section along the boundary of Georgia and the Mississippi Territory.

Three maps were created in 1798, a map of the Southern Part of the United States of America shows Georgia and to the west the "Georgia Western Territory" extending to the Mississippi River. A line running north to south, and touching the Florida line at the eastern edge of the map, is marked, "All West of this line is claimed by the United States and also Georgia." What is now known as Jacksonville, Fla., is indicated as "Cawford" on this map.

While the maps in the Holtzendorff Collection are all different and interesting, they are also attractive in that some are printed on canvas, parchment and various grades of paper. The use of color is also interesting. Many of those from the 1800's were collected by Dr. Holtzendorff from old atlases.

The Holtzendorff Collection is the gift of the late Dr. L. C. Holtzendorff, Valdosta State College, where Miss Thera Hambrock, librarian, says they are appropriately displayed and used by students of the College.

Pranks Endanger Dorms

By CLAUDIA CHASE

Fire alarms! So what if a college student wants to play a prank and pull a fire alarm in the middle of the night? After all, it seems harmless enough to turn on a fire alarm just to suite oneself. The fact is that it is not as safe as it appears, and has caused a great deal of disturbance throughout the campus.

That was the case on a recent Saturday night, at 1:30 a.m. a fire alarm was pulled in one of the dormitories, causing a massolle of people to get out of bed and gather in the hallway. The pranks that were pulled that night were not the only ones that have been reported on campus in recent weeks. Many students have been forced to evacuate their dormitories, only to find that the alarm was just a prank, and that it was not a real threat to their safety.

In short, the problems of the Greek organizations on campus are many, and not only do they cause distress to the students involved, but also to the members of the campus community. The fraternity rush system and the sorority recruitment system are examples of these problems, and many students have expressed their frustration with the system.

The members of the Greek organizations are expected to uphold a certain standard of behavior, and any violation of these standards may lead to the withdrawal of membership. However, many students feel that the system is too rigid, and that it does not take into account the individual needs of each student.

The Greek organizations are also under pressure to recruit a large number of members, and this has led to some unethical practices, such as the recruitment of students who are not interested in joining the organization. This has caused many students to feel pressured to join the Greek organizations, even if they do not wish to do so.

In conclusion, the Greek organizations on campus are facing many challenges, and it is up to the students to work together to create a more positive environment for everyone.

Council Attempts to Improve Rush

And then it all started. The first week—freshman orientation, on the Valdosta State College campus.

That was the week your roommate tried on all of your new clothes, borrowed three dollars, and you asked if you could have them for a moment while you went in the hall. The next week, the same woman didn’t put on your feet all summer. In the gym, speeches were given and discussions held concerning a college of ideas, but most importantly there was a discussion on shenanigan Rush.

The sorority girls had signed letters sent them the previous summer concerning their desire to be a part of rush. But few actually knew how to prepare for rush, and the girls who did were usually told that because they have no set quota.

It will also give each boy and brother a chance to learn something of the other. It will, in fact, create a more positive atmosphere around the fraternities so as to make each of them better.

Panhellic decided against delayed rush. They feel that the present system, while it is not perfect, is at least satisfactory. However, it is possible that the present system could be made stronger, and that the organization could be strengthened by some sort of pre-rush or delayed rush. It is possible that by this means, the organization could be strengthened, and that the fraternities could work together to make each of them better.

In conclusion, the Greek organizations on campus are facing many challenges, and it is up to the students to work together to create a more positive environment for everyone.

Trials Provide Subject For Nizer’s New Novel

By PEGGY RIGGLE

In his recent bestseller, The Truth,” Louis Nizer sought to portray the idealism, drama, and heartache which permeate the judicial system. Underlying this motive he also succeeded in emphasizing the American jury system as an effective means of justice.

As one of America’s foremost trial lawyers, Louis Nizer was able to share personally the experiences of Paul Crump, a convicted murderer seeking pardon from the death sentence on the basis of his personal claim of innocence. Besides this unusual true-life drama, Louis Nizer illustrated that the American jury system and law courts are an effective means of justice. Each person was faced with personal defense and trial, and in many cases, was able to explore all avenues of law procedure. Louis Nizer helped to achieve each person’s desire, and restore them to the position where they could strive for a productive life.

In an era of extreme judicial criticism, The Jury Returns stands as evidence of faith in an old established tradition of American inheritance.

Louis Nizer’s style as a master of persuasion, which is evidenced by his many successes in persuading juries, overlies his narrative. He explains in detail the attitude and aspects of life which build each person. He not only outlines the steps leading to crises in each life, but also the personal reaction to tragedy.

He additionally analyzes in depth his course of action. Because of his simple and conclusive explanation, the reader can understand his steps and agree wholeheartedly that it is probably the best way. Thus the reader not only knows the client, but learns to admire Mr. Nizer. His abundant faith in his clients, in law, in human nature, and even in himself, to create this ennobled idealism. Perhaps the best part of the entire book dealt with the above mentioned Paul Crump. Paul Crump was a convict with absolutely nothing for which he was facing the death sentence. Louis Nizer utilized his professional success to bring this man back to life, and in doing so, he brought hope to many others.

Louis Nizer utilized his professional success to bring this man back to life, and in doing so, he brought hope to many others.

I celebrated my 33rd birthday. It was just another foolish prank. Some of the girls were hysterical, others were irritated. Feet were cut on the broken glass from the pulled alarm, and one girl returned to her room crying, "I’m not going to bother to get out of bed for a false alarm; it’s just false anyway.”

But who knows if next supposed false one turns out to be real, and lives are lost due to the effect of the previous pranks. Any person who knows who is responsible for pulling a fire alarm and refuses to report them is just as guilty as the pranksters. Hiding the identity of a person who may not stop with this prank is as committing the same offense as those who persist in either hiding the prankster. If the prankster is caught, it would be an effective means of justice. Each person was faced with personal defense and trial, and in many cases, was able to explore all avenues of law procedure. Louis Nizer helped to achieve each person’s desire, and restore them to the position where they could strive for a productive life.

In the area of psychology, there is an opportunity for an English major to work in a study of the psychological origin of the vocabularies of frustrated baseball players. An English major is needed for this study group because of the need for someone who can spell the more difficult examples of the colorful language spoken by baseball players are reported to employ.

For those seniors who, because of their fondness for their alma mater, have been looking for work or, near the VSC campus, there may be positions available in a new construction project rumored to be begun this summer. This project will be the installation of full-length mirrors throughout the academic buildings to help build the image of Valdosta State College.

However, only those seniors who have had experience in handling delicate materials should apply as any mistake in the installing of these mirrors would reflect a bad image of the college.
Education Institute Announces Grants Available For Study Abroad

The Institute of International Education (IIE) announces that the competition for 1968-69 United States Government graduate grants for academic study or research abroad, and for professional training in the creative and performing arts, is open for applications. The competition is conducted by IIE for the U.S. Department of State. Under this program, more than 850 American graduate students will have an opportunity to study in any one of 54 countries. The purpose of the awards is to increase mutual understanding between the people of the U.S. and other countries through the exchange of persons, knowledge and skills.

Candidates who wish to apply for an award must be U.S. citizens at the time of application, have a bachelor's degree or its equivalent by the beginning date of the grant and, in most cases, be proficient in the language of the host country. Selections will be made on the basis of academic and/or professional record, the feasibility of the applicant's proposed study plan and personal qualifications. Preference is given to candidates who have had prior opportunity for extended study or residence abroad and who are under the age of 35.

Creative and performing artists will not be required to have a bachelor's degree but they must have four years of professional study or equivalent experience. Applicants in social work must have an M.D. at the time of application.

Two types of grants will be available through IIE under the Fulbright-Hays Act: U.S. Government Full Grants, and U.S. Government Travel Grants. A full award will provide a grantee with tuition, maintenance for one academic year in one country, round-trip transportation, health and accident insurance and an incidental allowance.

Countries participating in the full grant program will be: Afghanistan, Argentina, Australia, Austria, Belgium-Luxembourg, Bolivia, Brazil, Ceylon-Chile, China (Republic of), Colombia, Costa Rica, Denmark, Ecuador, El Salvador, Finland, France, Germany (Federal Republic), Greece, Guatemala, Honduras, India, Iran, Israel, Italy, Jamaica, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, Mexico, Nepal, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Nicaragua, Norway, Pakistan, Paraguay, Peru, the Philippines, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Thailand, Trinidad, Turkey, United Arab Republic, the United Kingdom, Uruguay and Venezuela.

For holders of grants to Australia, Ceylon, China (Republic of), Finland, Germany, India, Japan, Nepal, Norway, Poland, Portugal, Romania, and Turkey, a maintenance allowance will be provided for one or more accompanying dependents.

A limited number of travel grants is available to supplement maintenance and tuition scholarships granted to American students by universities, private donors and foreign governments. Preparatory grants are available to students in Argentina, Belgium, Brazil, China, Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, Denmark, Ecuador, Finland, France, Germany, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Nepal, Norway, Poland, Romania, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey and Yugoslavia.

In addition to the grants offered by the U.S. Government, the Institute also administers approximately 100 awards offered by the U.S. Governments, universities and private foundations. The "foreign grants" are to Austria, Denmark, France, Germany, Ireland, Israel, Italy, Mexico, Poland, Romania, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey and Yugoslavia.

Application forms and information for students currently enrolled in Valdosta State College may be obtained from the campus Fulbright advisor, Dr. Pasford.

Seniors Robert Pierce and Drewnell Thomas, who entered Valdosta State in the fall of 1963, will be the first Negro graduates in the history of this institution. Pierce will graduate this June and Miss Thomas will graduate in August.

Pierce, 22 and a biology major, has applied to the dental school at Meharry Medical College in Nashville, Tennessee and Miss Thomas, 21 and a sociology major, intends to do social work for a year before applying to do graduate study.

Pierce, who turned down a scholarship to Morehouse College in Atlanta to enter VSC, said he decided to attend VSC because he felt it was something he had to do.

"The atmosphere at VSC was quite different from what I had known in high school," observed Pierce. "I was used to having a lot of friends and participating widely in student affairs. However," he remarked, "I had anticipated this change and felt that at least I would have more time to concentrate on my academic studies. I would help make up for the lack of activities.

Upon entering college he said that while he encountered no open animosity on the part of students, they were not too friendly. However, he feels that the students' attitude is changing, and that students have become friendlier in his last few years here.

Aside from the difficulties of social adjustment to the College, Pierce commented that he also had academic problems resulting from a weak preparation in math and English grammar. Pierce said that he thought Negro students in Valdosta were a definite disadvantage in their education from the lack of physical facilities, including laboratory equipment and text books.

Miss Thomas recalled that during her first year she, unlike Pierce, has encountered specific difficulties in the area of language for ferring to ugly incidents of name calling from other students.

Remembering her first year at VSC, she commented on the student attitude as being very cold. However, she added, "I didn't care if they liked me or if they didn't like me."

She said that while the students' attitude is changing, she still finds student response for the most part cold and hypocritical.

Like Pierce, Miss Thomas commented a lack of a sound background in math and English grammar posed some academic problems. However, both students said their professors have been quite cooperative in helping with any difficulties.

Commenting on the attitude of Valdosta's Negro youth toward the racial issue, both Pierce and Miss Thomas described the predominant attitude toward civil rights to be non-militant. Pierce added that perhaps the youth would be militant if they had something to lead them. While Miss Thomas seemed to feel that militancy on the part of the Negro was a positive force in the civil rights movement, both she and Pierce agreed that extreme militancy could be destructive.

Pierce expressed surprise at the resistance of the churches in furthering better relations between the races.

"It seems that the church which should be doing the most is doing the least," he said.

College Recognizes Students; Editor King Gives Honor Address

Calh. J. King, editorial page editor of the Florida Times Union, delivered the main address at the annual Honors Day program Wednesday. Over 145 students were recognized for their scholastic achievements.

Members of Alpha Chi and Sigma Alpha Chi honor societies were recognized during the program. The names of Marga and Mac on the junior and senior levels of the college were announced. On the junior college level, Reba Baker and Joey Davis were named as Marga and Mac. Marga and Mac of the senior college are Lou Ann McLeod and David Duck.

Ann Carroll received an award for her achievement in the visual arts. Biology departmental honors went to Larry Moorman, and Robert Shiver received the award from the chemistry department.

The business administration department presented two awards. Richard Crosby received the accounting from local public accountants. Warren Douglas Johnson was given the Wall Street Journal Achievement Award. Andrea Baker was presented the National Business Education Association award for outstanding achievement in business administration.

Mr. Delhart was cited as the most outstanding student in the English department. Receiving the Distinguished Poet's Award was Gerald Boyd.

Honors awards for the history department went to Alfred Wahlnish and Martha Yates. Achievement award in foreign languages went to Scott Cohen. Music department awards went to Bunny Bridges and Larry Adams.

William Bailey was named as the outstanding senior in the physics department. Freshman physics majors with the highest departmental averages are Harvey Butler, and Hobbs Markham.

The speech department's award to the freshman speech major with the highest scholastic average went to Nadeen Wanatka. Freshman English majors with the highest departmental averages are Harvey Butler, Hobbs Markham, and Hobbs Markham.

Mr. David Clements of the English department was the recipient of the Teacher of the Year award, which was sponsored by the Phi Beta Lambda fraternity.

Certificates were presented to the students who had been named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. These 13 seniors are: Larry Adams, Margaret Parsons Barrow, Niel Bell, Terry Carter, Scott Cohen, and Lucile Dawson. Others named to Who's Who were Suzanne Evans, Gail Hutchinson, Angie Jarrett, Sheila McCoy, Nancy Smith, and Bill Wright.

Office Backs Fall Program

Mrs. Joseph S. Maddox, placement director, announces that plans are underway for the placement office to sponsor senior orientation program next fall.

The senior orientation program will serve to acquaint seniors early in the school year with job opportunities and services which are offered by the placement office.

Mrs. Maddox pointed out that this is the first year that the placement office has operated full-time with separate office facilities. More than 75 off-campus jobs have been placed on campus jobs through the office, while 75 off-campus jobs have been filled.

Plans for next year include an enrollment of students to the office facilities and the addition of personnel in the employment service.

Center Opens Again In Fall

BY WAYNE STEvens

The old student center stands as a symbol of VSC's past as a small college. No longer are the doors being continually opened for the inflow and outflow of people. No longer are the dining booths crowded with laughing students. The old student center has lost its purpose, and the new College Union has taken its place. The doors of the old center are now closed.

There are several prospects as to how the building will be used. Dr. Young of the office staff affairs stated that the old book store area would probably be used for office space for the Campus Canopy and the Pine Cone.

The dining area will be converted into a recreational room. The student center has been moved to the College Union Board to be used for faculty meetings.

Tom glasses Award As Business Teacher

Patsy Thomas, a Valdosta State College junior from Homerville, Georgia, was selected "Miss Future Business Teacher of Georgia" at the state Beta Lambda Convention in Atlanta this past weekend. Phi Beta Lambda is the business administration honorary society.

Miss Thomas was selected on the basis of her scores on a National Business Entrance Examination, a letter of application, personal data sheet, and a personal interview. On June 11, she will fly to San Francisco to attend the National Convention where she will compete with other contest winners from each of the states for the national honor. In addition to the California trip, she also received a trophy presented by the Roebuck Foundation.

Other VSC students participating in the state contest were: Jo Ann, Cason, Homerville, Ga., vocabulary relay; Danell Fussell, Douglas, Ga., "Miss Future Business Executive" contest; Evelyn Johnson, Thomasville, Ga., spelling contest; and Gale Castleberry, Adel, Ga., vocabulary relay.

Lectures are out; movies are in. At least that is the trend in Speech 306, "History of the Theater," taught by Mr. Stanley Delhart of the Speech and Drama Department.

Since, according to Mr. Delhart, movies have probably been the most important development in the theater since the turn of the century, the course places its emphasis on movies and cinematography. Students are delving deeper into this aspect of the theater than simply a textbook acquaintance. They are casting, directing, and filming their own movies.

Student Activities. He will begin this do-it-yourself approach involves much work on the part of the student and provides individual ingenuity on the part of the student and provides individual ingenuity on the part of the creator, as well as greater economy in the development of the film. Students are encouraged to explore this freedom within the constraints of the course requirement and their own abilities.

According to Delhart, the first step toward the finished product will be the recording of a complete sound track and the assembling of 60 to 90 polaroid pictures of documentary scenes. If these results meet with the approval of the producers, the film will then be developed and coordinated with the soundtrack. Participant in the documentaries will be volunteers.

Documentaries of good quality will be shown at Pound Hall later in the semester for film evaluation and admission charge to help offset the cost of the film and other equipment used.

Office Backs Fall Program

Mrs. Joseph S. Maddox, placement director, announces that plans are underway for the placement office to sponsor senior orientation program next fall.

The senior orientation program will serve to acquaint seniors early in the school year with job opportunities and services which are offered by the placement office.

Mrs. Maddox pointed out that this is the first year that the placement office has operated full-time with separate office facilities. More than 75 off-campus jobs have been placed on campus jobs through the office, while 75 off-campus jobs have been filled.

Plans for next year include an enrollment of students to the office facilities and the addition of personnel in the employment service.
